FOR "BROAD OPEN SPACES," YOU SHOULD SEE A MALOLO STATEROOM!

"Run over" to Hawaii on the fast Malolo

...it's only 4 days
from San Francisco

THAT'S all of a trip it is! Much quicker by the Malolo than you had thought possible. Sail out the Golden Gate Saturday noon and next Wednesday you're in Hawaii, where the mountains come down to the sea and the climate is always May!

And your trip across . . . just like a week-end at your favorite resort. You'll unpack in your Malolo stateroom, delighted to find closets and space to "shake things out." Your sea-going appetite will revel in choosing from two-score dishes on Malolo menus.

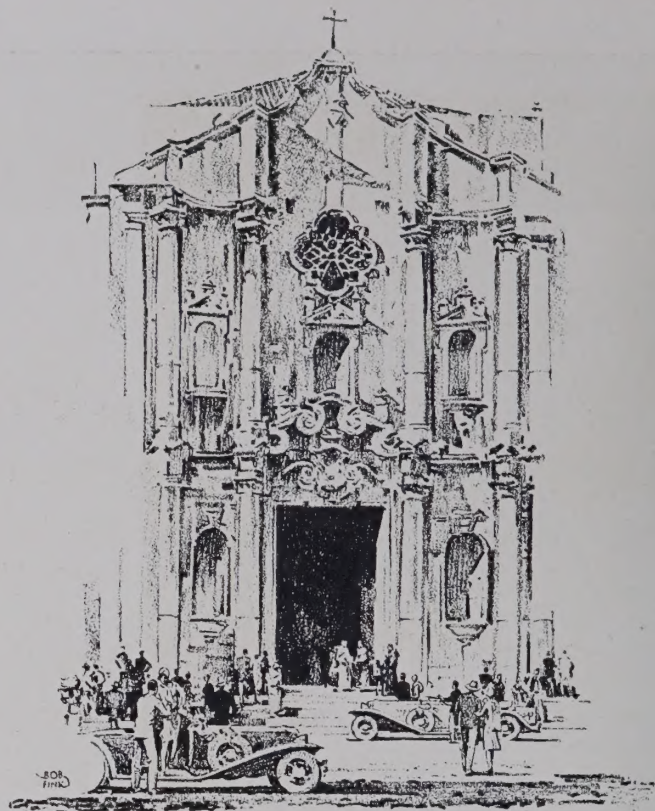

All the little things that make life comfortable are there, too. A telephone at each bed. Elevators to all seven decks. Deft tea service at your deck chair. For the complete Malolo story, ask any travel agency or the Matson Line representative, L. C. Downey, McAllister Hotel, Boulevard and Flager Street, Miami, Florida.

SPRING IS GLORIOUS IN HAWAII

Golf, surfing, polo, motoring . . . and a climate that makes every recreation more enjoyable. The mercury hovers lazily in the seventies and the water at Waikiki varies only a degree or two from the air, averaging 75°. Now is the time to play in Hawaii!

ONE NIGHT ENROUTE TO A FOREIGN LAND HAVANA, CUBA

(TWO HOURS BY AIR from MIAMI)

The side trip that makes your Florida visit complete is the one-night cruise or water-train trip (or a short two-hour airplane hop) from Miami to Havana. Cuba is so entirely different, so absolutely foreign . . . such a new experience, that you'd do yourself an injustice in returning north without knowing its tropic splendor, old-world charm, and care-free atmosphere. Any railroad, steamship or airplane ticket office or tour agency will give you full information

SPORTS IN PALM BEACH

GOLF being the principal outdoor diversion of the winter colonists, Palm Beach has always been lavish in the provision it has made for its devotees. Even those who come down from the North before the season has really started find ample opportunity for their daily round, for at least four courses, the Palm Beach, Everglades, Gulf Stream and Kelsey City, were opened almost simultaneously with the arrival of the first comers. It is true that at two of the clubs only nine holes and temporary greens were in play for the first couple of weeks, but that was enough to keep the zealots in good humor, until the full rounds were thrown open.

Play first started at the Palm Beach Golf club on the Breakers-Poinciana grounds on Dec. 9, the full eighteen holes being thrown open a week later. Extensive changes have been made in the lay-out since last winter, and the course has been brought up to championship form.

The work was done according to the best golf-course engineering practice, carried out by an efficient staff. The round has been lengthened to 5,591 yards, par now being 69. This is an addition of but one stroke to the former par, but when the additional yardage is taken into consideration, it is possible to get an idea of the many radical improvements which have been made.

All the former sand greens and tees have been sodded. The old palmetto-leaf screens have been done away with, and natural shrubbery substituted. Many changes have been made in the third hole, extending from the beach to Palm Beach avenue, and the finished job will satisfy the most exacting golfer.

This hole was formerly a center of congestion, but with the new design and the changing of the par from 3 to 4, there has been no complaints on this score so far this season.

The tee on the first hole has been moved back twenty-five yards so that it is now north of the clubhouse and directly off the porch. The second hole has been lengthened considerably and an entirely new green built. The seventh hole running along the beach has been improved, the green enlarged and the slopes moderated.

The renovated eleventh is already known as a score-spoiler. With the new bunker arrangement and the small but rather long green, it is proving very tricky and is testing the mettle of the best of them. This hole is sixty yards longer than last year.

The twelfth, formerly a mashie shot, has been graduated into the jigger or number three iron class, the yardage having been increased from 135 to 161, while 150 yards is about the limit for a mashie shot.

The green on the fourteenth has been removed fifteen or twenty paces to the left of the old one, which brings the bunker more into play. A bunker has been added on the fair way of the sixteenth, which noticeably accentuates the dog-leg effect.

No staff changes have been made since last year. Gordon Smith, secretary and manager of the Palm Beach Country club, is in charge of the course of the Palm Beach Golf club, and E. Thompson Starr is secretary. Bessie W. Fenn is professional in charge and Wilbur J. Hutchinson is cashier. The professionals are George Kelly, George M. Gordon, Dennis O'Connell and Johnny Flattery. Charles H. Keyes is starter and John Walsh caddy-master.

The course will be the scene of at least three tournaments this season, the dates of two, the Lake Worth tournament and the South Florida championship, being already fixed. The former takes place during the week of Jan. 20 and the latter the week of Feb. 10. The date of the third, the tournament of the Old Guard Society of Palm Beach golfers, had not been announced up to the time of going to press.

Among those who have been playing regularly on the course since it opened are Mrs. Nettie E. Livermore, Elmer Jordan, Mrs. John Shepard, Jr., Mrs. W. Seward Webb, Earl Perry Charlton, Frank V. Skiff, Nathan D. Bill, Dr. Frederick K. Ream, Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Liederman, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Lane Folger, Thomas Goodwin, E. A. Reid, Loring Q. White, Dr. Edward T. Martin, the Rev. Dr. Charles Temple, George T. McCarthy, George T. McCarthy, Jr., Harold E. Ferguson and John Demarest.

The Palm Beach Country club opened on New Year's day, when the Misses Sonya and Audrey Phipps, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Carnegie Phipps, drove off from the first tee and went around in a twosome. They were followed by Mr. and Mrs. J. Lester Corya, other players following in rapid succession.

This was the earliest date for commencement of play at the north end club for many years, and was twenty days earlier than last year's opening. This is due to the fact that relatively little work had to be done this year, on account of the prevailing favorable weather conditions during the past summer.

With one exception there have been no changes in the professional staff since last season. It consists of Louis B. Forte, Joseph Fuller, Fred McCreery and George Thorpe. Ernest Hoffman is in charge of the restaurant.

Three important tournaments are scheduled for play at the Country club course. The first is the Artists' and Writers' tourney starting Jan. 20 which will again bring to the resort some of the most famous names in the country. It will be followed by the Woman's Championship of Florida, scheduled for the week of Feb. 17. The championship of Palm Beach will be thrashed out during the week of March 3.

Also opening on New Year's day was the Everglades Club course, with the Princess de Braganza among the first starters, playing against Mrs. J. Philip Benkard. For several weeks previously players on this course had been using nine holes and temporary greens, and when the full eighteen holes were thrown open on the first day of the year members found that golf at its best had been provided for them.

Again the professional staff remains unchanged. Arthur Goss is the professional, assisted by Alec Tait. Clyde Bowser is in charge of the shop, James Fleming supervises the locker room and Ben Berry is the starter.

Among the players on opening day were Countess Raoul de Roussy de Salles, David L. Luke, David L. Luke Jr., Miss Mary A. Luke, Mrs. W. Seward Webb, Mrs. John Shepard Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Allen Price Kirby, Miss Ruth Dennison, Dr. Edward T. Martin, A. J. Brosseau, Mrs. George Sykes Wallen, Mr. and Mrs. Gail G. Grant, A. B. Fernald, Dr. Charles C. Morrison Jr., Arthur Somers Roche and Littleton Fox Jr.

Another New Year's day opening of special interest was the initial bow of the new Seminole Golf club, on the ocean front between Kelsey City and Jupiter. The club was established last spring, and in April work was started on the course, already said to be the finest in the South. It was designed by Donald Ross, one of the leaders in his profession, who has employed an unique idea which has only been tried out once before. Tees are marked with red, white and blue markers. Players using the red course tee off at the red markers, while the white and blue courses are played from the white and the blue markers. All tees are unusually long, the red markers being placed well to the fore, the white markers half way back and the blue ones to the extreme rear, the result being that the yardage of the white course is considerably greater than that of the red, and the blue longer than either. The red course is 5900 yards, the white course 6200 and the blue 6500 yards.

Gil Nichols is the professional. He is assisted by Basil Finn. Both Mr. Nichols and Mr. Finn are connected during the summer with the Deepdale Country club in Great Neck, L. I., formerly the private club of William K. Vanderbilt and generally recognized as one of the smartest of the Eastern clubs. Mr. Ralph W. Shaw, manager of Deepdale, as well as of the Dunes club in Narragansett, R. I., is manager of the Seminole club, and V. R. Rousseau is superintendent of grounds.

A drive almost a mile long leads from the Dixie Highway to the club house. The approach is through an extensive fore court with a circular drive surrounding a large bed of tropical foliage. The entrance to the building is through a wrought iron grill and a massive door of pecky cypress, surmounted by a sun dial, supported by a Seminole Indian and dolphin motif. Broad tile steps lead upward to an immense flagged patio, with sea-grapes and palms here and there, and a well-like fountain in the center. Under the eaves are eight blue moons for flood-lighting.

At the right of the patio is a covered gallery leading to the dining loggia, with windows overlooking the beach and the ocean. The murals show groups of aborigines greeting the first white voyagers. The ceiling is criss-crossed with heavy beams of pecky cypress. The furniture is of bamboo. A banquettes takes up the entire length of the east wall.

An antique wooden grille separates this apartment from the adjoining card loggia, from which a door in the east wall opens onto a path leading to the beach. The next room is the men's locker room taking up the entire north wing of the building. Lockers of California white pine with pine knots line the entire length of the north and the south walls, surmounted by a double bank of windows. The ceiling, two stories high, is beamed with pecky cypress, while the floor simulates the old-fashioned wide-board floors held with wooden-pegs, and is covered with a rug of gold color. At the west end is a capacious fireplace.

Doors at the west end give onto a broad loggia over looking the swimming pool and the links. A solarium is located on the roof. The women's locker room is in the east wing. The swimming pool, fifty by eighty feet and ten feet deep is to the west of the patio.

Members of the board of directors include Edward F. Hutton, Martin Sweeny, Warner L. Jones, J. Gordon Douglas, Milton W. Holden, Hunter S. Marston and Barclay H. Warburton.

Both the Palm Beach Tennis club on the Poinciana grounds and the courts at the Everglades club were opened for play on New Year's day, with no changes in the professional staffs since last year. At the Palm Beach Tennis club George Agutta and Warren Kruger were both on hand for the opening, as were James Bevans and Martin Simmons at the Everglades club.

The present season's program at the Palm Beach Tennis club calls for three weeks of tournament tennis, commencing Feb. 24 and ending March 14. The first of the tournaments is for the championship of Florida, women's singles and doubles, from Feb. 24 to March 1. It will be followed the next week by the championship of Florida, men's singles and doubles. During the final week the Southern Professional championship will be staged.

It is practically assured that five of the country's seven ranking tennis players will play on the club's courts during this season. These include Francis T. Hunter, present champion of Florida; Johnny Hennessy, runner-up in last year's match; John Van Ryn, Wilmer Allison and Fritz Mercur, all of whom competed here last year, and who are expected to enter this year's contest.

It is also understood there is an excellent chance of Bill Tilden, national champion, visiting the resort, as well as George M. Lott Jr., John Doeg, Vincent Richards and Charles M. Wood.

John Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison have been star performers in some of the greatest events of the 1929 season, and have won for themselves even higher niches in the Tennis Hall of Fame. Former court stars of Princeton University and the University of Texas respectively, they won at the same time, the Wimbledon doubles championship and undying fame, by defeating the vigorous English pair, Gregory and Collins. They also defeated the almost impregnable team of Henri Cochet and Jean Borotra in the Davis Cup challenge round.

John Doeg, one of the most promising of the youngsters, displayed some of the most brilliant tennis of the year when, paired with George M. Lott Jr., they won the national doubles title by defeating White and Bell.

The lion-hearted battle put up by Lott against Henri Cochet during the Davis Cup matches is an epic of tennis history. The United States was unable to lift the trophy, the final outcome being dependent on the fifth match between Lott and the formidable Cochet. Although the latter triumphed in four sets, Lott's gameness during the entire grind is unforgettable.

The regaining of the national championship by William T. Tilden, playing against Francis T. Hunter, is still fresh in the memories of tennis fans. Hunter, paired with Helen Wills, put up one of his finest battles when this duo defeated the English team of Joan Fry and I. G. Collins, thereby annexing one of the three Wimbledon championships, which, out of a total of five, fell to the lot of the United States.

The present woman champion of Florida is Eleanor Goss, who successfully defended her title last season against Eleanor Cottman. The male title-holder is Vincent Richards, who in last year's contest defeated John Hennessy. The professional championship of the South is held by B. I. C. Horton, who gained the crown a year ago by defeating Vincent Richards in one of the most spectacular exhibitions ever staged on the Palm Beach courts.

MIAMI BEACH

B RILLIANT events given by prominent members of society marked the opening of the social season this year. Mr. E. R. Thomas of Buffalo, N. Y., who was assisted in receiving by his niece and hostess, Mrs. Kenneth Ashby, entertained with his eighth annual tea dance in the Roney Plaza tea gardens. Invitations numbering 500 were issued. Mrs. Elliott F. Shepard of Trenton, N. J., and Paris, France, also was hostess to a number of friends at tea at her beautiful estate on Washington avenue. Another social function was a luncheon given at the Roney Plaza hotel by Mrs. Charles Brickell and Mrs. James W. Bain, joint hostesses, who honored Mrs. Thomas Creighton, of Washington and Blue Ridge Summit, Pa., and her daughter, Mrs. Eugene Carr, of Biltmore Forest Park, Asheville, N. C. Dr. and Mrs. F. M. Edwards entertained charmingly last Sunday evening at their home on Lincoln road with a supper and bridge, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry McCartney gave a dance in honor of their daughter, Miss Virginia McCarthy, in the patio of their home recently.

* * * *

A buffet supper was given last Tuesday by Mr. and Mrs. John Brander at their home on North Bay road, complimenting Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Meighan and Mr. and Mrs. Leon Errol. The supper preceded the opening dinner dance at the Bath Club. The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Gould, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tod, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Grasselli, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Andrew, Mrs. Harriett Andrews, Miss Alice Welsh, George Ade, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Poor, Mr. and Mrs. Don Parsons, Ort Wells, Mr. and Mrs. A. Mitchell Palmer and Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Romfh.

* * * *

Percival Wilde, author and playwright, and Mrs. Wilde were recently entertained at tea by the Flamingo Park Players. During the afternoon Mr. Wilde gave a general discussion on the Little Theater movement.

* * * *

Cabanas of the Roney Plaza hotel were scenes of several parties given during the past week, each enjoying swimming and luncheon. Mrs. Frank B. Shutts was hostess to a group, and Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Kiltbau, of Great Neck, L. I., were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Millikan, Mrs. Edwin M. Lee, Mrs. Frank Millikan, of Indianapolis; Mrs. Frank R. Grubbs of Indianapolis, William Millikan and Hugh Thompson. Mr. and Mrs. Kiltbau also entertained at a cabana luncheon.

* * * *

A number of interesting cruising parties and luncheons were given at the Cocolobo Cay Club recently, proving delightful and enjoyable. Mr. and Mrs. Gar Wood were hosts to a number of friends on their cruiser, Gar, Sr. II and their plane, Kinjockey, to Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Kettering, their son, Eugene Kettering, Miss Virginia Weffenbach of Dayton, Ohio, John H. Wells of New York, and his son, Pete Wells, Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Philo M. Gelatt on their cruiser, Furlough, were R. D. Gordon and his sons, Buddy and Bobby, of Chicago; Henry Gund and his son, Harry Gund of La Crosse, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. N. B. T. Roney, Mr. and Mrs. F. Lowry Wall, Miss Mary Belle Wall and her visitor, Miss Beverly Beach, of New York, and Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Romfh were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Ehrhart on their cruiser.

* * * *

The Bath Club which is an exclusive rendezvous, held its first dinner dance of the season the other evening, inaugurating its third season. The hosts and hostesses of the evening included Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Poor, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Grasselli, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Trumbull, and others. Mr. and Mrs. Poor also entertained that evening, honoring their daughter, Miss Betty Poor, who spent her vacation with her parents aboard their yacht, Granada, off the Flamingo docks.

* * * *

In honor of their daughter, Miss Laura Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Hewett Brown entertained at luncheon at the Bath Club. Among the guests were Miss Elizabeth Poor, A. C. Graham, Avritt L. Brown, Arthur D. Laurence and Jack Graves.

* * * *

Entertainments at the hotels are as usual popular this season. The dinner dances at the Roney Plaza Hotel and also the tea dances are well attended. An interesting dinner group at the King Cole hotel recently included: Mr. and Mrs. Jess Andrew, who invited as their guests members of the younger social set, honoring their daughters, Misses Betty and Katherine Andrew. The table was beautifully appointed with lighted tapers and exquisite baskets of blooms. Supper was followed by bridge and dancing. Cards marked places for Miss Betty Poor, Miss Mary Drake, Miss Carnelia Drake, Miss Marian Shutts, Miss Agnes Tillman, Miss Laura Brown, Miss Betty Bowen, Miss Marion Coke, Miss Helen Hertz, Miss Virginia Graham, Miss Eleanor Graham, Miss Jane Taylor, Edward Romfh, Avritt Brown, William Post, Leonard Firestone, Raymond Firestone, John Hertz, Benjamin Rowe, Fred Lyons, William Millikan, Bob Hill, Philip Delaney, Dudley Delaney, Leonard Donahue, David Hughes, John Morris, Richard Reynolds, Louis Reynolds and William Reynolds.

* * * *

Flying is very much in vogue at the Beach this season and recently a sail in the Blimp was the sport offered by Mr. and Mrs. Welton A. Snow to a group of guests who afterward enjoyed a dinner party at the Snow home. Several hours cruising around the sky were enjoyed. The guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Claude A. Renshaw, Mr. and Mrs. J. Judson Dean, of Miami Beach, and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold M. Henderson of Miami.

* * * *

Mr. Julius Fleischmann of Cincinnati arrived recently to go aboard his yacht, the Camargo, for an extended fishing cruise in the southern Pacific. Mr. Fleischmann's yacht will go through Panama canal and the members of the party will fish off Ecuador, establishing a base of operations on one of the Galapagos islands, some 500 miles west of Chile. The cruise was begun last Saturday and will be a three months' voyage of adventure in the tropic seas and exploration of exotic isles of the Pacific.

* * * *

Another pleasure cruise to the Galapagos and Cocos island consisted of a party of nationally prominent industrial leaders, headed by Charles F. Kettering, on his yacht, Olive K., leaving last Monday afternoon.

* * * *

Yacht Old River of C. K. G. Billings, Chicago financier, was added to the fleet in Biscayne Bay recently. Mr. Billings is widely known in yachting circles and was formerly a director of the World's Columbian exposition. The yacht Amida, owned by E. H. Behrend, New York state paper manufacturer, and the Pouledeau, owned by Frank H. Goodyear, both of which have been in the bay previously this season returned. The Pouledeau left recently on a fishing cruise.

* * * *

Proving popular this season is the newly erected swimming pool of the Nautilus Hotel Bath Club, which is one of the finest in the southeast, adding much to the social life of the hotel and colony. The cottage colony of the Nautilus is fast increasing and among the 18 cottages at the hotel there are two which were built expressly for Charles Fisher, Detroit manufacturer of automobile bodies, and Mrs. Charles Boldt of Santa Barbara, Calif., and New York.

* * * *

Clubs at the beach are very active this season. Recently at a gathering of the members of the Miami Beach Woman's club the presentation of an elaborate silver service was made by Mrs. Howard Baldrige, of the Ways and Means committee, to Mrs. Thomas J. Pancoast, president of the club. Mrs. Claude Ashbrook in Pine Tree drive was hostess to the club that afternoon. This presentation marked the definite plans for furnishing the clubhouse to be erected by the club at a later period. Mrs. Frank M. Terry, Pennsylvania avenue, was hostess to the members of the League of Pen Women recently. During the afternoon a musical program was enjoyed which was in charge of Miss Bertha Foster of the Conservatory of Music, University of Miami.

* * * *

Miss Nancy Guggenheim, daughter of the ambassador to Cuba, was a recent visitor here, making the trip on a Pan-American plane from Havana. She was on her way to school in Santa Barbara, Calif., after a holiday vacation with her father.

* * * *

Mr. John M. Zane, Chicago attorney and authority on the evolution and practice of law, and Mrs. Zane, are the guests of Mr. Theodore Dickinson, 1600 North Bay road.

* * * *

Mr. J. E. Craig, executive vice president of the Clyde-Mallory lines, arrived recently, accompanied by Mrs. Craig. They are guests at the Pancoast hotel.

ON THE AVIATION FIELD

WITH the center for flying activities from the time the airplane passed out of the experimental stage, there is hardly a moment during the day when one cannot glance into the azure skies of Palm Beach and see at least one machine, and sometimes several, gracefully winging their way north or south, or gliding hither and yon loaded with sight-seers out for a sky-view of the resort. The north and southbound mail planes daily pass The Breakers with such regularity that guests at the ocean-front hotel may almost use their advent as a check-up on their watches.

One of the high spots of the past week was the arrival on Wednesday of George Haldeman, pilot for Ruth Elder, now Mrs. Walter Camp Jr., in her daring attempt to fly the Atlantic. Mr. Haldeman arrived in the Tanager, the plane which recently won the $110,000 Guggenheim prize for the safest heavier-than-air craft. Designed and built by the Curtiss Airplane and Motor Co. at its experimental plant in Garden City, L. I., the Tanager was the only machine out of fifteen entries which succeeded in passing all of the qualifying tests, and thereby was awarded the total prize-money.

Accompanying Mr. Haldeman were Major M. K. Lee, well-known sportsman, Commander H. G. Ericson and Paul Stevens. The two latter and Mr. Haldeman are among the entrants in the winter air races at Miami, which started yesterday, and will represent the Curtiss-Wright service, using planes supplied by the Miami base of that company.

The conclusion of the Miami air races on the 15th is to be followed by a state-wide air tour, in which it is expected there will be almost two score entrants, including all types of plane. The personnel of the arcade will number at least 85 pilots, and one of the first scheduled stops is at Roosevelt Field, West Palm Beach, on the morning of Jan. 16.

During their stay in the city across the lake the birdmen will be entertained by local civic organizations and present plans call for the serving of luncheon at the field. As their contribution to the program, and prefacing their departure for other cities in Florida, the flyers, many of whom are internationally famous for their work in the World War and in commercial pursuits, plan on giving an air circus with demonstrations of stunt-flying and parachute-leaping.

A bright particular star of the aerial firmament arrived in the resort at the end of last week in the person of Lieutenant James H. Doolittle, army test pilot, and possibly the best-known aviator in the country outside of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh. Lieutenant Doolittle arrived at Roosevelt Flying Field, West Palm Beach, after an eight-hour and fifteen minute flight from New Orleans. With Lieutenant Doolittle was Colonel Peter J. Brady.

After landing the pair were driven to The Breakers, where they staid until the following day, when they took off for Cleveland, Ohio. The lieutenant is flying a Curtiss-Cessa four-passenger cabin monoplane. The previous day the plane had flown from Marfa, Texas, to New Orleans, while a day earlier it had made the trip from Los Angeles to Marfa.

The flight is part of an inspection tour of municipal airports which is being conducted by Colonel Brady, who is chairman of Mayor James J. Walker's committee on aviation, and a member of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt's committee on aviation and airports. At the conclusion of the tour the colonel will incorporate into his report all the information he has gleaned, including both good and bad features of airports visited, and submit same to the mayor and the governor.

Lieutenant Doolittle, who is acting as Colonel Brady's pilot for the entire tour, was last summer awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for making the first one-stop flight across the country. This feat occurred in 1922, when he took off from Jacksonville, Fla., landing twenty-two and one-half hours later in Santiago, Cal., after stopping to re-fuel in San Antonio, Texas. The flight proved to the satisfaction of the War Department that if the need arose a fleet of aircraft could be transferred from the Atlantic to the Pacific within the space of a day.

At the same time the lieutenant was also given the Oak Leaf Cluster in recognition of the experiments which he conducted for testing the strength of airplanes in flight. This work was done in 1924, and entailed some of the most daring flying ever performed.

During the past summer he executed a number of test flights in which the conditions of flying in a heavy fog were simulated as closely as possible. During one phase of the experiments he flew for fifteen minutes "blind," being shut up in a cockpit from which all light was excluded, and using nothing but his instruments to guide him. This is among the most remarkable aviation feats ever performed, and the data obtained from the experiments is proving of incalculable value in the study of the problem of flying in fogs.

The municipal airport, two miles west of West Palm Beach, was recently taken over by the Roosevelt Flying Corporation, a subsidiary of Roosevelt Field, Inc. and affiliated with the Aviation Corporation of America. According to present plans, $250,000 will be spent during the present season on the improvement of the 250-acre field.

Roosevelt Field, which is now being used by several private owners of airplanes, including Bror G. Dahlberg, president of the Southern Sugar Co., is operated as a municipal airport. Free landing space is provided, gasoline and oil pumps have been installed, and every courtesy is extended to private and company ships.

Three pilots are stationed at the field, in addition to Captain J. Nelson Kelly, who is in charge of all operations. There are two training ships for the use of students and a number of four and six-passenger commercial ships. Regulation aerial beacons and direction markers have been installed.

The marine base of the Roosevelt Flying Service is temporarily located on the West Palm Beach side of Lake Worth at the foot of Thirtieth street, until such time as the base now under construction at the foot of Royal Palm way in Palm Beach is completed. Approximately $75,000 is being expended on the site, which covers the cost of the ramp, passenger waiting-rooms, office, etc.

Two Sikorsky ten-passenger twin-motored amphibian planes and two Loening six-passenger amphibians will be operated from the marine base, at which Art Williams is chief pilot.

The Curtiss-Wright Flying Service has also worked out an elaborate program. The Lake Worth base has accommodations for five ships, in addition to offices of the company and of the immigration and customs service, passenger waiting rooms, tool-houses, machine shops and a student aviation school.

The entire flying equipment is new this season, and from fifteen to twenty new amphibian planes, equipped with single and twin motors are in service at the local and the Miami bases. All planes are equipped with radiophones, enabling pilots to keep in constant communication, even when flying from Nassau or the Bahamas.

The local Curtiss-Wright base has been designated by the Treasury Department as the official port of entry for this area, and all planes coming from or clearing for foreign points must enter and be cleared through this base.

Captain Paul Micelli, who is in charge of operations for Curtiss-Wright, is a former United States army war pilot, and for the past ten years has been connected with the aviation division of the National Guard at the Sea Girt, N. J., base.

Also the prodigal daughter. Because prodigality is not the smart thing any more. Today the really smart people are going in for thriftiness. Today waste is bad taste.

The clever and fashionable world is getting the worth of every penny it spends for things that are really smart. That's why so many people in the social register are shopping at Macy's. They find here the authentic new fashions about which they can be really enthusiastic, at prices which make them rejoice that—

THE SAILFISH CLUB

HE ideal location of the club rooms of the Sailfish Club has gone a long way toward making it one of the social centers of the Palm Beach colony. Overlooking the Atlantic, the rooms occupy the entire second floor of The Breakers Casino, with a broad veranda, running the length of the building, where club visitors idle away many delightful hours. The fishing fleet established by the club last season has been increased from ten boats to eighteen and will again be in charge of Captain Herman Gray at the Poinciana docks. This important feature greatly facilitates the preparations necessary for a day's outing on the Gulf Stream. Extensive plans have been made by the Sailfish Club to insure club members and winter visitors an excellent season of deep water fishing, in the best boats obtainable and under the guidance of captains who rarely bring back a party of sportsmen empty-handed.

Contest rules for the season are as follows:

In the light-weight tackle class, regulation rod and reel, with six-ounce top and twelve-thread line or less only can be used.

In the heavy tackle class, any regulation rod, reel and line can be used, but no hand lines are to be permitted.

Fish must be brought to the gaff without any assistance.

All contestants must enter their fish not later than noon, second day caught and have them weighed or measured by the master at the Poinciana dock, who will furnish an entry blank which is to be signed by the contestant or captain of his boat and attested by the dockmaster. At the time of the entry, the contestant must designate if for a length or weight for the trophy for which he aspires. Honorary members elected by the board recently are the Reverend Dr. George Morgan Ward, the Rt. Rev. Nathaniel Seymour Thomas, and Father Dougherty.

Officers of the club are as follows: John Shepard, Jr., President, Barclay H. Warburton and Wiley R. Reynolds, vice-presidents, and Frank A. Shaughnessy, secretary and treasurer.

The Board of Governors include Ward Ames, Niles S. Babbitt, James R. Emery, David H. McCulloch, Henry Oliver Rea, Wiley R. Reynolds, H. C. Woodruff and Horace H. Work.

The following is a complete roster of the membership:

Ward Ames, Charles M. Amory, J. M. Atkinson, Niles S. Babbitt, Charles F. Bacon, Albert M. Banker, Henry G. Barkhausen, C. C. Bassett, Vincent Bendix, Bernard Benson, A. J. ## POLO AT GULFSTREAM

FIELD of emerald green immaculately mowed, with a background of tropical palms rustling in the soft winds from the Gulf Stream, against a cloudless sky of pale blue—such is the setting for polo at the Phipps Polo Field at Gulfstream. Suddenly the scene is transformed to one of intense activity, as eight wiry little ponies, each carrying an eager player, race up the field, with mallets clicking as shot after shot is made in a vain attempt to make the goal.

Players wearing the Blue, spur their ponies on trying to outrun their rivals in White, until the red flag is waved up and down and a goal is made.

As the bell rings denoting the end of a chucker the players come cantering in with saddles creaking and ponies fretting, to change mounts for another period, making game of their fellows and commenting on various good shots made.

Gulfstream presents an ideal atmosphere for polo inasmuch as playing facilities are as perfect there as anywhere else in the world. Internationally known players journey to the Phipps Field each season to take part in matches replete with action and super playing.

Large groups of the socially prominent who enjoy the play gather each Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at Gulfstream, coming from Miami and Palm Beach to applaud the favorites.

The famous Firestone group, who winter at Miami Beach are often seen on the Phipps Field during the playing season, attempting to carry off the honors, and bringing cheers from the throng of onlookers because of their accomplished play.

Such prominent figures as Tommy Hitchcock and Lawrence Waterbury, who greatly aided in building up the game in America, may be seen at the matches watching the younger fellows with a critical eye and perhaps dropping a bit of advice when requested.

Howard Phipps, who plays a splendid game, H. C. Phipps, Harold Phipps and John S. Phipps of the famous Phipps family team, are constant players at the field, giving close competition to opposing tourney team-mates.

Another well known family team is that of Godfrey Preece, Terrance Preece and Stewart Preece, who own one of the largest and best strings of polo ponies in the country. Godfrey Preece has recently arrived with 30 ponies which are daily seen in play at the field.

A recent match of unusual interest was that played at the Phipps Field by Winston Guest, Laddie Sanford and Jack Coleman, representing the White team and Capt. Syvil Lee, Harold Quinn, Raymond Guest and Charlie Peerless representing the Blues.

A peppy match of eight chukkers, teeming with good natured rivalry on the part of the players, under perfect field and weather conditions, ended with the Blues winning the match to a final tally of 17 to 16. Mr. Peerless was forced out of play after the second period to give personal attention to an injured mount but the Blues were given a handicap of seven to make up for it.

Laddy Sanford and Winston Guest displayed top form in play especially in the fifth period, when Mr. Sanford made a terrific drive from near the center of the field which came to rest just inside the goal.

The game was in the nature of a practice tournament for the purpose of getting a team consisting of Mr. Winston Guest, Mr. Laddy Sanford, Capt. Syvil Lee, Mr. Harold Quinn and Mr. Raymond Guest in shape for a tournament the next day at Miami Beach, where they opened the first game of the season.

Gulfstream offers other equine diversions, in its beautiful bridle paths which have been considerably enlarged this season. Shaded bowers of lofty palms, in between which are set hibiscus bushes with bell-like red flowers, and a roadbed of fine springy turf, makes an admirable setting for hacking.

The mounts furnished by Charlie Peerless at Gulfstream are considered to be among the best obtainable anywhere in the country. Peerless has the reputation of being one of the best judges of horses known in the country, especially when it comes to polo ponies, of which he is a professional trainer.

Although possessing unmatched facilities for enjoyment under Florida skies with splendid mounts, Gulfstream has in no wise been wholly completed as yet. Possessing two fields for polo play, plans have been formulated for another field slightly north of what is now known as North field, which will make the Phipps field the polo nucleus of South Florida.

SOCIETY OF ARTS

THE SOCIETY OF ARTS will open its seventh season on Monday evening, February 3rd, presenting the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, with Doctor Henri Verbrugghen as director, and Nina Morgana as soloist, at the Paramount theatre. Following the custom of past seasons, there will be five concerts in the series, and the artists appearing this season have been chosen with extreme discrimination from among outstanding musicians of the world. The second concert by the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra will be given at the Paramount on February 10th, the entire evening being devoted to important orchestral works. The third concert, on February 17th, presents Myra Hess, pianist, and Josephine Lucchese, soprano; while the fourth event, on February 24th, will be Palm Beach's own John Charles Thomas in recital. Efrem Zimbalist, violinist, appears at the final concert of the series of the Society of Arts, with a Russian Trio comprising Nina Koshetz, soprano, Gabriel Leonoff, tenor, and Vladimir Dubinsky, baritone. Following the precedent of last year the symphony concerts at the Paramount will be open to the public, and the last three in the series will be for members only in the great hall of the Everglades club.

Since his appearance here last season with his world-famous musical aggregation, Henri Verbrugghen has been honored with the degree of Doctor of Music, conferred upon him by Herbert Witherspoon, President of the Chicago Musical college, on June 19, 1929, in recognition of his extraordinary achievements in the musical world and orchestral field. Dr. Verbrugghen is well known at Palm Beach, where the two appearances of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra last winter were high lights in the Society of Arts series. He is a protege of the great Ysaye, with whom he lived and studied until his London debut. His advancement has been spectacular and his name is firmly established as one of the greatest contemporary symphony orchestra conductors. His leadership of his organization is little short of miraculous, and so great is his skill in evoking unity of tone that under his direction the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra has grown to be one of the five greatest symphony orchestras of the world.

Myra Hess, the distinguished English pianist who appears at the third concert, is among the newest stars in the musical firmament to peep over the Palm Beach horizon. Miss Hess gave her first public recital in London in 1908 and with such marked success that she was engaged to play at important orchestral concerts at Royal Albert and Queen's Halls during that same year. Since then her career has been a series of uninterrupted triumphs in Europe, while her complete capture of America is now a matter of musical history. Not since the days of Sophie Menter and Teresa Carreno has such a spontaneous and superlative art been demonstrated on the concert platform of a woman.

The fourth Society of Arts concert presents John Charles Thomas in recital. Famous throughout the world for his magnificent baritone voice, his artistic renditions, his histrionic ability and his delightful personality, this great American artist will be doubly welcomed at Palm Beach, where he has many friends. Mr. Thomas was heard in the society of Arts series two years ago, when he consented to appear with the Cleveland Symphony orchestra to fill the place of Emilio de Gogorza, who was suddenly taken ill. An evening given over to this great artist in recital will be a musical feast for members of the Society of Arts.

Efrem Zimbalist, who appears in the final concert, is known to Palm Beach from his appearance here for the Society of Arts in 1927, at the home of Joseph Riter, whose death two years ago was an irreparable loss to the organization which he was instrumental in founding. Mme. Koshetz, who appears upon the same program as a member of the Russian Trio, sang here with the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra at the first Society of Arts concert last season.

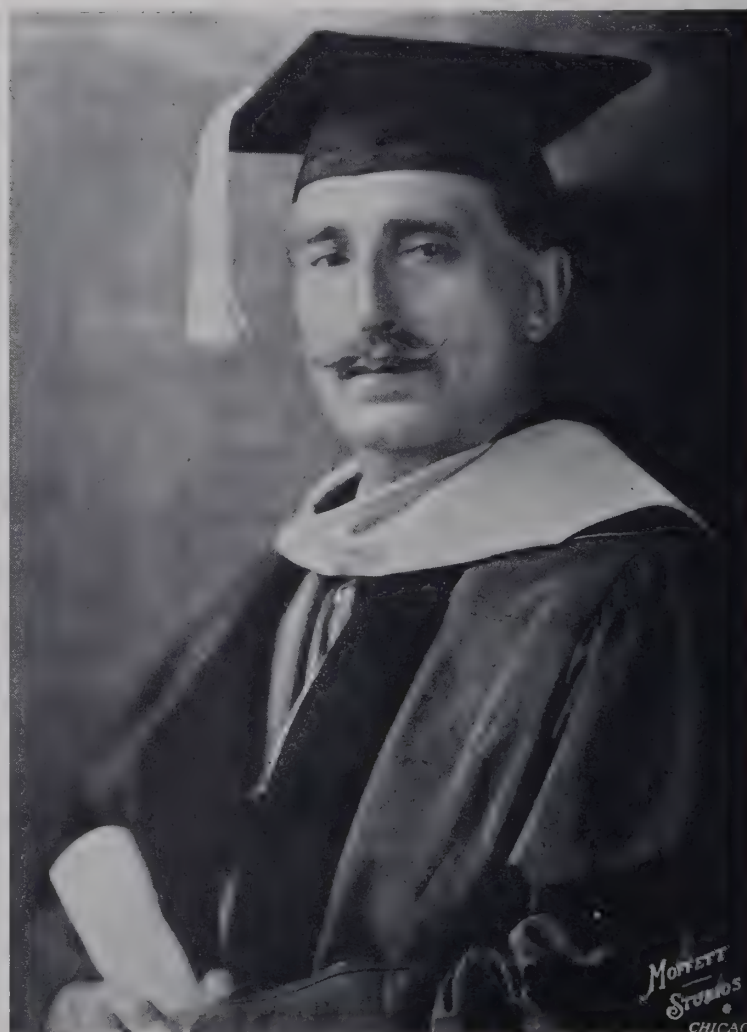

The Society of Arts, which is one of the most important factors in the aesthetic life of the colony, functions under a board of directors which includes the officers of the society, Edward T. Stotesbury, president; John H. Pillsbury, vice president, and Henry Seligman, secretary and treasurer; also Messrs. Chester C. Bolton; John F. Harris and John S. Phipps. Miss Georgeana Girvin is again in charge of arrangements for the concerts, as in past seasons.

Members of the Society of Arts are:

Mr. and Mrs. George White Baxter, Mr. and Mrs. Chester C. Bolton, Mr. and Mrs. Jay F. Carlisle, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel H. Carstairs, Mr. and Mrs. Earle Perry Charlton, Mrs. Irving Hall Chase, Mr. and Mrs.

Thomas L. Chadbourne, Mrs. John E. Dana, Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Diebold, Mrs. John E. Dietz, Dr. and Mrs. Edmund LeRoy Dow, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dun Douglass, Miss Alice DeLamar, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Dillman, Mr. and Mrs. James P. Donahue, Mrs. George C. DeWitt, Mrs. Herbert C. Greer, Mr. and Mrs. G. Horton Glover, Dr. Clement Cleveland, Miss Nellie A. Cluett, Mr. and Mrs. Albert B. Dewey, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Fish, Mrs. William B. Franklin, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ellsworth Bemis, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Harris, Mrs. H. Ashton Henry, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Huston, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Kay, Mr. and Mrs. David M. Kirk, Mr. and Mrs. Willey Lyon Kingsley, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Mesker, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gair Macomber, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. F. McCann, Mr. and Mrs. George A. McKinlock, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Moore, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Nicolai, Mrs. Alexander Laughlin, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Oakes, Mrs. Eleanor N. Orr, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Phipps, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Pillsbury, Mr. and Mrs. G. Byran Pitts, Mrs. B. W. Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. KEEPING alive the tradition of the Hotel Sevilla Biltmore of having a successful dinner dance each night of the winter season at the roof garden Friday night was an added triumph. Everyone had heard of the famous dance team of Veloz and Yolanda before its arrival in Havana and consequently much was expected of it. However, each evening the dancers exceed all expectation. Noted among the dinner guests were: Mr. and Mrs. D. Emil Klein, Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer Regensky, Mr. and Mrs. Jose Suarez, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Seligman, Mose Lehrer, Charles Felber, Mr. and Mrs. C. Hansher, I. Margelies, Dr. J. D. Klein, C. A. Smith, T. Epsembergh with a party of four; Mr. and Mrs. Enriue Lopez, Mr. and Mrs. Juan Lopez, Mr. and Mrs. G. Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, Jr., H. Norbye, Mr. and Mrs. George James and a party of five; Mr. and Mrs. Max Geiger, Rafael Estrada Palma and a party of three.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Content of New York city were hosts Wednesday evening at a dinner party, the setting for which was the beautiful Chateau Madrid, one of the outdoor dining and dancing places of Havana. The guests of Mr. and Mrs. Content were Mr. and Mrs. William H. Anders, Mrs. Edith H. Giannini, Caryl Harris of New York and Miss Helen Downey of Springfield, Mass.

* * * *

An interesting visitor at the Sevilla Biltmore is The Duke of Manchester. The titled Englishman is not a mere visitor to Havana this year, but will be one of the winter residents as he will make his home this season with his friend Sir Hector Macneal. The Duke recently bought a tract of waterfront property in the Havana Biltmore addition and will build a home, the construction of which will begin at an early date.

* * * *

Among the visitors at the Royal Palm Hotel is Mr. E. L. Brewer of Central Constancia.

* * * *

Miss Thelma Todgham, a student of Chatham Hall in Virginia spent the holiday season with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilber Todgham, at the Royal Palm Hotel.

* * * *

The "Upper Deck" of the Hotel Royal Palm was the setting for an attractive bridge party at which Mrs. Nathaniel Heller was hostess Friday. She had the members of her bridge club as guests. At the close of the bridge games prizes were awarded to Mrs. Juna Ulloa and Miss Lolita Varona. Tea was served later. Mrs. Heller's guests included Mrs. Roy Hurlburt, Mrs. Juan Ulloa, Mrs. N. J. Bonet, Mrs. Alberto Garcia, Mrs. T. MacGuiston, Mrs. L. MacGowan and Miss Lolita Varona.

* * * *

Many attractive dinner parties were given at Chateau Madrid Thursday evening. A splendid program of entertainment was presented by the Trio Matamoros, the fascinating rumba and son dancer, Carida, and the famous Spanish dancer, Granito de Sal, who is known all over the world for her collection of valuable Spanish mantones. Dancing was enjoyed until a late hour to the two orchestras, Jazz and Son, which are so popular with Havana society.

* * * *

A delightful party was that which included Miss Dorothy Judkins, Miss Helen Kennedy, Mrs. Jeanette Lumb, Mrs. Charles Judkins, Tracy Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Tynan, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Kennedy. The same evening the Florida Boy Scouts, who are visiting in Havana, were the guests of Fausto Campuzano, popular manager of Chateau Madrid, and were served sandwiches and ice cream. There were 190 Scouts with their leaders present.

* * * *

The guest list at the Hotel Sevilla Biltmore includes notables both among American and international society. Among them are the following: Mrs. William B. Dick, the former Mrs. John Jacob Astor and her son, John Jacob Astor who spent four days during young Astor's vacation from St. George's school in Newport. Mr. and Mrs. John D. Hertz and their children, Betty and John D., Jr., will remain for the season. Mr. and Mrs. Hertz are well known on the turf as the owners of Reigh Count, one of the greatest horses ever to wear plates. Mrs.

Marion Aubert, prominent in the racing circle at the Long Island turf, will spend several weeks. She is seen daily at the Havana Jockey club. The Duke of Manchester, famous English sportsman, has been at the hotel for the past month but will start construction on a beautiful home to be built in the Havana Biltmore addition in the near future. Lady Diana Cooper, the former Lady Diana Manners, often-times referred to as the most beautiful woman in England, accompanied by her husband, Duff Cooper, Lady Victor Paget and Captain Sidney Herbert spent the New Year's holidays in Havana. Lady Diana Cooper played in the famous production "The Miracle." Mr. Cooper, the son of the late Sir Alfred Cooper, the famous English surgeon, is one of the foremost young men in the House of Commons. Sir Hector Macneal, K. B. E., represents the English capital in the Cuban National Syndicate. He plans to remain for the entire season. Mr. and Mrs. John McGraw arrived before the Christmas holidays. Mr. McGraw is the popular manager of the New York Giants. Henry Steele Roberts and J. Heron, wealthy young brokers of New York city, will remain two weeks. They plan to return by way of Palm Beach en route to New York in order to spend some time fishing. Mrs. Louise Martin and Mrs. E. F. Cramer are spending several weeks. They are prominent members of society in Miami. Grant Y. Flynn, son of the late Charles P. Flynn, is now the assistant to Miguel Suarez, who took Mr. Flynn's place with the Cuban National Syndicate. Mr. and Mrs. Ken Maynard are spending three weeks. Mr. Maynard is the wellknown Universal western star. Mr. and Mrs. William Wallace made their home at the Hotel Seville until they recently moved to their beautiful new residence in the Biltmore addition. Mr. and Mrs. William Dobbins spent their honeymoon in Havana. Mrs. Dobbins is the former Miss Georgia Brown of New York city. Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Chandon arrived last week. Mr. Chandon is one of the foremost portrait artists in England. He will make a portrait of President Herbert Hoover on his arrival in the States. Thomas Dwyer accompanied by his daughter, Miss Katherine were guests for the holidays. Mr. Dwyer is the Commissioner of Public Markets in New York city and a member of Mayor James J. Walker's official family. Hon. F. M. Sackett, recently appointed German Ambassador, was in Havana for several days. The American Ambassador Harry F. Guggenheim and Mrs. Guggenheim were guests at the hotel until their recent removal to their residence in the Vedado Reparto. Andrew W. Mellon, the Secretary of the U. S. Treasury, accompanied by his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. David Bruce, and his son, Paul Mellon, spent New Years at the hotel and were noted at the New Year's Eve dinner dance.

So great was the attendance at the tea dance given in the garden patio of the Hotel Almendares Sunday afternoon at the conclusion of the races that the overflow extended onto the broad veranda of the hotel, where many charmingly arranged tables were placed. The popular Almendares orchestra, and Restivo, with his versatile accordeon, kept everyone dancing until an unusually late hour. David and Hilda Murray presented a delightful waltz, and their favorite "Parasol Dance," which were enthusiastically applauded. Mrs. Murray was looking more adorable than ever, if such a thing is possible, in a gown of delicate gray and black lace of the new stiff type, with a low back decollete defined by a large gray velvet bow.

Among those noted during the tea hour were Colonel George W. Bicknell, Miss Virginia Pryor, Mr. and Mrs. Max Fischer, Mr. and Mrs. Al Goldman, Mr. and Mrs. Saul Nemser, Nathan Levine, Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Lewis of Hollywood, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Karl B. ## THE OASIS CLUB

HE UNOFFICIAL premier of the Oasis Club took place on New Year's day, followed by a formal opening on January 10th. One of the popular clubs in the Palm Beach colony, the Oasis, promises to be even more so this season with many new entertainment features planned. January 27th is the date set for the first boxing bout of the season and they will continue every other Monday for the following two months. Boxing of high order, always featured at the Oasis, will in more frequent recurrence be a considerable part of the Club's program of entertainment during the winter. A number of members have subscribed funds in sufficient amount to induce well known fighters to participate in these semi-monthly events.

The unavoidable street congestion usually attendant upon social functions at the Oasis Club is eliminated this season. Arrangements were made with the Florida East Coast Hotel Company for a drive which has been cut from the roadway in front of the Oasis Club through to the Breakers ground, where exit may easily be made.

Organized primarily as a residential club for bachelors, the Oasis now holds open house for feminine guests during the afternoons, when tea is served in the patio. Always a lovely spot, the patio this season is even more beautiful, with a number of stately palm trees, tropical plants and shrubs added.

A new roster of members has been issued in the club's colors of green, blue and gold, and has the club name indicated by an oasis of palms on the front cover. It was presented to the club by its president, Mr. A. J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., whose arrival shortly will add an impetus to the social activity of the club.

Other officers of the club are Mr. Jules S. Bache and Mr. James P. Donahue, vice-presidents; Mr. Frank Shaughnessy, treasurer, and Mr. Christopher Dunphy, secretary.

The Board of Governors is as follows: Jules S. Bache, A. J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., Col. James A. Blair, Jr., Jay F. Carlisle, Walter P. Chrysler, Gerhard M. Dahl, James P. Donahue, Christopher Dunphy, Thomas Durant, Maurice Fatio, Clarence H. Geist, Robert Goelet, Harris Hammond, Milton W. Holden, Robert A. Norriss, Ogden Reid, Wiley R. Reynolds, Rodney Thayer, Alfred H. Wagg.

The Club's House Committee: Chairman Jules S. Bache, A. J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., Christopher Dunphy, Ogden Reid, Frank Shaughnessy, Rodney Thayer.

The entertainment committee includes: Chairman Col. James A. Blair, Jr., Jay F. Carlisle, Walter P. Chrysler, James P. Donahue, Maurice Fatio, Edward F. Hutton, Ira J. Richards, Jr., Joseph Urban.

A complete list of active members are listed below: William B. Averell, William L. Baldwin, H. E. Bemis, Rosseter W. Betts, Nathan D. Bill, Col. James A. Blair, Jr., Caleb S. Bragg, Robert P. # FISHING IN PALM BEACH WATERS

VERITABLE angler's paradise awaits the winter visitor at Palm Beach, where sportsmen from all over the world congregate each season to enjoy the thrill of cruising in the Gulf Stream in small craft manned by capable captains in hopes of landing an eight-foot Sailfish. The Sailfish is to Palm Beach what the tarpon is to sportsmen on the West Coast, and presents a most beautiful sight sailing along through the water, half submerged with its huge dorsal fin extended like a sail, from which it derives its name.

The average Sailfish runs from six to seven and one-half feet, and it is only occasionally that one is caught measuring eight feet or more. Consequently no amateur fisherman is satisfied until he has landed his eight-foot Sailfish, which he promptly dispatches to Fred Parks to have mounted.

When a strike is made by a Sailfish or King on tackle consisting of nine thread line and a four ounce tip, the angler has a fight on his hands, in order to land the Sailfish without losing both tackle and fish. It takes inexhaustible patience and a lengthy period of time, running well over an hour in some cases, to bring the fish along side, in the proper condition to safely land it.

When a Sailfish hits the bait it usually starts right out and makes a wide sweeping circle, its fin erect and broadside in the water to keep the angler from hauling it in. The reel whirls endlessly paying out line and the angler begins to wonder whether there will be enough, when the line slackens, and he begins to reel it in. But not for long.

Mr. Sailfish comes to life abruptly and is off again with the line in tow. The performance is endlessly repeated until finally man is the conqueror, providing he doesn't make the mistake of reeling too soon and snapping his line.

Additional excitement is sometimes provided when a shark appears on the scene and endeavors to get the Sailfish, or a portion of it, before the angler does. This takes most careful maneuvering and provides an added thrill to the day's excitement.

When the angler becomes weary after a hard morning of Sailfishing he may troll close to shore or in the lake and catch any number of bluefish, Jacks, Pompano and once in a great while a Silver Tarpon.

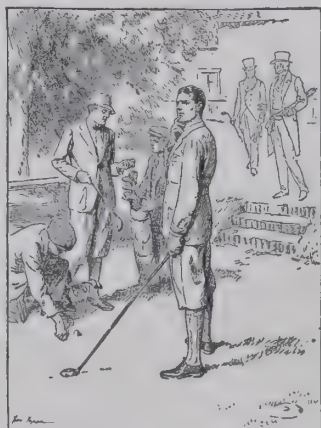

For those who do not desire to venture out on the broad Atlantic, very pleasant sport may be had in the early morning or late afternoon, surf-casting for Pompano. This type of fish has been pronounced by noted fishing authorities, the most delicious of all edible fish, when properly cooked, which is by broiling over a slow fire.

The Pompano is now considered a rare fish and visits the Atlantic coast for only a certain period during the year. From February to early June is the most opportune time to catch the Pompano. For a small size fish, averaging from one to three pounds, the Pompano puts up an exceedingly game fight and is preferred by many to all other kinds of sport fishing.

Yet, Sailfishing remains the most popular with members of the winter colony and hardly a day passes that any number of small boats do not put out to sea from the Poinciana dock, headquarters of the Sailfish Club of Florida, bearing parties of enthusiastic anglers.

fish in 25 minutes apparently without fatigue and with the skill of an expert angler.

Dr. Charles Morrison of Portland, Maine, and Palm Beach, had an interesting afternoon's sport in company with Dr. Moore, also of Palm Beach.

Dr. Morrison began the day's catch by landing a four and one-half pound Sailfish, an achievement in itself, because it is rare occurrence that anyone ever succeeds in catching this variety of fish of so small a size. Before the afternoon's fishing was over, however, he also landed a beautiful specimen, weighing 58 pounds and measuring seven feet six inches.

* * * *

Mr. George K. O'Donnell of New York and Clarke avenue holds the record thus far this season in landing a Sailfish which measured eight feet two inches in length and weighed 72 pounds, the record catch to date. Mr. O'Donnell also returned from a morning's trip the other day with five white pennants flying, denoting a catch of five sailfish averaging seven feet six inches.

* * * *

Mr. Frank Duff Frazier of New York and Palm Beach, veteran of a number of seasons of Sailfishing, who rarely missed a single afternoon during his winter visits, fishing in the Miss Sally, owned by Captain Githens, has been consistently hauling them in this season.

Mr. Frazier is scarcely an amateur. Using sporting tackle, he often works more than an hour in order to tire the gamey fish sufficiently to warrant landing it.

On one of his recent afternoon trips Mr. Frazier had as his guest Mr. Harry Rosenfeld, of New York. An excellent afternoon's fishing was had with each angler catching two beautiful specimens of Sailfish averaging approximately seven feet six inches in length.

Janet Gray Says:

..... I'd rather be at Saint Andrews without my golf clubs than at Palm Beach without my All-Aluminum Three-Fruit reamer. Whether the recipe calls for the juice of the sweet orange, the tarter grapefruit or the tarest lemon—it makes no difference now. For the Three-Fruit has interchangeable reamers—little, middling and big. You just slip on the proper reamer, hold the fruit against it, and turn the handle—out streams the juice, free of seeds and pulp. $12.50.

NASSAU

THE Nassau winter season gives every promise of being a gay one and the early season guests far exceed those of former years. The Royal Victoria officially opened on December 23rd but quite a number of early arrivals had been resident for a week preceding. Christmas Day was celebrated with the customary bowl of Christmas egg nog with many appetizers placed on a table in the lobby of the hotel, the guests gathering around in friendly fashion before the dinner hour.

Prominent among those who came in for dinner was Mr. R. E. Fox of East Orange, N. J., new acting manager for the Royal Bank of Canada during the illness of Sir George Gamblin. Mr. Fox is no stranger to Nassau as he has been resident in New York for several years looking after the West Indies business for the Royal Bank of Canada in that city. With Mr. Fox was Mrs. Fox, their daughters, the Misses Jane and Marian. Also his brother, Dr. Frederick J. Fox and son John Fox of New York, who recently arrived as his house guests.

Dining on that evening with Mrs. Carey W. Dunton were Major Hugh Bell, director of publicity for the Bahamas Development Board, and the new American Vice-Consul, Mr. Leo J. Callanan, acting until the recently appointed American Consul, Mr. Robert Macatee, arrived from his post in England.

The major event of the week was the official annual New Years' Eve ball, given by His Excellency, the Governor of the Bahamas, Sir Charles Orr at the Jungle, adjoining the Fort Montagu Hotel since Government House is undergoing repairs.

Officialdom was present and many flags around the open air dancing pavilion with its revolving dance floor added to the picture. Shortly before midnight, in accordance with an old custom, the guests encircled the dancing floor, joined hands and sang "Auld Lang Syne" and at midnight drank the toast proposed by His Excellency, the Governor to His Majesty, King George.

Among the Americans present was the American Vice-consul, Mr. Leo J. Callanan, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Wannop, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Fox, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph G. Collins, Miss Elizabeth Collins, Mr. and Mrs. John G. Daix, Miss Kopper, Mrs. Carey W. Dunton, Miss Emilie Zangrandi, Miss Marie C. Zangrandi, Mr. John Tracy.

The formal opening of the Bahamas Country club was marked by a New Years' Eve party. The club house has been rebuilt and is exceedingly colorful with its enlarged open restaurant facing the sea and red concrete floor running to the edge of the sea wall. Yellow, green and Munson blue form the decorative scheme and a pergola over which clammers red bouganvillea vines leads from the carriage entrance.

Souvenirs, confetti and noisemakers assisted the merrymakers in welcoming the New Year in American fashion, and many guests who had attended the Governor's Ball joined the dancers after midnight.

Guests at the Royal Victoria who are here to pass the holiday season include Mr. Robert Moses, secretary of the state of New York under former Governor Alfred E. Smith, Mrs. Moses and the Misses Barbara and Jane.

Also Mr. W. H. Sheffield of New York of the famous Sheffield Farms, Mrs. Sheffield and their children. Other New Yorkers include Mrs. Mildred R. Daly and her brother, Mr. R. E. Leavitt, Mrs. D. W. Byrnes and Miss Rita E. Byrnes, Mr. Richard C. Berresford, and also Mr. P. J. Reidy of the firm of contractors who built the New Colonial hotel is renewing his acquaintanceship here.

Devereaux Emmett of St. James, L. I., who built the golf course of the Bahamas Country club has arrived, and Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Atterbury of Enfield, Ct. are here for the holiday season.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Hill of Pasadena, Cal., with Mr. J. Howard Smith of London arrived on the Steamship Lady Rodney.

Taking their meals at the New Colonial hotel and living at Kenmuir nearby are Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Findletter and children of Philadelphia with Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Gardiner and children of Berkeley Farms, Mass.

Those of the cottage colony who are now in residence include Mr. and Mrs. Harold Strebeigh of New York in their new home "Seamark." Mr. and Mrs. George Bullock of Oyster Bay, L. I., and Mr. and Mrs. Irving Cox of Mill Neck, L. I., whose winter home is named "The Hut;" Dr. James C. Ayer of New York, Mr. and Mrs. A. Graves Ely of Morristown, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Anderson of Palatka, Fla., are passing two weeks before proceeding to Jamaica.

HAIR<sup>AND</sup> SCALP

— LUCKY TIGER —

THE NATIONAL REMEDY

Quickly Destroys Dandruff and Corrects Scalp Disorders

A single application stops that miserable itching; a most effective germicide, yet delicately perfumed, and as refreshing as the morning dew.

An indispensable hair dressing after your sea bath

Stops Falling Hair

Impoverished, falling hair can be avoided; the harsh, scraggly kind can be made soft and luxuriant. A single bottle of Lucky Tiger will convince.

Lucky Tiger Has Solved All These Problems For You

We have made it our business to do this. We have been phenomenally successful, as evidenced by millions of Lucky Tiger users.

At all good druggists, barber shops and beauty parlors

STACCATO*

PRINTS

CHENEY
WEAVES

Seasing — and — Sunning
Teasing — and — Toasting

Staccato* Prints, timed exactly to the gay, quick, exciting life of to-day, are an ultra-modern collection of silks inspired by the work of French artists. They flaunt the bold colors, the dynamic forms, the intriguing rhythms of modern art.

They are gay prints, these Staccatos*, daring in color, keyed to strong sunlight and azure seas. They are undeniably effective for Southern Resort wear—smart the whole day through . . . on the beach, at tea, or informally dining and dancing. Quite as adapted for sheer frocks when printed on chiffon as for gay pyjamas, when printed on Shantung and other rough silks.

Exclusive models in Staccato* Prints will be found at fashionable Palm Beach and Miami shops. These and other Cheney silks can also be bought by the yard at Hatch's Palm Beach store.

A matter of good taste and rare judgment

If you haven't a Buick with you . . . or if you have never driven one . . . it is a simple matter to visit the Buick Winter Salon (Peruvian Avenue and Palm Beach Avenue, South) for a demonstration of any of the several Buick models. It is an evidence of good taste and rare judgment to drive a Buick. For good taste, or a flair for fine things, denotes Buick luxury and beauty . . . while rare judgment, or a sense of fine values, demands Buick performance and economy. An incomparable combination of virtues! We challenge you to come away without a desire to possess . . . for your very . . . such smooth performance . . . such flawless beauty . . . and such potent possibilities of prideful ownership.

THE Skinner Organ Company has solved the problem of building organs entirely suitable for installation in Florida and along the seashore. The same infinite pains with labor and material, which makes a Skinner organ sound better and look better, makes it longer lived, more reliable, and less subject to climatic changes and repair. It stays in tune better. At the recently opened Palm Beach Studio

those interested may hear their favorite selections either automatically, or hand played.

Hawaii in 4 days? YES -- The MALOLO!

A LUXURIOUS TRIP FROM SAN FRANCISCO

Radically the Malolo has changed people's ideas of where Hawaii is . . . Hawaii with its mountains and beaches and golf courses. Only four days at sea when you take this great express liner! Sail Saturday noon from San Francisco—you're in Hawaii Wednesday!

In luxurious comfort, too, the Malolo is unmatched on the Hawaii run. From stem to stern, one entire deck is a succession of restful, charming lounges. You'll remark their unusual spaciousness . . . the Malolo is the broadest of ships in proportion to length.

You'll like the Pompeian pool, the electrical gymnasium, the elevators, the telephones. And the food on the Malolo will make your liveliest appetite a valued possession. Ask any travel agency or the Matson Line representative, L. C. Downey, McAllister Hotel, Boulevard and Flager Street, Miami, Florida.

SPRING IS GLORIOUS IN HAWAII

Golf, surfing, polo, motoring . . . and a climate that makes every recreation more enjoyable. The mercury hovers lazily in the seventies and the water at Waikiki varies only a degree or two from the air, averaging 75°. Now is the time to play in Hawaii!

YACHTING

ACKNOWLEDGED by yachtsmen the world over as the most desirable section on the globe for winter cruising, Florida and Gulf waters are attracting some of the world's most famous pleasure yachts. They linger under the warm sub-tropical skies during most of the season, within a stone's throw of the shore of Palm Beach, taking advantage of the natural and spacious harbor afforded by Lake Worth, while their owners take part in the many social activities at the island resort.

All through the season the waters of Lake Worth make a striking scene of marine activity with fast speedboats roaring up and down the lake, tiny outboards purring along not far behind and aristocratic white yachts with tapering lines nosing their way in and out of the lake as they return from a cruise or depart for a brief sojourn among the islands of the Gulf to return for the annual regattas.

Often they become the place of delightful parties, aglow with twinkling lights from stem to stern, with the cadent strains of dance music coming over the water mingled with other sounds of gayety as couples dance on the decks.

On moonlight nights, they stand out in ghostly splendor against the dark background of silhouetted palms on the shore line, which is broken at intervals by the lights of resort hotels.

On Regatta holidays, the yachts are decorated with a galaxy of signal flags and other holiday attire and are lined side by side all along the race course at a safe distance from the racing lanes.

The season thus far at Palm Beach has witnessed the arrival of some of the largest yachts afloat, as well as those owned by most distinguished society folk and people prominent in national affairs.

One of the largest to anchor off the Port of Palm Beach this season was the yacht "Vagabondia," having on board Mr. Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, who was the guest of his nephew, Mr. William L. Mellon, of Pittsburgh, owner of the yacht. They put into Palm Beach after a three weeks' cruise off the Bahamas and the West Indies. Also included in the party with the secretary were his son, Paul Mellon, his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. David E. K. Bruce, and Mr. Francis Carmody.

The party proceeded to the Breakers, after landing, and had luncheon in the circular dining room, following which they inspected the hotel and later visited points of interest in the resort.

Another large yacht finding anchorage off the Port of Palm Beach recently was the yacht "Alder," one of the largest craft of its type ever seen in these waters.

The "Alder," now owned by Mr. William Boyce Thompson of Yonkers, N. Y., was formerly the "Savarona" and was owned by Mrs. Cadwalader, Jr. of Philadelphia. It is one of the largest and best equipped private yachts afloat and made a beautiful picture riding at anchor off the shore of Palm Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson and a guest, Mr. Cornelius Kelleher were aboard coming here from Nassau. A new "Savarona," which it is said, will exceed in length and tonnage the yacht formerly of the same name, is now being constructed, and will no doubt be seen in Florida waters next season.

One of the finest yachts seen in the lake so far this season is the "Poule d'Eau," 70 feet long, owned by Mr. Frank Goodyear of Buffalo. It arrived recently for a winter's cruise in Southern waters. Modelled after the lines of an Italian destroyer, with powerful engines, speedy design and low draft, it is an ideal craft for cruising off the Florida coast.

Among the auxiliary schooners which make a yearly pilgrimage to Palm Beach is the three-masted schooner "Moby Dick," owned by Mr. Frederick Studebaker Fish of Chicago. This vessel, which typifies the ideal craft for water travel, has the distinction of making a round-the-world cruise, under all sorts of weather conditions, but from all accounts it stood up under the ordeal admirably and continues to serve its owner for lengthy cruises.

The "Sea King," owned by Mr. Sailing Baruch, has also arrived for the season. This boat is familiar to everyone in yachting circles, and will be in Lake Worth until later in the month when it will take its owner aboard and make a cruise of Southern waters.

Among the palatial house boats which make the seasonal run to Florida is the "Pioneer," owned by Mr. William H. Todd of New York, who also has the "Saelmo" and the "Harmony."

The "Pioneer" is a veteran of Florida waters and has been the property of several well known yachtsmen, including Mr. Van Lear Black, Col. E. H. R. Greene and Mr. Sumner Ballard. While under charter several years ago, it brought the late President Harding and his party to Palm Beach for a brief visit.

The "Conewago," luxurious houseboat of Mr. Adrian C. Humphreys of New York, arrived early this season and has undergone a complete overhauling to get it ready for an active winter cruising.

Mr. Lamont Dupont's "Nemea" of Wilmington, Del., is also docked at Flagler pier, near the "Santana" of Boston, owned by Mr. Osborne Howes of Chestnut Hills, Mass.

The "Viator," owned by Mr. Maitland Alexander of Belfast, Maine, has been reconditioned while at Palm Beach and recently left for a short cruise, with its owner aboard, to return again in time for local marine activities later in the season.

Bringing admirations from those who had not seen the new yacht since its construction early last year, the "Vara" owned by Mr. Harold Vanderbilt of New York, has been tied up for several weeks at the Port of Palm Beach, constantly on the alert to take a cruise wherever the owner might direct. A beautiful craft, having lines suitable for making fast time if necessary, the "Vara" is equipped with every conceivable convenience, for the benefit of its guests. It carries a crew of 12 men and single cabins for six guests. Mr. Vanderbilt is also the owner of the "Vagrant" and the "Prestige."

The yacht "Marold," 100 feet long, owned by Mr. Louis K. Liggett of Boston, recently arrived at Palm Beach and is now at anchor just above the North bridge. Mr. Liggett is expected soon.

"Bluebill" is another auxiliary cruiser owned by Mr. and Mrs. John Carey Springs, who are staying in Wewoka cottage on Breakers row. They have made a number of short cruises and will be here for the winter.

Other yachts which have found a berth at Flagler pier are: The cruiser "Awandra," owned by Henry Van Sicle of Philadelphia; the "Pilgrim II," houseboat owned by Mr. William H. Elkins of Elkins, Penna.; the "Illusion," houseboat owned by Mr. L. P. Cartier, New York and the "Dawn II," owned by E. W. Orrell of Ormand, Florida.

An added factor of service benefiting both yacht captains and owners has been the installation during the past year of a series of commercial radio stations at points equidistant along the entire Atlantic seaboard, and also the Gulf of Mexico.

These stations enable yachts carrying radio equipment to keep in touch with the shoreline at all times even though they may be a thousand miles out to sea.

Weather forecasts are broadcast every day through these stations and in the event of an approaching storm, all pleasure craft, whether large or small and from Maine to Mexico, are thus given ample opportunity to seek a safe harbor in which to "ride out" the blow.

It is rare however, that a storm occurs along the Florida coast or in the Gulf during the winter season. This, coupled with the ideal summer weather and incomparable conditions existant for fishing and other aquatic sports, creates an irresistible urge to draw yachtsmen and lovers of the sea from everywhere.

Palm Beach is fortunate in having one of these commercial stations located here. This station, the call letter of which is WOC, serves as the connecting link between similar stations located in New Jersey and Port Arthur, Texas, to maintain communications with all vessels cruising along the coast, in the Gulf of Mexico.

Recently positions and communications have been received from several well-known yachts cruising in Southern waters.

Among them was the famous yacht "Vagabondia," owned by Mr. W. L. Mellon of Pittsburgh, nephew of Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, who, with members of his family was aboard; the equally famous yacht "Nourmahal," owned by Vincent Astor, bound for New York; the yacht "Seaborn," owned by Richard F. Howe of Glen Cove, Long Island and "Iolanda," owned by Moses Taylor of New York, cruising in the Gulf.

TO MEND YOUR BRACELET OR RESTRING YOUR PEARLS

---

THE catch of your favorite bracelet may go awry, your cherished pearls may suddenly need restringing, or you may find the setting of a stunning dinner ring just a little loose. . . . But even such major feminine disasters need not keep you from appearing at your best at tomorrow's ball. For here at Palm Beach, Marcus & Co., Inc., has a representative staff chosen from their New York establishment. And among these are included expert craftsmen who are masters of the art of making the most fragile things like new again, when something's gone amiss. By bringing wayward jewels to this establishment many residents of Palm Beach have been able to continue wearing favored pieces which otherwise might have had to lie unseen until the spring migration to Manhattan.

If You Should Take a Boat and Sail around the World

... there would be no large city you would touch where you could not purchase Elizabeth Arden Preparations.

Miss Arden has created internationalism in beauty. In Holland, in Japan, in Egypt, in Spain—everywhere—are lovely women with the "Arden look."

Have you ever thought of why you see fifty attractive looking women today where, twenty years ago, you saw but one?

For this reason. When Elizabeth Arden entered the profession of Beauty, she lifted it with her vision, her passionate impatience with imperfection, out of haphazard guessing into sincerity and science.

When you buy Elizabeth Arden Preparations, you are buying integrity—the incorruptible sincerity of a woman who has refused repeatedly, in spite of great inducements, to sell her name—for fear that this high quality which she has maintained from the beginning, might be lowered, and thus she would betray the trust of millions of women all over the world, who, through experience, have learned to identify Elizabeth Arden with honor and high attainment.

In Elizabeth Arden's Palm Beach Salon are found all the incomparable Arden Treatments, the tried and proven Muscle-Strapping and Skin-Toning—the very successful Firming Treatment. Here the famous Vienna Youth Mask is given. Clean-cut profiles are restored. Warm, natural color returns.

For an appointment, please telephone Palm Beach 8924.

POLO AT GULFSTREAM

WARM sunny morning with a slight breeze stirring through the Palms and Australian Pines; the thud of hoofs on the springy sod, and suddenly as one comes to an opening in the tall hedge bordering on each side of the bridle path, an unrestricted view is given of a scene of unwonted activity on the Phipps Polo field. Players astride diminutive ponies of seemingly tireless energy, fitting the saddle as though born to it, go through maneuvers time after time, practicing field and goal shots and putting the ponies through their paces, training them for the season matches to come.

The above scene greeted the writer's eye one morning recently as he strode across the practice field to meet Godfrey Preece, senior member of the world-famous family team, composed of the elder Preece, Godfrey Preece, Jr., Terence Preece, and Arhtur Preece. This group, considered to be one of the most formidable teams in the country, will be seen often this season, both on the Phipps field and at Miami, playing their usual impressive game against some of the most formidable opponents.

Godfrey Preece, Sr., recently arrived from Europe where he took part in the autumn hunts with the Pychley hounds, celebrated hunters. Mr. Preece also made an extended trip to Ireland and France, where he secured a number of prime specimens of polo ponies to add to a string already obtained in Engaland, making up a total of 45 ponies and hunters now stabled in his quarters at Gulfstream.

Both he and his son, Stewart, are at the present time busily engaged supervising the training of a group of ponies to take part in the approaching cup tournament between England and America to be held in this country early next September.

Each morning finds them early on the field, hard at work, taking infinite pains to detect the slightest irregularities in the form and gait of the admirable specimens of ponies procured from Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico and the British Isles.

Terence Preece was considered by the Marquis of Cholmondeley, sponsor to the 1924 English international team, to be one of the greatest riders in America, and a player of outstanding ability. He is expected to arrive February 1 to make up the foursome.

Stewart Preece, who has played on most every prominent field in this country and abroad, praised highly the layout at Gulfstream, stating that in his estimation the group of playing fields and the natural surroundings which furnished such a beautiful background, could be duplicated no where else in the world.

One of the largest and most perfect assemblage of ponies ever brought together will be quartered at the Phipps stables with the arrival in the near future of groups belonging to well known participants, in the sport of gentlemen.

Winston and Raymond Guest, who were seen in play at the beginning of the season, will be seen off and on in the winter tournaments.

Laddy Sanford, captain of the Hurricane team, winner of the open championship of America in matches held last October, has also been seen in play at Phipps field earlier in the season and will remain here to participate in matches.

Arthur Preece, winner of a number of blue ribbons in the jumping classes of the Summer Horse Show held in St. Louis, will also add his strength to the Preece family team this season.

C. S. Lee of Kansas City is expected any day now with a stable of 12 ponies which will be used for match play.

Cameron Forbes of Boston, former governor of the Philippines, will also be down with 10 ponies and will make his winter residence at Gulfstream.

J. S. Phipps has arrived with eight ponies, H. C. Phipps has brought six and Howard Phipps will also add six to the already imposing array.

Harold Howard of Dayton, Ohio, will arrive February 1 bringing eight more to swell the total.

General Buckford and Capt. Connor of Ireland will lend their presence to polo activities and are expected February 1. They will participate in play and take part in the social activities both at Gulfstream and at Palm Beach.

Michael Phipps is expected most any day now, H. E. Talbot will arrive some time during the latter part of the month. Stuart Iglehart has taken a house at Gulfstream and is also expected any day.

A number of famous English sportsmen are also expected to make their headquarters at Gulfstream this season and will take part in play.

FLYING — AMPHIBIANS

RAVEL by air appears to be gaining in popularity at Palm Beach this season, especially where the use of air yachts and amphibian planes are concerned. The strategic location of the island resort, which possesses marvelous facilities for landing and taking off on the broad, sheltered waters of Lake Worth, coupled with the gigantic strides which have been made in air travel during the past few years, have been a deciding factor in leading many members of the winter colony to purchase their own air yachts for cruising up and down the coast.

A trip in one of the huge 10-passenger, twin-motored Sikorsky amphibian planes, will convince even the most skeptical that air travel is one of the most pleasant ways in which to get a proper perspective of the superb beauty of Palm Beach and the surrounding territory.

Stepping from the ramp into the cabin of one of the huge air yachts one gets the impression of descending into a submerged submarine so low does it set in the water.

The heavy glass windows are fastened down, and one by one the motors are cranked with the aid of an inertia starter which produces sufficient power to turn over the huge propeller, starting the motive power of the plane.

With a loud whining noise followed suddenly by a heavy roar the motors proceed to function and the plane starts out over the water.

Spray is thrown up in front of the huge craft and washing back along the gunnels obliterating the passenger's view for a short time. Suddenly the spray disappears and looking out of the window one finds that he is several feet over the water, rapidly soaring into space.

The immediate surroundings begin to diminish in appearance and the travellers view rapidly covers a wider territory. This is where the real enjoyment of the trip begins.

Far below, looking like a world in miniature, is one of the most beautiful scenes ever beheld by the eyes of man. Palm Beach becomes a veritable patchwork quilt of alternating green interspersed at frequent intervals by long narrow stretches of white sand. The Atlantic ocean and Lake Worth meeting through tiny man-made apertures at the north inlet and again farther south, present variegated hues of blues and green standing out in bold contrast against the white sand and the hosts of beautiful homes of all sizes thickly dotting the island.

Cruising along at the rate of 80 miles an hour one is given ample opportunity to gaze upon the amazing panorama stretched out before him, but it becomes impossible for one to drink it all in, so vast and unfathomable is the picture presented.

Suddenly the motors are cut down and the huge plane stands suspended in the sky for almost a minute. Then with a graceful movement the nose of the plane points downward and the descent begins. Faster and faster the plane descends with the ocean and land apparently coming up to meet it. When but a few feet above the surface of the water, the plane straightens out, picks up speed for just a moment and settles in the water like a huge bird. The motors again roar and the amphibian plane taxis over the water. Within a few feet from the sloping shore, the pilot lets down the wheels by simply pulling a lever and the craft creeps out of the water on to terra firma, and the delightful trip is over.

Added facilities for air travel at Palm Beach have been inaugurated this season by the enlargement of the Curtiss-Wright Marine base and the inauguration of a new marine base by the Roosevelt Flying Service. The Roosevelt service has also taken over the municipal flying field just west of town and has started regular flying service between Miami and Jacksonville.

Planes leave Miami daily, arriving at the local field at 3 o'clock each afternoon. After a brief stop to take on passengers the plane departs for Jacksonville arriving there at 6 o'clock.

Among those of the winter colony taking advantage of air travel recently were, Mrs. Victor Bendix and party, who made a short hop from Miami to Palm Beach, spending the day and returning to Miami late in the afternoon. Mr. Winfield Campbell, who is stopping at The Breakers, together with his party, also chartered a plane from the Curtiss-Wright Marine base and took an overland flight to Lake Wales.

The 1930 overall adds a few inches to the front of the 1929 model and becomes a perfect costume for sun-bathing. # AMONG THE PALMS

RINCE FRIEDRICH LEOPOLD of Prussia, nephew of the late Kaiserin Auguste Victoria of Germany, and related to nearly all of the royal houses of Europe, a cousin of King Boris III of Bulgaria, as well as Prince Cyril of Bulgaria, who visited Palm Beach last winter, occasioned quite a stir of interest upon his arrival at The Breakers. Accompanied by a party of friends, including Barron Cerrini of Lugano, Italy, where the Prince makes his home, Michael Ulam, president of the Chamber of Commerce of Poland, with Mrs. Ulam and their daughter, Miss Dorothy Marie Ulam; Madame Henri La Bourdette, wife of a noted French manufacturer; and Edouard La Roux of the Bank of Dreyfus of Paris, the Prince came over to New York aboard the Bremen, leaving shortly after for Palm Beach. He is a son of Princess Louise Sophie of Schleswig-Holstein, whose sister married the ci-devant German emperor. The present trip is entirely a pleasure jaunt and the Prince and his party spent a leisurely two weeks in the resort visiting The Breakers Casino, the Everglades Club, the Florida Embassy Club, the Bath and Tennis, the Restaurant Flamingo, the Patio Lamaze, also enjoying the wonderful golfing facilities, and sunbathing. The Palm Beach sun has shone and tropical showers have descended upon Prince Leopold and his party, and it is to be hoped that they are as enamored of the resort as others from the continent have been in times past. He expects to visit Havana and cruise through the Panama Canal to the other coast before returning to New York.

Mr. Michael Ulam paid just a short visit, returning to the Savoy Plaza in New York. President of the Chamber of Commerce of Lwon, Poland, he is closely affiliated with the chamber in Warsaw. A fluent linguist in Polish, French and German, Mr. Ulam speaks no English and is interpreted through his wife, a charming brunette of the French type.

Mr. and Mrs. Octavus Roy Cohen of Birmingham, Ala., are at the Breakers for a visit. He is joining the 1930 Artists and Writers golf tournament and is enjoying every minute of his Palm Beach vacation. Famed for his humorous short stories of dark-town life, and creator of "Florian Slappey," Mr. Cohen has successfully invaded the "talkie" field and is responsible for the priceless "Why Bring That Up" and a new comedy shortly to be seen "Marco Himself." Mr. Cohen had written over four hundred stories before he produced the first of his negro character studies, on which his fame is chiefly based. He sold it immediately to the Saturday Evening Post and his stories are still appearing in that publication, and are greatly anticipated by his countless admirers. His unusual given name, Octavus, is a family name, going back to England in the seventeenth century, and it is assumed that it was originally Octavius, for an eight son. It has been a lineal given name in his family for every generation since the founding of Charleston.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. McGregor of Detroit, are season guests at The Breakers, arriving shortly after the holidays. They have spent the past fifteen winters at this resort, with one exception, when they took a trip around the world. The McGregors have a lovely summer home at Murray Bay, a little below Quebec.

Another distinguished visitor at The Breakers the other day was former Attorney General Alexander Mitchell Palmer of Washington, who with Mrs. Palmer spent a few days in Palm Beach en route to their winter home in Miami Beach, at 4422 North Bay road. Alien property custodian during the war, Mr. Palmer later served as attorney general in the cabinet of President Wilson.

* * * *

General J. Ernest Smith of Wilmington has returned to Palm Beach and is at the Royal Poinciana for his annual all-season visit. His friends at this resort are legion, and all will accord him a warm welcome. General Smith is one of the founders and chairman of the executive committee of the Old Guard Society of Palm Beach Golfers, and donor of the J. Ernest Smith trophy. He plays a remarkable game of golf for a man seventy-nine years of age. Last year he played a round of eighteen holes at the Palm Beach Golf club, on his seventy-eighth birthday, turning in a score of one stroke for each year of his age.

* * * *

Early season guests at The Breakers included Mr. and Mrs. David Lincoln Luke of "Hawthorne," Tarrytown, N. Y., who were accompanied by their daughter, Miss Mary Luke, and son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. David Lincoln Luke, Jr. They spent a delightful two weeks here before returning north and plan to visit Palm Beach again later in the season. The younger members of the family are enthusiastic sun devotees and were seen daily at the casino. Mr. Luke, Sr., is a veteran golfer, and present holder of the Smith trophy, having annexed it as the winner of last year's tournament.

* * * *

The Countess Perdicaris of Florence, Italy, and New York city is a season guest at The Breakers, having accompanied her grandmother, Mrs. H. H. Hoffman of Cincinnati, to Palm Beach. The Countess visited this resort about ten years ago, and since that time has been wintering in Florence, where they have a beautiful villa. Count Perdicaris arrived shortly after his wife and is staying here for two weeks.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Studebaker Fish, Jr., are among the regular Palm Beach visitors returning to The Breakers for the season. They have with them their lovely children, Frederick III and Geraldine. During the summer months Mr. and Mrs. Fish and their family spent for the second time a delightful summer on a ranch in Wyoming. Mr. Fish, Sr., owner of the yacht "Boby Dick," was a holiday visitor in Palm Beach, later sailing for Nassau, where he is at the present time. He expects to return here shortly.

* * * *

Mrs. Baldwin Day Spilman of Warrenton, Va., is a well known visitor to the Florida East Coast, returning for her second season to The Breakers. Her daughter, Mrs. Paul D. Bowden, also of Warrenton accompanied her mother and will be joined shortly by her husband, the Reverend Bowden, for a stay of several weeks. Mrs. Spilman was an annual guest at the Royal Palm hotel at Miami since her childhood, and upon the closing of that famous hostelry, has joined several members of the Royal Palm group which are congregating every season at The Breakers.

ADJOINING THE EVERGLADES

Mr. Albert Brodhead of Bethlehem, Pa., has returned for his second season at The Breakers hotel. He is a member of the Royal Palm group now wintering in Palm Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Eben Ellison of Newton, Mass., are well known Palm Beach annual guests who are again at The Breakers for the winter. They made a short visit to Ormond before motoring on to this resort. According to their usual custom, they will divide their time between Palm Beach and Ormond. Mr. Ellison's brother, Mr. William Ellison, came down with them this year. Mrs. William M. Ferris, daughter of the Eben Ellisons, is expected to spend a few weeks here later on, as well as their sons, Mr. Eben Ellison, Jr., and Mr. William P. Ellison. Mrs. Ferris is the former Harriet Ellison, whose proficiency as a golfer has attracted considerable attention among the members of the island colony. Her marriage last June was an occasion of social importance. The Ellisons are summer visitors at Mt. Kineo on Moosehead Lake.

When the Royal Poinciana hotel swung its doors open last Wednesday for another season with Mr. Henry Ellsworth Bemis, vice president of the Florida East Coast Hotel company again as manager, it was after long months of labor which has accomplished many changes and improvements.

This favorite hostelry has undergone a number of interesting additions and improvements during the past summer. The huge dining room south of the smaller room in use last year has been entirely redecorated and will be reopened. Part of the central structure has been removed. The north wing has been remodeled and redecorated. It is connected with the central portion by a two-story pergola colonnade centered by a large circular conservatory filled with rare palms and tropical flowers and shrubbery. These changes were planned by Mr. Bemis and add immensely to the attractive appearance of the hotel, whose striking yellow exterior and snowy roof are pleasantly accented by the surrounding expanse of green lawns dotted with tall palms and spreading royal poinciana trees, and gay with bright leaved crotons, crimson hibiscus, pink oleanders and many brilliant tropical plants.

The exterior and interior of the hotel have been transformed with the additions of many flowering shrubs and this season offer accommodations for eight hundred guests.

Prominent members of the winter contingent arriving for their annual visit to this famous hostelry include the Honorable John W. Kephart, who is the Supreme Court Justice of Pennsylvania, with his family; Mr. and Mrs. William A. Brown of East Orange, N. J., Mr. and Mrs. William Wadsworth of New York city, General J. Ernest Smith of Wilmington, Delaware, who will be joined by his family shortly, Mr. and Mrs. George McGill of Ontario, Mr. and Mrs. William Seyfert of Reading, Pa., Mr. George Wright of Boston, prominent member of the Old Guard Society, Mr. and Mrs. C. Sidney Cook of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Reinhart of Chicago and family, Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Brown of New York city, Mrs. H. J. Weiss of New York city, Mr. George H. Keim of New York city, Mrs. Mary B. Plunkett of Greenwich, Conn., and her mother, Mrs. C. R. Sherrlock, Mrs. Jack Ellis, of Quincy, Ill., Mrs. W. Harry Brown and a party of friends from New York city, all of whom were arrivals during the first two days of the opening, and who will be in Palm Beach for the entire season.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert B. Dewey, Sr., of Chicago, were among the early January arrivals who have been identified with the Palm Beach winter colony for many seasons. They have again taken a suite at The Breakers for the winter. Shortly before beginning their southward journey, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey went to New York to meet their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dewey, who are spending short time in the United States, coming over from Poland where Mr. Dewey is financial advisor to the Polish government. Their younger son, Mr. Albert Dewey, Jr., with Mrs. Dewey, has taken a cottage this season and are an interesting addition to the winter colony.

* * * *

Miss Ann Rainey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Rainey of New York, has taken a maisonette apartment at the Everglades Club for the winter. Since her arrival in Palm Beach, Miss Rainey has become a leader among the younger set here, and does a great deal of entertaining. She is an unusually lovely girl of a decided athletic type. She excels in swimming and fancy diving and her proficiency on the tennis court is such that her friends are urging her to enter the amateur tournament, an important sport feature of the resort life.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Forester of New York are among the season guests at the Everglades Club. They are among Palm Beach's newlyweds, married just a few months ago. Mrs. Forester is a charming young matron, and is admired for the smartness of her costumes.

The Coconut Grove of the Royal Poinciana hotel, famed the world over for its ultra-fashionable setting and as the center of smart set activities, opened its official season Saturday afternoon, January 18, with one of the most brilliant guest lists in the history of this renowned resort.

From the first hour until the soft amber lighting effects were dimmed, society gathered for tea under the famous old coconut palms, which neither wind nor weather seem able to dim their beauty or mar their charm. European nobility hobnobbed with American celebrities with a gay banter of continual gossip. From the first greetings extended by Mr. Jack Hobby and Mr. C. J. Cunningham, who are again in charge of the grove, the afternoon was an unprecedented success.

Afternoon frocks typical of all that is modern and in exquisite taste furnished a gay splash of color to the alluring scene. The feminine touch was more apparent than ever in the chiffon and printed models that featured, for the greater part, the semi-silhouette mode.

The orchestra in the Grove this season has been supplemented by three additional pieces, Mr. Howard A. Lanin, having seen fit to augment his Poinciana organization with additional musicians.

Announcement has been made that the Garden Grill of the Poinciana will be used this season entirely for private parties. For the past several weeks decorators have been busily engaged in creating an entirely new atmosphere for this part of the famous hotel and the result will attain new heights for the entertainment plans as adopted for the season.

Fish palms, that for beauty are incomparable with other decorative plants of this specie, reach their leaves to the ceiling of the Grill. They are flanked by smaller palms to give a more cozy atmosphere and to harmonize with the plants that fill the center elevated flower stand, with a verdant growth of rich foliage. Wisteria grows in realistic fashion in a soft harmony of lavender and purple. Softly shaded lights are in singular harmony with the general motif.

The Palm Room this season, will be devoted to a private dancing school, where the modern terpsichore will be taught by one of the leading masters of the country.

January 19, marked the arrival of the Artists and Writers on their annual trek to Palm Beach to match their skill at golf. For the time being, paper, pencil, paints and pallets will be relegated to the past and Mr. Rex Beach will wield his mighty mid-iron in his yearly tilt with Mr. Clarence Buddington Kelland. Mr. Jefferson Machamer, having left Judge, Jr., in the north, will forget the cares of the popular character of Judge, for basking in the smiles of "Lady Luck" as he scores a birdie or eagle. Mr. John Golden and Mr. McClelland Barclay will again meet upon the field of honor to determine the champion of Palm Beach.

Mr. Leo C. Teller, veteran Broadway producer, and Mrs. Teller, were included among the first-day arrivals at the Royal Poinciana and are again occupying their usual suite. It will be remembered that Mr. Teller was the originator and manager of the internationally famous Weber & Fields music hall which functioned on Broadway from 1897 until 1907. Mrs. Teller was formerly Miss Ray Fields, sister of the, renown German comedian.

Under the management of Mr. Teller such stars of the footlight world as Lillian Russell, Fay Templeton, Weber & Fields, Pete Daily, Ross & Fenton, Sam Bernard and John T. Kelly were introduced to the patrons of the music hall, where have gathered in its time, princes and princesses, residents of Fifth avenue, and visitors to New York from the entire globe.

TASTES AND TOILETTES

T SEEMS but yesterday that a view of the dance floor at one of the popular clubs in Palm Beach revealed a vast expanse of silken clad ankles and knees, but at the waving of Fashion's wand all have vanished. Now yards and yards of diaphanous chiffons supple satins, sumptuous velvets and twinkling brocades brush the smoothly waxed wooden surface and the day of the long trailing skirt, which, according to the prophecies of only a few months ago, "women never would wear again", is again upon us.

A glance at the large throng at the opening of the Colony Club on January 15th, revealed a similarity of cut in women's gowns that brings them almost to the level of a uniform. All the gowns were marked by very low backs, very long and flowing skirts, restraint in ornamentation, tight bodices and some sort of definition of the waistline, perhaps a draped girdle or a very narrow tailored belt of the material, or a circlet of rhinestones that formed the only decoration of the gown. Flowers are worn at the shoulder in a pendant cluster, or in a half-wreath generally placed at the neckline in back, or as a garniture from waist to hip line well at the side. Almost no gloves as yet, but the extremely formal affairs of the season are still to come.

Not a short skirt nor a long train was seen on the many beautiful gowns on the open-air dance floor at the opening of the Colony Club, when Society gathered at the dinner dance marking the event. The craze for tight and very low bodices, and very long and flowing skirts has become so universal that it takes no great prophet to forecast some individual variation before the season is over. From flirting indiscriminately with knees and ankles, hemlines are now faithful to one's heels, according to present indications.

There seems to be no waning of the love for flowered chiffons, in spite of the prevalence of white satin for evening wear. Mrs. Gilbert H. Miller, formerly Miss Kathryn Bache, wore a long, flowing gown of figured chiffon in indeterminate colorings. Mrs. George Fenton chose a white chiffon with a design of dark blue leaves. Trailing draperies depended from the very low line of the corsage in back. Mrs. Allen G. Wellman wore a white chiffon, voluminous but not bouffant in line, with "angel" draperies at the back and a girdle caught by a splendid brooch. Miss Alice Delamar wore a white satin gown made in the prevailing mode. Mrs. John Emerson, better known as Anita Loos, wore a quaint gown of old-blue satin well suited to her unusual type.

Several white lapin coats were seen at the Colony Club opening, Miss Marion Gervais of The Breakers wearing one of three-quarter length. Owing to the startling effect of sea air on ermine, making each particular hair stand upright, lapin is largely replacing it for evening wear, and in short or three-quarter length the coats serve for sports wear as well.

Miss Ann Rainey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Rainey of New York, a season guest at the Everglades Club, has a most individual type of beauty. Tall and dark haired, her skin is a creamy olive tint that blends beautifully with the odd color combinations worn this season. She was noted at tea on The Breakers terrace the other day, wearing a chartreuse chiffon frock, printed in a small black leaf pattern. Molded tightly to the body, it flared into long circular drapes from a shirred hip-yoke. A lacy wide brimmed straw hat was pinned back from the face with a jade jeweled pin. Black satin slippers and long black gloves were interesting details.

* * * *

Miss Marion Gervais, another attractive member of the younger Palm Beach set and who is spending the season at The Breakers, appeared on the same day smartly costumed in a Patou sleeveless sport frock of melon pink satin stripe with a bais center panel, accented waistline and short sleeves. A becoming navy blue beret was pinned with a jeweled basket on the front.

* * * *

A newcomer to the winter colony, Mrs. Paul Forester at the Everglades Club is always smartly dressed and was seen on The Breakers boardwalk recently wearing a sleeveless sport frock of chartreuse, which featured a wide shawl collar, the skirt rippling with wide un-pressed pleats. A narrow belt of black patent leather, white narrow brimmed panama with a similar banding, and black and white slippers were finishing details.

* * * *

Mrs. Albert Dewey, Jr., a popular young matron who has this season joined the island cottage colony, attracted a great deal of attention the other day when she appeared in a sleeveless oyster white frock of shantung, patterned with a molded silhouette and low applied fullness. An unusual note was a triangular black and white turban wrapped around her head and tied with a bow at the side, black and white slippers and matching envelope bag.

* * * *

Mrs. Paul D. Case, of Pelham Manor, N. Y., and a guest at Whitehall, wears a smart coat for daytime wear, of willow green homespun, made full length, with raglan sleeves and a narrow attached silk scarf. A matching green felt hat with a soft down-turned brim, was banded with white patent leather.

* * * *

Always attractively costumed, Mrs. John W. Greene of The Breakers was noted on the boardwalk the other day wearing a sleeveless frock of delft blue, the blouse formed of a series of narrow tucks and worn with a deeply pleated skirt. A becoming hat of blue bankok slightly drooped at the sides.

* * * *

Mrs. Vincent Scullin of "Casa Del Victoria" on Sea Spray avenue wears to distinct advantage an imported frock of deep rose silk, featuring unusually wide sleeves, flaring from the elbow and incrustated with tiny triangles of white felt. A "vagabond" model felt hat of matching hue and moire slippers were accessories.

* * * *

Mrs. Benjamin F. Hopkins of Golf View road is partial to blue and was seen in a heavenly shade silk crepe sport dress, with the new short waistline which she wears so well, the skirt flaring into circular fullness well below the knees. A blue bankok hat of matching shade and blue crepe slippers daintily embroidered in a darker shade of blue were worn, similar motif being used for her silk envelope bag.

* * * *

Miss Nancy Yuille, who is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Barry Ryan, Jr., elects to spend much of her time on Sunnylinks, the miniature golf course near the Ambassador, where she was noted wearing a sleeveless knitted golf suit in zigzag design with a tiny vestee under the blouse. Miss Yuille also favors the very short golf socks.

* * * *

Miss Pauline Munn is also a devotee of golf, both the miniature and the royal game. She wears a wide striped sleeveless sweater and a gored skirt permitting freedom of motion. Her golf shoes are oxfords in the popular combination of brown kid and white buck, with solid leather heels, and she wears a hat with a brim.

There seems to be on end to the vogue for the little tuck-in blouses worn with separate skirts. Miss Alice McCulloch wears one in manish design, with a wrap-around skirt that has a hip yoke buttoned at the side.

* * * *

Mrs. Louis F. S. Bader of Boston, who has a lovely home in the South Ocean boulevard, wears a sleeveless white silk frock with bands on the bodice that continue into box-pleats on the skirt. A convenient slit pocket buttons through on the hip and a buckled belt encircles the natural waistline. The square neck, now coming so much into favor, distinguishes this simple and smart frock.

* * * *

Miss Gladys Amory is of the slender type that wears a sweater extremely well, and she delights in skirts pleated all round. In such a costume she is often seen on the golf courses of the resort, one extremely good-looking ensemble being composed of a turtle-neck sweater with a brilliant Indian design across the front, belted at the waistline, worn with a pleated skirt.

Enchanting as a tropical night is the one-piece blue-gray chiffon pajama, shirred to the figure by a cord at the natural waistline and worn with a flowered silk coat and a floating blue-gray scarf; from Jay-Thorpe.

PALM BEACH CLUB ACTIVITIES

UCH interest has been evinced in the beautiful Florida Embassy Club, newest of the interesting places where society at Palm Beach may pass enjoyable evenings amid enchanting surroundings, and may dance the night away if desired and remain for bacon and eggs in the morning. The Florida Embassy Club is a social organization and has one of the most beautiful clubhouses of the resort. Built in Spanish Colonial style and designed by Addison Mizner, the large central hall and tower is flanked by a lounge and breakfast room on the south, spacious kitchens on the east and on the western side, facing the lake a beautiful patio and cloister centered by a dance floor. Colored lights peep out from among old Spanish tiles of the roof and flood the patio beneath. Roses, bougainvillea and flame vine decorate the pillars and four tall coconut palms at the corners of the patio strike an authentic tropical note.

The club will be open for members and their guests every evening for dinner, supper and dancing in the patio, with breakfast served in the early morning hours in the unique Spanish grille, where white-capped chefs stand before the tiled and hooded range preparing delicacies to order.

The membership of the Florida Embassy Club contains many socially prominent names and includes members of both the hotel and cottage colonies. The executive committee includes the Hon. James Francis Burke, Messrs. John Emerson, John K. Felt, Warner L. Jones, Addison Mizner, Lucius P. Ordway, Arthur Somers Roche, Horace H. Work and Ralph Beaver Strassburger. Miss Mae E. Andrews is executive secretary and Mr. Foster R. Rozar, managing director.

The formal opening of the club will not take place until January 25th, when most of the members will have arrived from the north, but meanwhile many interesting parties have danced and dined in the spacious patio. Among those who have entertained recently at the Florida Embassy Club are: Mr. Charles A. Munn, in whose party were Mrs. Joshua Cosden, who has returned for a few weeks at Palm Beach as a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Boardman, Miss Pauline Munn, Miss Katherine Hare, Miss Ahxe Devereaux, Rodman Wanamaker II, Anthony J. Drexel, and many others. Joseph Harriman has been host at the club for Mrs. James Forrestal, Mrs. Baldwin Preston, Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Ralph H. Isham. Miss Muriel McCormick entertained a dinner party of forty at the club and Miss Alice Delamar was hostess to a group. Mr. Morris Wood of the Everglades Club, and his house guests came over for tea on the terrace. Mr. and Mrs. Lucius P. Ordway entertained at a dinner for Miss Sarah Jane Sanford. Prince Friedrich Leopold of Prussia and members of his party visited the Florida Embassy Club for dinner and dancing.

Vincent Lopez, internationally known interpreter of modern rhythms, personally directed his orchestra at the first of the semi-weekly dinner dances of the season given on Thursday evening, January 16, in the famous Orange Gardens of the club.

Mr. Lopez and his orchestra have been playing at the St. Regis club, in which A. J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., one of the vice presidents of the Everglades Club, is actively interested. Among prominent members of the Everglades Club who entertained large parties at the first Thursday dinner-dance were Prince Friedrich Leopold of Prussia, Mr. and Mrs. Charlton Yarnall, Mr. and Mrs. Paris E. Singer, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Forester, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Cowell, Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Diebold, Mr. Frederick Proctor, Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Zuver, Miss Ann Kamey, Mrs. J. B. Warden, Mrs. C. I. Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar F. Williams, Mrs. Dale Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth G. Smith, Mr. Bror G. Dahlberg.

The opening of the Colony Club on Wednesday, January 15th, was a welcome addition to the night life of the colony. All last season this popular open-air rendezvous was a center of attraction for sojourners at Palm Beach and many important gatherings were held there. That this season it will still retain its popularity was shown at the informal opening, when many large parties gathered at the tables out in the open and danced under the light of a big tropic moon that might have been ordered especially for the occasion.

Several attractive entertainment features have been arranged by Mr. Arthur C. Hand, president of the Colony Club, and the attending throng danced gaily to the music of Ernie Holst's orchestra, and listened with keen enjoyment to the delightful singing of Miss Ann Greenway and the inimitable crooning of Danny Higgins over his wee piano. A singing trio wandered like troubadours among the tables and serenaded the guests during the evening.

The pleasant social activities for which the Everglades Club is noted center in the Orange Gardens, where the semi-weekly dinner dances and daily tea-dances are held throughout the season. The first of the regular dinner dances was given on Thursday, January 16th and a representative group of members of the club and their guests gathered to enjoy an evening of dancing in the open air. There is an imperishable thrill about out-of-door dancing and dining under the tall royal palms and glossy-leaved orange trees of the Orange Gardens that never wanes but is enjoyed season after season with the same delight. The first dance of the season is awaited with keen anticipation and the last gathering still calls out an enthusiastic crowd.

The music at the club this year is especially dance-provoking, for a Vincent Lopez orchestra from the St. Regis has been engaged for the season. The St. Regis Club, of which "Tony" Biddle is president, has an extremely smart roster, many of the members of the Everglades Club being included in the list, and the same peppy strains that floated over the roofs of New York in the small hours now resound under the palms in the Orange Gardens.

The date of the club's annual fancy dress ball has been fixed by the board of governors for Thursday, March 6th, and it is no idle prophecy to say that the apex of social activities this season will outreach those of former years, for interest never wanes in the Everglades Club costume ball.

Officers of the Everglades Club for 1930 are practically the same as last year with a few additions. Mr. Paris E. Singer, founder of the club, is president. The vice presidents are Mr. A. J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., Mr. Thomas L. Chadbourne and Mr. Lewis Quentin Jones; Mr. Paris Graham Singer is social secretary, and Mr. Alexander W. MacDougall, treasurer.

The board of governors consists of the president, vice presidents and social secretary, also Messrs. Earle P. Charlton, Francis P. Fleming, Harris Hammond, John Harris, Edward F. Hutton, Franklyn L. Hutton, L. Quentin Jones, Alfred G. Kay, Willey L. Kingsley, George A. McKinnock, Charles Munn, Gurnee Munn, John M. L. Rutherford, Horton C. Rorick, Edward T. Stotesbury, Ralph Beaver Strassburger and William Waller, Jr.

The president heads the Committee on Admissions which also includes Messrs. Biddle, Charlton, Gurnee Munn, Edward Hutton, Jones, Kay, Kingsley, Rutherford, Waller and Paris Graham Singer.

Those on the executive committee are Mr. Paris E. Singer and Messrs. Biddle, Jones, Rorick, MacDougall and Mr. Paris Graham Singer.

* * * *

Prince Leopold of Prussia, who has been elected an honorary subscriber, visited the club with Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Ulam and Baron Cerrini. Mrs. John B. Warden and her guest, Mrs. Earle E. Carly of New York, arrived to occupy a maisonette for the season.

* * * *

Although formal entertaining at the club did not begin until January 16th, with the arrival of the orchestra, many small dinners and teas have enlivened the past fortnight.

* * * *

Among the many entertainments given in honor of Prince Friedrich Leopold of Prussia, an honorary subscriber of the club, and his party, was a luncheon at the Everglades Club with Mrs. Alexander McKay as hostess. Others noted in the spacious dining room were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Smith, who came over from their cottage on Via del Mar.

* * * *

Mr. Frederick Johnson entertained his family, including Mrs. Robert Gardner, Miss Marion Gardner, and Miss Antoinette Johnson, at dinner. Mrs. Albert Henry Diebold had several guests for tea at the Everglades.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Paris E. Singer were hosts at lunch in the Everglades Club to Mr. Addison Mizner and his house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Dixwell Hewitt of San Francisco and Mr. Paris Graham Singer. Others at the club included Mrs. C. I. Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank I. Cheek and Mrs. Alexander McKay.

COTTAGE COLONY SOCIETY LIFE

TRIBE of gypsies descended on Palm Beach last week, pitching their tents in the village square and serenading the villagers with a program of delightful melodies. The Romany chorus which made its debut was organized last year by the resourceful and talented Mrs. George A. Dobyne, who is noted for her novel entertainments. Phipps Plaza, which became the scene of a gay gypsy encampment through the courtesy of the Hon. Mrs. Frederick E. Guest, was transformed from a gathering place of the ultra-sophisticated to a rendezvous of romantic wanderers, clad in the riotously colored costumes of their race, bedecked with jewels, and bringing the abandon, the joyousness and the mystery of their kind to the resort residents, who congregated from Palm Beach to hear their songs.

Grouped around the gorgeously hued tents, exact replicas of those used by a real gypsy tribe in New England, swaying over their camp fire, they rendered gypsy melodies from every land. Strange Hungarian pieces, and English songs that had never been heard in this country before were included as well as several familiar selections.

The entire group consisted of 35 young singers who have received the encouragement and aid of Mr. John Charles Thomas. The chorus, formed last year, was heard on moonlight nights serenading in the streets. This year the interest in their work had increased to such an extent that it was decided to invite the audience to meet them in a public square, and a large number of music lovers it was who appeared to hear their first presentation.

Mr. Thomas and Mr. B. Gagliano of the Metropolitan Opera received high praise and warm gratitude from the winter group who deeply appreciated their contribution to the resort's attractions. Mr. Thomas was greatly pleased with the reception his Romanies were accorded, and with the splendid work of the singers themselves. He feels now that the town would give hearty support to an operatic company and not only that, but that the Palm Beaches have the material to present opera in something better than an amateur fashion.

Among the many winter residents who summered abroad are Mr. and Mrs. Horace Hutchins Work of Madison, N. J., who recently returned to open "El Cabana," their home on the South Ocean boulevard. Their two children, Alice Patricia and Harley Frederick, are with them, besides a houseguest, Mrs. Charles Nichols of Morristown, N. J. While Mr. and Mrs. Work were traveling in Europe this summer their son and daughter remained at Easthampton, L. I.

One of society's prominent matrons arrived in Palm Beach during the past fortnight, when Mrs. Irving Hall Chase of "Rose Hill," Waterbury, Conn., and "Miramar," Narragansett Pier, R. I., opened her winter home "El Palmar," 376 Ocean boulevard at the corner of Chilian avenue. The early part of last summer Mrs. Chase spent in England, where her daughter, Miss Dorothy, was presented at the Court of St. James. Among guests who are expected later in the season at "El Palmar" is Captain Charles Kellogg, U. S. N., a brother of Mrs. Chase, whose northern home is "Snug Harbor," at Waterbury. Mrs. Chase belongs to the Bath and Tennis and the Everglades Clubs and has many friends among both the hotel and cottage colonies.

A marriage of great interest to society was that of Mrs. Jessie Hood Bassett of Jackson, Mich., and Mr. Frank A. Shaughnessy, president of the First National Bank in Palm Beach, two most popular residents who have the happiest wishes of the cottage colony.

The simple service was performed at the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Wiley R. Reynolds, before members of the immediate families only. Witnessing the ceremony in the patio of "La Solano" were Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds, Wiley Richard, Jr., and Annette Hood Reynolds and Harry Hood and Marie Antoinette Bassett. Mr. Shaughnessy and his bride, who wore a becoming costume of royal blue with shoes and hat to match, departed by motor for Jacksonville after their wedding. Later they went to Asheville for a few days and then proceeded to New York. On their return they will reside at their home on Clarke avenue.

Mrs. Shaughnessy has spent her winters in Palm Beach for the past twelve years. She is a member of the Bath and Tennis and the Everglades Clubs.

Mr. Shaughnessy, who is well known and beloved by nearly every member of the community, organized the First National Bank in Palm Beach in 1927 under the auspices of the Central Hanover Bank and Trust Co. and the National City Bank of New York city. He was at one time a member of the advertising firm of W. A. Shaughnessy and Co. Besides being a member of many representative clubs he is an official of the Palm Beach Chamber of Commerce, the Memorial Fountain Commission, the Sailfish Club of Florida, Oasis Club and Palm Beach Press Club.

* * * *

The ever-increasing cottage colony has recently been augmented by the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Messmore Kendall of Dobbs Ferry. Mr. Kendall's mother, Mrs. Florence H. Kendall, came down a few days before the rest of the family and opened up the house on Golf View road which they have taken for the season. With them is Miss Florence Kendall. Last year they stayed at the Everglades Club. They also belong to the Oasis, and the Bath and Tennis Clubs. During the summer they took a trip to California, but have not lost their allegiance to Palm Beach, which seems to be more alluring than ever.

* * * *

A warm welcome indeed was accorded Mr. and Mrs. John Emerson, who returned to their home, 209 Sea Spray avenue recently, accompanied by Mr. Cecil Beaton, well-known British artist. Mr. and Mrs. Emerson came by train from California to Jacksonville and motored from there to Palm Beach. Mrs. Emerson, who is known in the literary world as Anita Loos, claims she is here for complete enjoyment of the resort and does not intend to do any work. She and Mr. Beaton were noted among the group of bathers who frequent Sea Spray beach the day following their arrival. The artist is familiar to many here, as he was at the Everglades Club for a short stay last year, during which time many of his paintings and unusual photographs were exhibited.

The boxing bouts at the Legion Arenas have given rise to many late buffet suppers, since the fistic battles play havoc with the dinner hour and one of the most delightful of these gatherings was held last week at the home of Mrs. Harvey Wallace Shaffer, 220 Clark avenue. This charming hostess received many guests in the patio during the evening, including: Mr. and Mrs. Quentin F. Feitner, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney J. Legendre, Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Amory, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Carnegie Phipps, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Fell, Mr. and Mrs. Lucius P. Ordway, the Hon. Charles A. Winn and Mrs. Winn, Mr. and Mrs. Milton W. Holden, Mr. and Mrs. Warner L. Jones, Mrs. Dodge Sloane, Miss Sarah Jane Sanford, Mrs. James B. Forrestal, Mrs. Baldwin Preston, Mr. Rodman Wanamaker II, Mr. Joseph Harriman, Mr. Alfred O. Hoyt, Mr. Gurnee Munn, Mr. Charles A. Munn, Mr. Stephen Sanford and Mr. R. H. Williams. After the repast, cards were enjoyed.

The cottage colony this year welcomes Mrs. W. Barklie Henry of Rosemont, Pa., and her daughter, Miss Gertrude L. P. Conaway, who have taken a house at 168 Sea Spray avenue. They have been coming to Palm Beach for several seasons and have many friends among the resort patrons, but this is the first winter that they have joined the cottage group. Earlier this month Miss Conaway was a guest of Miss Barbara Phipps at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Carnegie Phipps. Also at "Heamaw" on the North Ocean boulevard was Miss Ruth Pruyn, who has since returned to New York. Miss Pruyn is the fiancée of Mr. Ogden Phipps and the two were seen playing tennis together almost daily. The young Misses Sonia and Audrey Phipps are becoming golf devotees and often go around on the miniature Sunnylinks. Their elder sister, Miss Barbara Phipps is a recent debutante, having been the guest of honor at a dance given in Roslyn Manor, L. I., by her aunt and uncle, Capt. the Hon. and Mrs. Frederick E. Guest.

Members of the Society of Arts will be interested to hear of a change in the plans for the concerts, as announced in last week's issue of Life. Since the schedule of concerts was published word has been received from Myra Hess, the distinguished English pianist who was to appear in the third of the series, on February 17th, that owing to the illness of her mother, she is forced to cancel her early engagements in America and return to England. Her place in the series has been filled by George Copeland, an outstanding interpreter of modern compositions for the piano. Mr. Copeland was among the first to appreciate the individualistic genius of composers like Ravel, Debussy and Granados and to introduce their works to American audiences. His programs are most unusual for he has had the courage to throw aside the orthodox program hallowed by tradition and to acquaint the public with music other pianists had failed to recognize as brilliant and beautiful. He gives strength without brutality to the music of Debussy and the Spanish school.

Sharing the program with Mr. Copeland is Josephine Lucchese, a young coloratura soprano, who is known here and abroad as the "American nightingale." Possessed of rare beauty and charm and a phenomenal voice, she is one of those rarely gifted singers who delight her hearers with simple songs as well as thrill them with great arias. Lucchese will sing with John Charles Thomas this spring in the Philadelphia Opera, appearing as Gilda in "Rigoletto," one of her most successful roles, both from her great personal beauty of the true Italian type and for her gloriously flexible voice.

The third concert will be given at the Everglades Club, following the precedent of last year, and will be for members of the Society of Arts and their guests only. These concerts were among the most delightful social and artistic functions of last season, and were followed by a supper and dancing in the Orange Gardens.

The entire series of the Society of Arts includes also two public concerts by the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, Dr. Henri Verbrugghen, director, at the Paramount Theatre on the evenings of February 3rd and 10th, at the first of which Nina Morgana, soprano, will be soloist. Copeland and Lucchese will appear on February 17th, as announced. John Charles Thomas, internationally famous baritone, will appear in recital at the fourth concert, on February 24th, and Efrem Zimbalist, violinist, will be soloist in the final concert on March 3rd, others on the program being a Russian trio including Nina Koshetz, soprano, Gabriel Leonoff, tenor and Vladimir Dubinsky, baritone.

Typical of the magnificence of many Palm Beach homes is this beautiful interior in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer L. Schiff of New York and Palm Beach. The ornate ceiling and exquisitely carved fireplace are points of architectural interest in the finely proportioned room.

SPORTS IN PALM BEACH

GOLF is king. All up and down the East Coast tournaments are in progress and the golfer is in his element, lured throughout the June-like winter days by perfect courses, palm-fringed fairways and velvet green lawns. The ending of the National Amateur Championship of Golf Club Champions, with the Walter J. Travis Memorial Trophy as the high prize, which was fought out last week on the St. Augustine golf links, where Johnny Farrell is the professional, was followed yesterday by the starting of two tourneys in Palm Beach. The nineteenth annual Lake Worth meet got under way at the Palm Beach Golf Club, while the Artists and Writers Golf Association started their annual play at the Palm Beach Country Club.

A mixed putting competition was fought out last Tuesday at the Ormond Beach Golf Club, and today the gold medal qualifying score of the Halifax Tournament is being played. This event continues through to the 25th, with prizes for winners and runners-up in each division and in consolation.

At the Miami Country Club last week the Midwinter Amateur Championship was the bone of contention, and commencing yesterday golfers from far and near started their tussle for the Glenn H. Curtis trophy at the Miami Municipal links. Next Monday the La Gorce-Bay Shore Club Championship will be the feature at the La Gorce Country Club.

First contenders in the Lake Worth tourney got away promptly at eight o'clock yesterday morning at the Palm Beach Golf Club. From the time the entry list was posted last Tuesday in the club-house, names were added with remarkable celerity, proving the popularity both of this classic event and of the Breakers-Poinciana course. The first names to be entered were those of Albert R. Hakes, Ora L. Brailey, Thomas Goodwin and Howard A. Kelly.

Yesterday's qualifying round was eighteen holes medal play, one of the rules being the necessity of holing all putts. Stymies will be played throughout the meet. This is made possible this year for the first time, as in previous years the greens have been of sand, while during the past summer they were all turfed. The last of the matches got away before noon, players choosing their own partners and selecting from available starting time.

Eighteen hole match play continues today, tomorrow and Thursday, with the championship division playing thirty-six holes on Friday.

No three or four ball matches will be allowed to leave the first tee in front of the tournament. All ties, except for the qualifying round, are to be drawn at the club house.

Each day's match-play schedule is being posted at The Breakers and the Royal Poinciana and also at the club house. Prizes are a gold medal watch fob to the winner of the qualifying round, with sterling prizes to winners and runners up in each division, and to the winners of the first division consolation.

Arthur Yates of Rochester, N. Y., winner of last year's tourney, is this year's favorite. A week ago yesterday he established a record for the new course of the Palm Beach Golf Club, when, in his first round of the season, which also was his first game in over three months, he turned in a score of 72. Par for the round is 69. Mr. Yates' partner was E. Thompson Starr of Buck Hill Falls, Pa., their opponents being Charles H. Keyes, also of Buck Hill Falls, and Johnny Flattery of the Siwanoy Country Club.

In addition to winning the Lake Worth title last year, Mr. Yates added to his season's laurels by walking off with the Palm Beach championship and also the Cuban amateur.

Another entrant is M. A. Carroll of Oshkosh, Wis., a member of the Old Guard Society of Palm Beach Golfers, who has played in fifteen previous Lake Worth tournaments.

The special train bringing the members of the Artists and Writers Golf Association to Palm Beach for their third annual tournament, which commenced yesterday morning at the Palm Beach Country Club, left Pennsylvania Station, New York city, at 8:35 on Friday night, and arrived here on Sunday morning, when it was shunted onto the siding at the Royal Poinciana, at which hotel the association's members will make their headquarters while here, and where the much-anticipated annual banquet will be held on Friday. Grantland Rice is president of the association, Rex Beach, vice-president, and Clair Maxwell, secretary-treasurer.

Octavus Roy Cohen was one of the first members to arrive, coming down from his home in Birmingham, Ala., and going to The Breakers, where he joined his wife, who had preceeded him by several days. Mr. and Mrs. Cohen stayed at The Breakers until the Royal Poinciana opened last Wednesday, when they moved over to the massive lake-front hotel. The famous author of negro character stories is a charter member of the Artists and Writers, but this will be his initial appearance at the annual tournament.

Among members of the association whose plans included entry in this week's tournament are Sidney Smith, Phil Dunning, George Abbott, Ray Hubbell, John Golden, McClelland Barclay, F. W. Hume, Arthur Somers Roche, John G. Kolb, Charles V. McAdam, Rube Goldberg, H. T. Webster, Jimmy Powers, C. C. Beall.

Also Jefferson Machamer, Fontaine Fox, J. B. McKenzie, John LaGatta, Ray McCarthy, Henry E. Maule, Edgar F. Wittmack, W. L. Chenery, J. Redding Kelly, F. Newlin Price, Hal Marchbanks, Rex Beach, Gilbert Buddington Kelland, T. Kajiwarra, A. Abbott, Grantland Rice, Clarence Tompkins, Duncan Steward, George W. Schepp, Arthur McKeogh and C. J. McCarthy.

Every day during the past week the course of the Palm Beach Country Club has been thronged with players from morning until night, testifying to the high regard in which the newly-designed links are held by golf devotees. The regulars turn up day after day, but also each day brings an ever-increasing crowd of newcomers.

Among those most frequently seen are C. J. Claudon, Howard Kelly, Elmer Jordan, Earle E. Liederman, Peter Doelger, Horatio Pemberton, Leon Hartman, Allen Westmore, Mr. and Mrs. Loring Q. White, Dr. Edward T. Martin, Dr. Frank Aydelotte, Henry Scherer, C. H. Perkins, B. H. Cooke, William McNeill, R. D. McEwan, W. G. McKechney, Fred Poor, Mrs. Nettie Livermore, Miss Pauline Munn, John Sanford, D. A. Hawley, C. W. Blossom, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph K. Strassman.

Others are Mrs. Paul Benhoff, George McGuire, R. J. O'Brien, the Honorable Charles Winn and Mrs. Winn, Charles A. Munn, Talbot Watson, Russell Hayes, William Peterson, General J. Ernest Smith, William B. Langford, Thomas Goodwin, Dr. Charles Temple and Miss Ruth Denison.

The Everglades Club golf course has also catered daily to an unusually large number of players, to most of whom a round at the south-end course is as much a part of their daily life as is their morning cafe au lait. Among those seen recently are Mr. and Mrs. Charlton Yarnall, Miss Agnes Yarnall, Clarence Hall, Charles A. Klotz, Bernard H. Kroger, Nathan D. Bill, Frank Vernon Skiff, R. H. White, R. F. Allyne, George D. Forbes, W. H. McGregor, A. H. Hepburn, C. Hobbs, Theodore W. Little, Osborne Howes.

Others were Prince Friedrich Leopold of Prussia, Mrs. W. Seward Webb, Mrs. W. A. M. Burden, W. M. Burden, B. Jurden, J. Terry West, Edgar F. Luckenbach, F. W. Ford, Ora L. Brailey, Blaine Zuver, D. Provan, Mr. and Mrs. Willy Lyon Kingsley, Dr. Charles Morrison, Jr., Frederick Foster Carey, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Chadbourne, Louis F. Stanton Bader, Richard Cornell, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Forrester, Mme. Michel Ulam, Mrs. Henry G. Barkhausen and Herbert Farrell.

At a recent meeting of the Old Guard Society of Palm Beach Golfers held in the club house at the Palm Beach Golf Club, a number of new associate members were elected, including Charles M. Hall of the Tam o' Shanter Golf Club of Detroit, Mich., William McNeill of the Manufacturers Country Club, Philadelphia, Pa., William E. Wark of the Whitmarsh Valley Country Club, Philadelphia, Pa., and William E. Maxwell of the Glen Echo Golf Club, St. Louis, Mo.

The following were transferred from associate to active membership: Ora L. Brailey of Toledo, Ohio; Henry E. Candler of Grosse Point, Mich.; John W. Demarest of Roslyn, L. I.; Ben F. Hopkins of Cleveland, Ohio; John W. Kephardt of Ebensburg, Pa.; Edward F. Seagram of Waterloo, Ont., and Benjamin L. Winchell of New York.

A large number of members of the Old Guard is now in Palm Beach, looking forward to their two annual tournaments scheduled for February, and the annual dinner, which is to be held at The Breakers on February 18.

The Old Guard's annual handicap golf tourney, a feature of the Palm Beach season for more than a decade, will probably be the first of the two events to be decided, with the club championship title and the historic General J. Ernest Smith trophy as the goals. It will be fought out on the links of the Palm Beach Golf Club as in previous years.

The present club champion is David L. Luke of New York city, who won the honor in last season's hotly-contested match. The Smith trophy is now in safe-keeping in the vaults of the First National Bank in Palm Beach, but it will probably be placed on display within a few days, either at the club house or some central point. Details of the second contest, which will be held on the course of the Palm Beach Country Club, will be announced within a few days.

This will be the first season that the yearly banquet of the society will be held at The Breakers. For the past four years it has taken place at Whitehall, and previous to that at the Palm Beach Country Club. The first dinner eleven years ago was held at the Royal Poinciana, with covers set for sixty. Last year 220 members and their guests were in attendance. As usual, the dinner will be a stag affair, with many prominent speakers and professional entertainers on the program.

During the past year the society has lost five of its members through death. They are Abraham F. Huston, who died last week, Charles Kaye, whose death occurred here shortly after his arrival from the North, Harry D. Reese, F. R. Hoyt and Almon P. Judd.

MINIATURE GOLF

Developed from a retrograde form of croquet to a highly scientific game having decidedly beneficial effects on the golfer's putting, miniature golf has been taken up in earnest, and the boy's championship tournament fought out last week at the Memorial Fountain course, was as tense a spectacle during the finals as any grown-up's meet on the regular links.

Failure to make good his short putts in the match cost David Legget, son of Mrs. Catherine Legget Black of 120 Sea Breeze avenue, the title. The winner was Henry Allen Weatherby, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Allen Weatherby of 213 Peruvian avenue, who on the twenty-second hole, which he made in one, settled down to the deadly swing of a veteran campaigner, playing a faultless game thereafter.

Weatherby's playing had been decidedly sketchy up to this time, and the end of the first eighteen found him with a fifty-five, against Legget's and Devereux Deakin's fifty-one. At the commencement of the second eighteen odds were all in favor of Legget, whose long putts were the sensation of the round, remaining so until the end, even if he came off only second best.

But when Weatherby landed a one on the twenty-second hole, he took heart and from then on there was no beating him down. For the remaining holes he turned in two after two until the thirty-sixth, where he made a three. Of the last eighteen he won three, halved thirteen and lost two. His score was thirty-nine, four below par and fifteen below the number of strokes he took on the first round, which gives some idea of the excellent recovery he made on the second round.

The exhibition put up by Devereux Deakin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Deakin of Sea Breeze avenue, was a display of consistently good, steady golf. The youngster seems devoid of nerves, and at no time appeared conscious of the gallery, which has been known to have a disastrous effect even on old stagers. His final score of fifty-one and fifty-two, total 103, was only one stroke behind Legget's.

Final scores were Weatherby 94, Leggett 102, Deakin 103. Par is 86.

The contest really started on the twenty-second hole, when Legget blew up, going out of bounds and missing several short putts for a seven. When Weatherby did this hole in one, he seemed to take it as a personal signal from St. Andrew, patron saint of golfers, and immediately commenced playing in earnest. Deakin missed a long putt for a four.

On the twenty-third Legget still displayed some nervousness. On the twenty-fourth Weatherby made a perfect approach for an easy two. Deakin missed a long putt for a three while Legget came across with a two by making good a medium putt. On the next hole Weatherby's form began to tell, although all three turned in two's, as they did on the twenty-sixth also. Weatherby took the twenty-seventh with a two, the other two boys each taking threes.

On the twenty-eighth Legget's first shot hit the cup squarely, but bounced out, teetering on the edge with every appearance of dropping back in, but failing to do so. Deakin went out of bounds for a four, but Weatherby came through with his customary two.

Deakin took a one on the thirty-first; Legget made a one during the first round, so Deakin's feat evened up the three boys so far as holes-in-one were concerned. On the thirty-second the latter seemed to slip a little, as he missed two easy putts for a four, the other boys halving it with twos. On the thirty-third both Legget and Deakin missed easy putts, while on the next the former again displayed his ability at long putting.

On the next to the last hole Weatherby pushed a hundred foot putt to within a couple of inches of the cup for his habitual two. The last hole was marked by Deakin again going out of bounds for a four, the hole going to Legget with a two, Weatherby turning in a three for a change.

Presentation of silver trophies to the three boys followed the conclusion of the tournament. The first prize cup was donated by the management of the course, while the second and third prizes were the gift of Mrs. Black.

TENNIS

Tennis is in full tilt at the Palm Beach Tennis Club on the Poinciana grounds, the Everglades Club, the Bath and Tennis Club and the many private courts, with the first of the local tournaments, the Championship of Florida, Women's singles and doubles, to be argued at the Palm Beach Tennis Club the week commencing Feb. 24, followed by the Championship of Florida, men's single and doubles, the week of March 3, and the Southern Professional Championship the week of March 11, at the same club. There will also be some tournaments at the other two clubs, but neither details nor dates have yet been announced. The Ormond Beach Championship, men's singles and doubles, gets under way tomorrow at the Ormond Beach Tennis Club.

The introduction of the new tennis briefs, the latest in court toggery, was the high note of last week's play at the Palm Beach Tennis Club. Pioneered by Princess Jean Louis de Faucigny Lucinge and Mrs. John C. O. Marriott, they consist of sleeveless tennis shirts with shorts of a corresponding color, rolled socks and sneakers.

Among others seen at the tennis club during the past few days are Miss Anne Rainey, Peter Ordway, John S. Millen, James Neville and Miss Gloria Baker.

WITH the opening of the New Colonial Hotel on January 6th, under the management of Mr. C. W. Wannop of the Grand Union at Saratoga Springs, the social season at Nassau is officially on. This beautiful and colorful structure of coral rock washed with terra cotta, with touches of sea green and its iron grill work of indigo blue, sits in a magnificent tropical garden overlooking the sapphire and turquoise blue waters of the sea. Its well-known tropical tea gardens adjoining the tennis courts and in which is an open air dancing pavilion, is the rendezvous of the fashionable world, not only of Americans but visitors from foreign countries.

On its wide open colonade which runs across the length of its second story, visitors may watch the ever-changing picture in the tea gardens, the dancing pavilion, the tennis courts, and the shifting view of stately yachts, the sponge fishing fleet, and huge cruisers in the harbor. In the gardens proud peacocks arch their necks and spread their exquisitely colored tail feathers.

Arriving for the opening by Pan-American Airways from Miami was Mr. Henry Dodge Cooper and also Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Horton of New York.

Mrs. Stuart M. Firth and Mrs. Arthur M. Anderson of New York came via the S. S. Munargo as did a whole host of others.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Stevens and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Campbell of New York, who have been at the Royal Victoria removed to this hotel.

* * * *

Mr. A. E. W. Mason, well known English author whose novel "Four Feathers," was so beautifully filmed, has arrived from London at the Royal Victoria.

Simultaneously with the opening of the New Colonial, the Paradise Beach season was on. It was necessary this season to meet the popular demand to erect a new bath house, and greatly enlarge the open restaurant where bathers may lunch in their bathing suits and pass the entire day on the coral sands.

Many additional brilliant beach umbrellas and tiny tables have been placed on the beach and new cabanas added. Engaging one of these for the season is the lovely Lady Diana Cooper, who has returned for another winter with her husband, Alfred Duff Cooper, D. S. O. Lady Victor Paget and Captain Sydney Herbert, M. P. Lady Diana considered her tiny three months' old son too young to make the voyage this season.

Mrs. Elmer Schlessinger, who came by special airplane from Miami in order to bring her three French poodles has also made reservations at Paradise Beach. She is to occupy Lady William Taylor's bungalow, "The Wave" on Hog Island, adjoining Paradise Beach.

The visit in January 4 of His Excellency Viscount Willingdon, the Governor-General of Canada and Lady Willingdon was of interest to Americans as well as the British residents. His Excellency the governor of the Bahamas, Sir Charles Orr gave a luncheon in their honor to which were invited men high in the official life of the Bahamas government and their wives.

* * * *

The New Colonial is a popular place for honeymooners. The most prominent addition to this colony this week are Mr. and Mrs. Edgar William Garbisch, who were married in New York at St. Bartholomews before a gathering of 2,000 guests.

Mrs. Garbisch was the popular Bernice Chrysler, daughter of the automobile king and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Walter P. Chrysler, and the groom in his college days was all-American star for the army football team.

* * * *

Mr. Frederick S. Fish of New York is at this hotel awaiting the arrival from Miami of his yacht, the "Moby Dick", which will lie in Nassau harbor the greater part of the season. Mr. Henry Dodge Cooper of New York will go aboard with him.

* * * *

Mr. Henry A. Buck, a guest of many former seasons, is at the Royal Victoria from New York.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Miller of Pittsburgh, who were at The Breakers at Palm Beach, have arrived at the New Colonial.

HAVANA

AFTER the races and the tea dances Sunday afternoon society gathered on the roof garden of the Hotel Sevilla Biltmore for dinner and some dancing as a fitting conclusion to the day's activities. Among those noted during the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Pearlman of Crawfordsville, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Marcus, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. George J. Hecht, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Lee A. Reed, Paul D. Reid, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Keschner, of New York; Marcel Lamour, Mrs. Fredrick Shipman, Jr., of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. M. ## MIAMI BEACH

HE beautiful exclusive millionaire's Cocolobo Cay Club was the scene of one of the most outstanding social events of the season given last Saturday. The committee of 100 sponsored the occasion and twenty-four yachts conveyed the guests and members to the club. This was the first of the midwinter outings and was thoroughly enjoyed by all who attended. W. A. Lindsey was in charge of the sports program of the day, and entertainers who took part in the band, a quartet, buck and wing dances and water sports were provided. A large number of yachts participated in the "Chance" race, for which trophies were awarded. Among the distinguished guests who attended were: George Ade, famous humorist; E. M. Newman, world traveler, lecturer and writer; F. L. DeBosque, James H. Snowden, James W. Eustis, and ex-Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York.

* * * *

A social affair of wide interest held recently was the formal opening of the Miami Biltmore hotel with an elaborate dinner-dance. The affair was attended by prominent members of the social set, and during the evening an entertaining program was presented. Among those who entertained were Mr. and Mrs. David E. Baxter, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Nebel and others. The distinguished group of New Yorkers who arrived on a special train for the occasion included: Ex-Gov. Alfred E. Smith and Mrs. Smith, John J. Woodruff, president of the Coca-Cola Co.; George LeBoutillier, vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad and the Long Island railroad; Jeremiah McGuire, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Culkin, C. Stanley Mitchell, president of the Bank of the United States, and others. The opening tea dance was held the afternoon before in the spacious patio of the hotel and was well attended by the younger contingent and visitors.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Massee and their son, Caleb Johnson Massee of Detroit, sailed recently for Havana on their yacht "Margo" with a party of friends, including Mr. and Mrs. Neil C. Ward and their daughter, Miss Mary Ward of Chicago, for a stay of a week or ten days. Mr. Massee is vice president of the Colgate-Palmolive-Peet company of Chicago. Another yachting party was given by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Behrend, who sailed on their yacht "Amida" for Nassau with a party of friends to remain for a week.

* * * *

A looked forward affair of the season is the annual Junior League ball, which will be given February 8, at 9:30 P. M., at the Roney Plaza hotel. The ball will be largely attended by members of the winter colony and will be one of the most brilliant fetes of the season. Mrs. Thomas W. Hutson is president of the Junior League.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Hertz of Chicago and Miami Beach, and a party of friends made a flight to Cocolobo Cay in Mr. Hertz's Sikorsky, The Three Johns, and in Col. R. R. McCormick's Sikorsky, the Art Pint. Included in the party were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Post, Long Island; Mr. and Mrs. Jess Andrew, Miami Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Carruther, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Jack McKay, Miami Beach; James Fowler, Miami Beach, and Mrs. E. C. Romfh.

* * * *

Recently Mr. and Mrs. Fred Post, members of the cottage colony of the King Cole hotel, were hosts to a group of their friends, entertaining with a lovely party. Among those who attended the delightful occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hillman, Mr. and Mrs. Louis F. Snedigar, Mr. and Mrs. George Messervy, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Grennan, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Hertz, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Law, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Roy Carruthers, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Abbot, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Andrew, Mr. and Mrs. J. McKay, Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. # It's the Fashion to be Frugal

The smart vogue demands that women not only be clever sartorially and clever intellectually and clever artistically and clever conversationally—but also clever financially. The woman who cannot manage her money matters intelligently is behind the times—out of fashion!

The smart woman of today prides herself on spending money wisely. No matter what her income, she insists upon getting full value from every penny she spends. That's why more and more of the smartest people are coming to Macy's.

It's not that they have to save that $37.45 on a handsome lapin coat—it's not that they have to save $21.50 on a Chanel copy—but it would be so stupid not to. Because —

The Bellevue Biltmore

"Golfers Southern Paradise"

on the West Coast
Belleair, Florida

*V*ISIT the Bellevue Biltmore before returning North, it is a brief trip and the train deposits you and your luggage virtually in the lobby of the hotel.

Here golf is at its best in an ideal tropical setting with natural advantages for every outdoor sport.

The Bellevue Biltmore is operated on the American Plan, there are Dinner Dances in the Grill and Concerts daily. Motion pictures are shown three times weekly.

Two golf courses, an out-door pool a private beach for bathing on The Bellevue's Treasure Island, tennis courts, bridle paths, traps, fishing and boating. Brokers office in hotel.

HAIR<sup>AND</sup> SCALP

—LUCKY TIGER— THE NATIONAL REMEDY

Quickly Destroys Dandruff and Corrects Scalp Disorders

A single application stops that miserable itching; a most effective germicide, yet delicately perfumed, and as refreshing as the morning dew.

*An indispensable
hair dressing
after your
sea bath*

Stops Falling Hair

Impoverished, falling hair can be avoided; the harsh, scraggly kind can be made soft and luxuriant. A single bottle of Lucky Tiger will convince.

Lucky Tiger Has Solved
All These Problems
For You

We have made it our business to do this. We have been phenomenally successful, as evidenced by millions of Lucky Tiger users.

At all good druggists, barber shops and beauty parlors

STACCATO* PRINTS

Seaing — and — Sunning
Teaing — and — Toasting

Staccato* Prints, colorful as a Southern weekend, timed exactly to the gay, quick, exciting life of today. Amusing designs careen over them and each design tells a story.

CHENEY SILKS

Staccato* Prints are an ultra-modern collection of silks, inspired by the work of French artists. They flaunt the bold colors, the dynamic forms, the lovely rhythms of modern art.

CHENEY WEAVES

Printed on Shantung and Debonair,** they meet the demand for rough texture silks for beach and sport wear. Designed primarily for Southern Resort wear, they are keyed to the harmony of sun and sea and sand.

CHENEY SILKS

The particular STACCATO* illustrated is called "La Mer" . . . gay bits of the sea scattered amusingly on bright contrasting grounds—and perfect for the type of pyjama shown.

CHENEY WEAVES

Note: "La Mer" can be obtained at Hatch's new Palm Beach shop.

THE NEW BUICK

THE INEVITABLE CHOICE OF THOSE WHO KNOW
WHAT BUICK OWNERSHIP MEANS . . . . .

IT IS no uncommon experience to find two . . . or three . . . or six Buicks in a family. For when Buick performance . . . luxury and value are once experienced, no other car seems to offer quite . . . or nearly . . . the same pleasurable possibilities of prideful ownership . . . and masterly service. The wide range of Buick models and prices plays a part, too . . . smart Fisher body types . . . on three wheelbases . . . in three price ranges. Be sure to visit the Buick Winter Salon (Peruvian Avenue and Palm Beach Avenue, South). See the smart new Buicks . . . and notice how their head-up head-on beauty is further enhanced by a striking variety of attractive color combinations. THE Skinner Residence Organ is now selected by the most discriminating clients. It is not a commercial product in any sense. Built in limited numbers, each organ is specially designed and installed to suit its environment. Excelling in beauty of tone, in workmanship and in dependability, these organs excel where difficult climatic conditions are encountered. You may hear a typical example at the New Palm Beach Studio at where Mr. O. C. Greene is in charge.

Unrivaled in speed to Hawaii

... the Malolo from San Francisco

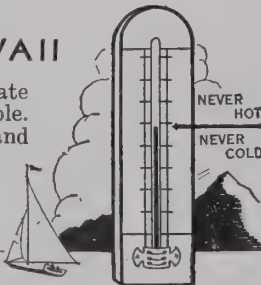

She has brought the gay sports, the mountains and beaches of Hawaii so close! On the Malolo, it's only four days from San Francisco to Honolulu. Sail Saturday noon and next Wednesday you can golf at Waialae or swim at Waikiki.

Crossing the smooth Pacific, the Malolo's capacious decks will lure you to spend most of your time in the balmy out-of-doors. Such broad decks, with room to tramp swingingly along or to sit in your chair undisturbed by traffic! There's an entire deck for sun-worshippers. Another is glass enclosed. Seven decks in all.

In every detail, the Malolo rates as one of the world's great liners. Elevators. Telephones. Roomy staterooms. Chefs... but that's a story in itself. No space here except to add: Ask any travel agency or the Matson Line representative, L. C. Downey, McAllister Hotel, Boulevard and Flager Street, Miami, Florida.

SPRING IS GLORIOUS IN HAWAII

Golf, surfing, polo, motoring... and a climate that makes every recreation more enjoyable. The mercury hovers lazily in the seventies and the water at Waikiki varies only a degree or two from the air, averaging 75°. Now is the time to play in Hawaii!

Janet Gray Says:

I'm perfectly willing to admit that these frequent burglaries "got my wind up." So much so that the Big Chief finally bought me this mahogany table safe. When all closed up it looks like an innocent little table and does duty as that. But back of its door is a strong steel safe that opens to a combination known only to us. It has plenty of room for my jewelry and other valuables and is so easy to use that my worries over sneak thieves are gone forever. $65.00

AT THE RESORT BEACHES

AY, colorful and picturesque, a melting pot of personages famed for beauty, talent, genius and social prestige, the Breakers beach is an intitution without which Palm Beach would not be Palm Beach. During the noon hour the beach and boardwalk blossom like vast flower gardens with groups of women in their smartest attire and equally smart men in corresponding outfits for the masculine mode. Friends linger to chat on the sun-drenched boardwalk or lounge under gaily colorful umbrellas on the shining beach, and the throng is as cosmopolitan as it is brilliant.

There are days when a turbulent sea, tossing foam crested waves high up on the beach, forbid any but the hardest of swimmers to dare a plunge, when the casino pool is the center of attraction. The pool is always a favored spot with the winter colony. The sidelines are generally crowded with visitors who enjoy watching the bathers disport in the sparkling blue water mirroring a gleaming and tropical sun as it makes a path across the sky.

Miss Ann Rainey of the Everglades Club is a frequent visitor at the pool and a beautiful swimmer and diver. Katherine Clarke, Marion Gervais, Pauline Bode, Betty Greene, Veronese Beatty, Ruth Goerke, Dorothy Curtis, Mary Jane Tippet, are members of the younger set seen daily in the waters of the pool.

The still younger crowd is represented by Greta, Eileen and Jean Stafford, Betty Kern, Jack and Ben Hopkins, Horace Tennes, David Legget, Nancy Oakes, Joan and Martin Sweeny, Geraldine Fish, Dorothy Elsie Meyer, and many others who rarely miss a day splashing around the pool.

The children have their baseball and soccer teams and may be seen in some fast action practicing on the beach playground during the afternoon. While they play earnestly it is easy to see they have learned what "good sportsmanship" means.

Beach and boardwalk alike are favored by visitors including Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Crowley, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Bode, Mrs. Frederick Dwight, Mr. and Mrs. Walton Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. McEwan, Mr. and Mrs. William G. McKechney, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Finucane, Mrs. Arthur Gervais, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Conover, Mr. and Mrs. C. Ardley Shedaker, Mrs. Frederick S. Fish, Mrs. Baldwin Day Spilman, Mrs. Paul D. Arthur McDougall, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Oakes, Mrs. Willis S. Paine, and Mr. Henry T. Sloane, all members of The Breakers permanent colony.

Cottage colony members are fond of the casino, particularly as a rendezvous to meet their friends, and among those frequently seen are Mr. Edward T. Stotesbury, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Richard Cowell, Mr. John B. Irwin, Mr. Jules Bache, Mr. William Ruland, Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Larsen, Mrs. Benjamin F. Celebrities of the financial, literary and industrial as well as the social world meet at midday for a plunge into the sea and an hour of lounging in the sunlight at Sea Spray beach. Colorful pajamas and daring bathing suits are seen on the dainty feminine figures promenading back and forth or resting against the windbreaks while the men form groups to talk of more or less serious matters. The bright scene is made doubly fascinating by the many children who frequent the beach, running and playing on the sand and in the pool.

For this year Sea Spray has a large new pool with Instructor William A. Kohler in charge. Little tots of four are included in his classes of youngsters learning the fine art of swimming.

There are several other prominent persons who frequent the beach, who have not yet enrolled on the membership list this season. Among them are Mrs. John Emerson, who was seen at Sea Spray shortly after her arrival in Palm Beach, with her house guest, Mr. Cecil Beaton.

FLASHES OF BLUE LIGHT

THE BLUE SAPPHIRE. . . . Its flashes of blue light trembling on the slim throat of the young Adelaide of Louvain . . . gleaming on cloth of gold and brocades at the court of Henry the First. . . . As now it is seen at an opera, at a dinner, when a long glove is removed, or when sables slip from a white shoulder. 👑 From far-off Norman days when the flash of crossing lances vied with the quiver of jewels on the breasts of watching princesses, the blue sapphire has been the selected gem to adorn women of splendor. Something of infinity dwells in its blues within blues . . . wisps of light burning in a little windless calm. 👑 And whether it is a star sapphire, veiling six points in a pale mist of its own, or a sapphire welling its deep pure blue from an embrace of tiny diamonds, if it is from the Marcus collection, its setting is individual and exclusive. . . . A fact apparent to distinguished families who have been coming to this house for their precious stones for over fifty years. A collection of blue sapphires from $30,000 to $100.

DEEP SEA FISHING

WHICH is the greater sport, sailfishing or tarpon fishing? That is a question that has been mulled over for hours at a time by fishing enthusiasts and veteran anglers the world over, who have had enough experience catching both types of fish to intelligently argue the question. Although tarpon are more frequently caught down around the keys and on the West Coast, it is a matter of record that the first tarpon ever caught with a rod and reel in Florida, was taken at the Indian River Inlet on the East Coast. It was caught with a large Buel spoon and weighed 172½ pounds. Many more were caught there afterwards, but in later years Charlotte Harbor on the West Coast became the principal resort for tarpon sportsmen, and somewhat later Fort Myers.

Tarpon appear rarely off the shore of Palm Beach although occasionally a lake tarpon of small size is caught by sportsmen and skippers of small craft, both inside Lake Worth and outside of the inlet. Once in a great while however, a tarpon of fair size is landed out of the waters in this section, such as the one caught several years ago by a party, which was taken out by Capt. Gray of the Poinciana basin.

When a tarpon takes the bait the fisherman allows it to run along a few feet and then strike. If he is hooked he will almost instantly jump out of the water, and then start off on a long run, followed by a series of short jumps, then perhaps another long run and so on until at last the fish begins to tire and the work of reeling it in to the gaff begins. Many times the fish will be brought right up along side, when suddenly with renewed vitality it will shoot off through the water again in a last spurt of speed, often catching the angler unawares and snapping the line which has been slow in paying out. At other times the huge fish may be brought along side completely fagged and rolling from side to side, when suddenly he will get rid of the hook in an unaccountable manner and slip slowly into the depths to disappear from sight, much to the chagrin of the expectant sportsman. The time for landing a tarpon may vary from twenty minutes to an hour or more, depending on the size and condition of the fish, and the skill of the sportsman, or his desire to whip the fish quickly or to take his time.

The natural habitat of the sailfish seems to be right along the edge of the Gulfstream near Palm Beach and it may safely be said that more of this variety of fish are caught in this section than at any other point in Florida, unless it may be off the Florida Keys on the eastern side.

The Tarpon most always strikes savagely at the bait, but not so with the sailfish. Using his long sword to kill or disable his prey preparatory to devouring it, the sailfish will follow the bait along for quite a distance before tapping it several times. When this occurs, the angler immediately lets out the line, giving the impression that the bait is disabled. Then suddenly the sailfish may grab the bait and run. Line is paid out for twelve or fifteen feet and then the hook is set. Sometimes the sailfish will make a savage strike at the bait and at other times he may just follow it along for quite some distance before making up his mind to strike.

Then the fun begins. The sailfish goes through all the motions in and out of the water that would do credit to a circus performer. Spiral leaps, straight pulling jumps, sometimes fairly skidding over the water on his tail, the fish will go through all sorts of gyrations in the hopes of freeing himself. When he doesn't succeed he will start out for the bottom of the ocean with the reel spinning, paying out line, the fish making a wide circle only to come to the surface again in a series of jumps. This lasts sometimes for an hour before the fish is exhausted sufficiently to be brought to the gaff. As to choosing between the sporting qualities of the two fighting fish I would merely say choose for yourself.

With the discussion of the merits of sailfish and tarpon out of the way, one may now turn to a fish which is infrequently mentioned because it is so rarely landed. This is the marlin, more closely related to the swordfish, than is the sailfish, although the two are members of the swordfish family. The marlin has a dorsal fin resembling that of the swordfish and a longer sword-like beak.

A marlin of the same length as a sailfish weighs much more however, and is therefore a very hard fish to whip, especially with sporting tackle. According to members of the fishing fleet at the Poinciana basin, marlin frequently strike in deep water, but they are so savage that they often break the line before the angler is aware of what he has on.

Captain Githens of the Miss Sally hooked one during a fishing trip last year, just outside of the inlet about 2 o'clock in the afternoon and fought furiously with the huge fish until 9:30 o'clock in the evening, finally losing him about nine miles off Jupiter.

Capt. Herman Gray, of the auxiliary schooner, Orca, with Mr. Rodman Wanamaker aboard, also battled with a huge marlin near the Jupiter inlet, for the major portion of a day and counted sixty-nine jumps that the marlin made, finally getting away.

It frequently occurs that a marlin is tired sufficiently to be brought up to the boat but just manages in spite of all the angler can do, to keep just out of gaff reach.

Recently, during a customary morning's fishing trip, Mr. Frank Duff Frazier, dean of local anglers, had a rather extraordinary experience in hooking a huge marlin weighing well over 100 pounds, on sporting tackle consisting of a four-ounce tip and a nine thread line.

Mr. Frazier battled for more than an hour with the huge fish and several times had it almost within gaff reach of the boat, but each time the marlin evaded the gaff and the process was repeated, until the fine line parted under the strain and the fish swam slowly off to rest up after its narrow escape.

This was the second occurrence Mr. Frazier had in losing a marlin. Last year he almost landed a larger specimen but lost it in the same manner.

Capt. Githens, on whose boat Mr. Frazier makes his almost daily trips, stated very emphatically after the experience that from now on he was going out equipped with a sizable harpoon, and he would guarantee they would not lose another marlin.

Lake tarpon this season have been caught by Col. William Hayward and Mr. John R. Fell, each having the unique distinction of landing a lake tarpon recently while trolling in Lake Worth. It is extremely rare that this type is caught inside the lake and the two anglers were congratulated on their prowess when they returned to the dock.

Mr. William M. Francis also proved his proficiency as an angler by landing a sailfish weighing close to 50 pounds and measuring seven feet eight inches in length.

During the rough weather of several weeks ago when the gentlemen anglers stated it was too choppy to do any real fishing, Mrs. Maurice Fatio and Mrs. Arthur Somers Roche, braving the salty spray and heavy swell kicked up by the north winds, put the aforesaid gentlemen to shame by venturing forth into the briny deep and landing a very sizable sailfish.

Leaving on the auxiliary schooner Orca, they stayed out several hours, during which time they had three strikes, but due to rough water succeeded in landing only one of the fish. This however, was an achievement in itself, considering the weather and the fine tackle used.

Another ardent sportswoman who has recently arrived for the season is Miss Patricia Ziegfeld, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ziegfeld, who is here with her mother, known in stage life as Billie Burke.

Miss Ziegfeld, who made a number of sizable catches last season went out on the Orca, owned by Capt. Gray, the other afternoon to try her luck and had several strikes but was unsuccessful in landing a sail fish.

With the annual tournament of the Sailfish Club of Florida now under way, there is a great deal of excitement and industrious fishing on the part of the members, desirous of annexing the trophies offered.

Mr. William M. Frances made the first entry of the season the other day after he landed a sailfish seven feet eight inches in length and weighing 59 pounds.

PALM BEACH CLUB ACTIVITIES

QUITE the largest and most important affair at the Everglades Club in the past fortnight was the annual reception given by Mr. John B. Irwin, one of Palm Beach's most popular bachelors, at which more than 200 members of the winter colony came to greet their genial host and to dance in the delightful Orange Gardens. This reception was the eighth annual occasion of its kind as Mr. Irwin has been coming to the resort for years. His friends among the winter colony are legion and his wit and sparkling humor have made him much in demand socially.

The guests enjoyed their tea in small groups seated at flower-laden tables. The Orange Gardens presented a beautiful sight in the late afternoon of a warm winter day and the beautiful gowns of the women guests matched the tints of sunset in the skies above. Dusk had fallen long before the last guest departed, carrying with them the memory of a delightful occasion. Those who enjoyed Mr. Irwin's hospitality included:

Mrs. Elden Cassell DeWitt, Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Stotesbury, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vernon Skiff, Mr. and Mrs. Phil H. The semi-weekly dinner dances at the Everglades Club are among the most important events in the season's social program and continue to hold the interest of members and their guests year after year in spite of other attractions that may be offered. The first Sunday evening dinner dance was held on January 19 and was well attended. The music of the Vincent Lopez orchestra now playing at the club has called forth many favorable comments and the announcement that the celebrated leader will be here in person around February 1st is hailed with interest. At the first Sunday evening dinner dance Mrs. Alexander McKay entertained in honor of Prince Friedrich Leopold of Prussia. Those in the party included Miss Dorothy Elaine Vicayi and Mrs. E. R. Chapman, house guests of Mrs. McKay's; Mme. Michael Ulam, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Fatio, Mr. and Mrs. Julian McCarthy Little, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Van Riper, Miss Beadleston, Miss Antoinette Johnson, Baron Cerrini, Mr. Peter Burgess and Mr. Frederick Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Messmore Kendall and their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Gustave H. Rainville, also enjoyed the dining and dancing at the club. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hudson Marks were hosts at a party of six; Mr. Osborne Howes also had six in his group. Others who had reserved tables included Mr. Guy Thomas and Mrs. H. G. Barkhausen, Mr. Alfred Feltman, Mr. Joseph Hutchison, Mr. F. Homer Smith, Mr. Charles Monroe and Mr. Orson D. Munn.

Six candidates were elected to membership in the club at a recent meeting of the Committee on Admissions: Mr. Edward S. Little, Cleveland; Mr. Louis C. Ritchie, Spring Lake, N. J.; Mr. William Wadsworth Wood, New York city; Mr. Arthur H. Osborn, Spring Lake, N. J.; Mr. Charles Allen Snyder and Mrs. Earle E. Carley of New York.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vernon Skiff chose the ever entrancing Orange Gardens of the Everglades Club to entertain their house guest, Mrs. Gardiner Pattison, at dinner and dancing last week. The tropic night, the colored lights, the Vincent Lopez orchestra, everything, contributed to the pleasantness of the occasion. Those who attended the dinner included Mr. and Mrs. Edmund LeRoy Dow, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Dobyne, Mr. and Mrs. Julius P. Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Williams, Mr. and Mrs. George S. Fenton, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Sweatt, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan D. Bill, Mr. and Mrs. J. Terry West, Mr. and Mrs. John Shepard, Jr., Mrs. Elden C. DeWitt and Mr. John Irwin.

* * * *

Mrs. William Wood Plankton of New York city has arrived at the club for an indefinite stay.

* * * *

Mrs. A. Howes Torrey, whose home will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Simon for the balance of the season, has moved into one of the Everglades Club maisonnettes.

* * * *

Mrs. John E. Dana was hostess to forty friends at tea in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewis Armstrong of Washington, D. C., who are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard H. Kroger.

An important cultural factor in the winter colony is the Current Events Lecture course, whose fifth seasonal program was announced recently by Mrs. John Robert Bryden, chairman of the committee in charge. The first lecture will be on Wednesday, February 5th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Seligman, when M. Paul Richard will speak on "The Traditional French Policy in International Affairs." At the second lecture, on February 12th at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Stotesbury, Mr. Nicholas Roosevelt of New York and Judge Alexis De Boer of Hungary will discuss the London Naval conference. Count Michael Karonyi will speak on "Political Affairs in Hungary" at the third lecture on February 19th, at Mr. and Mrs. Earle Perry Charlton's ocean front villa; Dr. Henry Goddard Leach, editor of The Forum, will discuss the tariff on February 25th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Shearson and Mrs. Jackson Fleming will give the final talk on general political events on March 5th at the home of Mrs. Henry R. Rea. Serving with Mrs. Bryden on the committee in charge of the Current Events lecture course are Mesdames Henry Seligman, John F. Harris, Alfred G. Kay and Earle Perry Charlton. The lectures are for subscribers and their guests only and the limited membership is filled from a large waiting list as vacancies occur.

MEMORIAL FOUNTAIN

MEMORIAL fountain and plaza on County road just north of the town hall was formally presented Sunday afternoon to the town of Palm Beach as a gift from the winter residents of the resort to the town for a memorial to those men who helped establish Palm Beach as the premier riviera of America. The presentation was made by Mr. Harold S. Vanderbilt, as chairman of the Memorial commission, to Mr. James Owens, Jr., as acting mayor. A new era in beautification was established in the construction of the fountain and plaza, an improvement which it is expected will be the forerunner of many others starting a movement which in the end will result in a beautiful park system for Palm Beach.

Conceived last February by Mr. Addison Mizner, the well known architect, who in the past several years has exerted such an influence over architecture of both mercantile and residential structures, the plan readily found scores of individuals to make it a reality. Much painstaking work, however, was done before the fountain and plaza was completed.

One who looks at the completed work cannot but notice the rare beauty that was drawn into the plans by Mr. Mizner and carried out by his associate, Mr. F. E. Geisler. The fountain proper is at the south end of the plaza, higher than the rest, resting upon the backs of four horses, one headed north, another south, one east and one west. While this idea has been used in part in several fountains on the continent, Mr. Mizner worked it out in such a manner that it is entirely new. The fountain, of Keyite rock moulded by the Mizner Industries, as is all of the stone work, is surrounded by a low balustrade on three sides while steps lead down to the long narrow pool on the north. Down these steps water trickles into the pool. Behind, a group of tall Australian pines effectively set it off from the town hall and fire department, while twelve full grown Royal Palms line each side of the pool.

With contributions coming in at the rate of several thousand dollars a day, the following were appointed to serve on the Memorial Fountain commission: Harold S. Vanderbilt, chosen as chairman; Edward S. Moore, Jay F. Carlisle, Hugh Dillman, Wiley R. Reynolds, Col. Robert Glendinning, Major Barclay H. Warburton, Frank Shaughnessy and Oscar G. Davies.

Sixty-two individuals and firms sent checks to the Memorial Fountain committee. Thirteen of these were for $1,000 each, coming from Hugh Dillman, Dr. Wiley Lyon Kingsley, the Phipps family, Colonel Robert Glendinning, Mrs. Henry R. Rea, Edward S. Moore, John F. Harris, Mrs. Edward F. Hutton, Colonel E. R. Bradley, James P. Donahue, the Florida East Coast Hotel Company, E. P. Charlton, F. M. Kirby.

Eighteen checks of $500 each were received from Charles E. Merrill, Mrs. Harry R. Bassett, Mrs. Durant Daniel, Charles E. F. McCann, Mrs. Alexander Laughlin, Jr., Wiley R. Reynolds, John Shepard, Jr., H. G. Barkhausen, Edward T. Stotesbury, J. Leonard Replogle, Harold S. Vanderbilt, Jay F. Carlisle, Henry Seligman, Mr. and Mrs. William J. McAneeny, Bernard H. Kroger, Jules Bache, the Florida Power and Light Company and Harrison Williams.

Other donators were Ohan S. Berberyan, Thompson & McKinnon, Major Barclay H. Warburton, Franklin Petitt, Mrs. W. Seward Webb, each of whom gave $250; Captain R. Amscott Wilson and Mrs. Esabel Sloane, with gifts of $200 each; Robert Dunn Douglass, Darrah & Darrah and David M. Kirk, with contribution of $150 each.

Nineteen mailed checks for $100 each. They were: Black, Starr & Frost, Etta G. Menko, Marcus & Company, Mrs. Charles Long, McGinnis Electrical Service, Franklin P. Smith, Mme. Najla Mogabgab, Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. V. Clark, Jacob H. Marx, Frank L. Cheek, Michael Sholtz, the Colony Club, Palm Beach Stores, the Brainard Lemon Silver collection, Mauboussin, Patio Lamaze, Maurice Fatio, Arnold Construction Company and Mrs. Bell H. Nicolai, J. J. Jonas and the Main Street Book Store contributed ten dollars each.

Subscriptions of Mr. Petitt, Mrs. Webb and Mrs. Nicolai were received after the fund had been completed.

With all contributions in, the commission made a special report to the town council on March 19 in which it recommended the acceptance of Mr. Mizner's plans and asked that it be allowed to function until the fountain and parkway were entirely completed with the suggestion that it then be turned over to the town park system as a gift of the winter residents. The council followed the suggestions of the commission, and arrangements were made before the season closed that the fountain should be built during the summer and completed before season this year.

ON THE AVIATION FIELD

INTER visitors are coming to Florida, by rail, by motor car, by boat and also by air. During the past two weeks, scarcely five minutes has elapsed during the day that the steady drone of a plane winging its way over Palm Beach has not been heard. Planes of all types and sizes, from the huge 20-passenger Sikorsky plane, largest in the country, down to tiny little monoplanes, with just room for pilot and mechanic, have appeared out of the atmosphere and settled down at the local airport.

The Miami air races attracted the largest assemblage of planes ever seen in Florida and one of the most colorful air pageants in the history of aircraft was put on at the Municipal airport at Opa Locka, January 13, 14 and 15.

After the close of the meet at Miami, one of the largest aggregation of planes ever seen in this section landed at Roosevelt field, making West Palm Beach one of the stops included in a tour of twenty-four Florida cities.

Planes of all types roared over the field both singly and in groups of two or three and landed before a crowd of several thousand eager spectators who lined the field to give enthusiastic welcome to the air-birds.

Cars lined Belvedere road, leading to the airport, for a mile in either direction, amply demonstrating the interest of residents in this section in the new and fascinating mode of transportation.

Shortly after 2 o'clock about thirty planes were lined in a double row across the field. Pilots and passengers were officially greeted and then motored to the Elks Club where a hot luncheon was served to them and they were entertained by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Due to the late arrival the regular program of stunt flying was considerably shortened, as the flyers had to take off for Clewiston, the next point where the aircade was to stop. "Thunderbolt" Knight however, gave the crowds a thrill by doing his famous double parachute jump through the low hanging clouds from a height of several thousand feet. Freddy Lund, one of the most famous stunt flyers in the nation, who was among the first to successfully maneuver an outside loop, put his plane through a series of breath-taking stunts after "Thunderbolt" Knight had jumped from his plane.

George Haldeman, famous transatlantic flyer, who with Ruth Elder, was forced down in the middle of the Atlantic, and narrowly escaped death, being picked up by a passing liner, arrived at the field in a five-passenger Bellanca cabin plane.

Included in his party were, George Sebring, of the sales department of the Bellanca Aircraft company, Edward F. Bently, president of the State Bar association, Judge E. S. Futch of Lake City and W. N. Raymond, pilot of the craft.

George Haldeman was enthusiastically greeted by pilots of both the Roosevelt Air Service and the Curtiss-Wright, having known and worked with many of them in the early days of aviation.

When interviewed by the writer, he stated that Florida was the potential air center of America, due to the superb climatic conditions all the year round. He also added that the recent Aeronautical Commission formed by Governor Carlton, definitely demonstrated that Florida was interested in the future of aviation and was willing to help in any way possible. He maintained that every pilot who could possibly make it would make Florida his winter headquarters from now on, having at last become convinced that here was a sanctuary away from the ice and snow.

When asked to give a brief account of thrilling experiences, in his life as an air-pilot he laughed and said that being set down in the Atlantic ocean in a choppy sea, thousands of miles from everywhere had erased from his mind all other experiences he might have had.

Among the first arrivals at the field was the largest passenger plane in the country, a 20-passenger Sikorsky, bringing Carl F. B. Foss, assistant to the president of American International Airways, Inc. The plane is a sister ship to the one making a seven thousand mile flight from Tampa last June, and crossing the Andes.

Another aerial visitor which recently visited the local airport was the blimp "Defender," owned by the Goodyear-Zeppelin corporation of Akron, Ohio, sailing serenely above Palm Beach, standing out against the blue sky and white clouds as a perfect picture, the silver zeppelin, "Defender" arrived at the local airport from Opa Locka, Miami, its southern headquarters.

The "Defender," leader of the Goodyear blimp fleet, 185 feet long and 55 feet in diameter and inflated with 180,000 cubic feet of non-inflammable helium gas, was the first ship of its kind to land at the airport and consequently created quite a stir among local residents, so much so, that soon the roadway in both directions was lined with cars of interested spectators.

The huge dirigible made constant trips all day taking eight passengers and two in the crew each trip, with prominent city officials and a large number of townspeople accepting invitations to see the city from the air, in the unique craft.

J. A. Boettner, Akron, Ohio, chief pilot in charge of the airship operations for the Goodyear company was in charge of the "Defender." He was the first pilot to qualify for the nation's highest lighter-than-air pilot rating, and is one of the most experienced pilots in the world.

The ground crew of 30 men came in a bus from Opa Locka to handle the huge craft. When taking on passengers or when permitting them to alight only three are allowed to change at one time enabling the weight of the additional passengers to aid in keeping the huge craft on the ground.

The cruising speed of the dirigible is from 50 to 60 miles an hour at an altitude of approximately one thousand feet.

William B. Stout, designer and creator of the Ford-Stout tri-motored planes, was also a recent visitor at Roosevelt Field, coming here for a conference with Harry Hublitz, manager of the Skyview Lines of which Mr. Stout is also president.

Mr. Stout appeared very enthusiastic about the future of aviation in Florida. In 1920 he came here with Cornelius Vanderbilt, and attempted to establish a landing field in all the larger cities in Florida. He later started one of the first flying companies in the state, operating between Miami and Tampa, and indicated while here that he intends to go right on developing aviation in the state, because of the unmatched facilities it has for year round flying.

During a conversation at the field he said, "What we are all working for throughout the nation is larger, more luxurious and safe planes capable of making fast time so that one may leave New York in the evening and arrive at Palm Beach the following morning, sleeping as comfortably as a baby in a cradle and eliminating the tediousness of travel."

"Another important factor in aviation," continued Mr. Stout, "is the rapid improvements that are being made each year. It won't be long before the airplane will be used as much as the auto by private individuals, due to the improvements that will be made in the handling and steering devices of the aircraft, making them practically fool proof."

Speaking of aviation potentialities in Florida, Mr. Stout stated that it would not be long before huge air liners would be making regular trips from the continent of North America to the continent of South America, with Florida as the main base of operations.

He stated that this was due to Florida's strategic location between the two continents, its marvelous climate and its peculiar elongated shape, offering protection to craft flying to Cuba, the West Indies, and thence to South America. He said that this was no idle dream, but that it would not be long before such lines would be in actual operation.

Another important factor which is developing along with aviation, although at a faster pace, is radio. According to Mr. Burgess, in charge of station W. O. E. at Rainbo pier, it is quite possible to locate an airplane at most any altitude in the air or at any distance off the coast, providing the airplane to be communicated with has radio of sufficient power to send a message a long distance.

He stated that by far the most complete equipment ever carried by any aircraft, was that installed in the huge Zeppelin, "Bremen," which visited this country, coming across the ocean from Germany not long ago. He asserted that from the time the huge craft left Germany until it landed at Lakehurst, N. J., it kept in constant communication with the outside world, and as it settled in the hangar at Lakehurst the operators were still communicating with Germany.

TASTES AND TOILETTES

TO BE A hundred years behind the times in fashions is to arrive unexpectedly in the midst of the fashions of today. To be sure the hoopskirt has not yet made its appearance but who can tell whether its ghost may not be hanging about in the limbo of long discarded styles, waiting to slip into the flesh of some innocuous style and appear again before our startled eyes. Half-forgotten phrases, once a familiar part of our mothers' and grandmothers' vocabulary are tripping lightly from our modern tongues and we speak of gores and circular flounces and darts and godets as glibly as if they had not been absent from our consciousness for years. Looking back a hundred years we find the reaction from the corsetless and short-haired modes of the Directoire expressed itself in flounces, voluminous draperies and hour glass waists. Will the reaction from the sports silhouette of the years just past serve to resurrect these cumbersome styles? Or if they do come to life again, will it be with a rarer beauty and a refinement of line that will give them new glory and win commendation?

* * * *

The bertha is a style feature that deserves its rescue from oblivion, for its lines are flattering to many figures. Mrs. Paul Forester wears a sleeveless frock with a scalloped bertha stitched on to the front of the bodice. Demure little tie-strings fall well below the high waistline in front and the skirt is formed of boxpleats which fit the hips tightly and fall free below. A mushroom hat with a medium brim completes this charming costume.

* * * *

Mrs. John R. Bryden favors pale, pastel colors and is often noted in the garden of her home, "Jungle Nest," wearing simple cotton frocks such as are so much liked by English women of affairs. A coat suit of yellow dotted swiss has a finger-tip length coat with pockets and revers and a one-piece V-neck dress with pleated skirt, a very tailored style for such a diaphanous material, but the result is utterly charming.

* * * *

Mrs. Barclay H. Warburton is extremely up-to-date in her clothes and accessories and has been seen wearing a three-piece suit of bouchette and a long twisted bead necklace with bracelet to match, and three strands of pearls close about her throat.

* * * *

From a feminine viewpoint, the formal opening of the Patio Marguery was a complete success, for a more gorgeous array of beautiful gowns has seldom been seen. Demure black lace, shimmering chiffons, the deep lustre of velvet, scintillating paillettes and airy silk net were equally popular.

* * * *

Mrs. Charles McCarthy of Boston, a season guest at The Breakers, wore a formal Alencon lace gown in a delicate nude shade. A molded bodice cut to a low V in the back, flares at the hip line into a wide peplum, fitting closely at the knee to flare again into a shirred tier that just cleared the floor. Moire slippers of matching hue were noted and a large chiffon handkerchief edged with a deep border of delicate lace.

* * * *

Mrs. Alfred Feltman looked charming in a black silk net, fashioned on princess lines and with long tight fitting sleeves. Intricate rhinestone embroidery outlined the neckline, which was quite low in back, the sleeves and around the bottom of the long skirt.

* * * *

Simply but smartly fashioned was the chartreuse flat crepe gown worn by Mrs. Frank C. Kolb. The high waistline was accented by a narrow belt caught in front with an exquisite jeweled basket of fruit, and three draped panels formed the skirt.

Mrs. Vincent Scullin's blond loveliness was enhanced by a formal gown of turquoise blue silk crepe. A slimly molded bodice and a skirt of looped panels, falling gracefully into a short train, were details.

* * * *

A chic gown of black lace was worn by Mrs. Edward Mahoney, a newcomer in the cottage colony. The bodice had a moderately low rounded neckline, finished in the back by a demure little net bertha. Short ruffled sections headed by shirring were used on the skirt, two posed over the hips and one centered lower in front above a very full flounced skirt.

* * * *

Mrs. Albert Thomas Evans of The Breakers colony looked stunning in lustrous salmon pink satin. The gown had a half-girdle at the natural waistline, and shaped section that started as a peplum at the sides and continued as a wide flounce placed low in the back.

* * * *

Mrs. Sidney Smith is always distinctively costumed and wears a white crepe Elizabeth frock with a long flared tunic and an unusual neck-yoke of salmon and chartreuse bands. Her hat was a tight-fitting narrow-brimmed novelty white straw.

* * * *

Mrs. Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte appeared on The Breakers boardwalk recently smartly costumed in a chartreuse printed frock fashioned on formal lines. A long flowing paneled skirt joined the bodice with a deep hip-yoke. A wide brimmed picture hat of imported straw formed a becoming frame for her face.

* * * *

Mrs. C. Ardsley Shedaker of The Breakers wears an exquisite frock of sunset pink crepe Elizabeth, the long gracefully falling skirt formed of many gores. A smart Alencon lace yoke at the neck was finished with a soft bow. A wide brimmed imported straw of matching shade had incrustations of lace on the brim.

* * * *

Miss Audrey Lewisohn, who is spending the winter at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Seligman, is the type that can wear a beret with utmost chic. She wears one of gay stripes with a matching scarf to add fetching notes of color to a white sleeveless frock that comes well below her knees.

* * * *

At the opening dinner dance of the Everglades Club, patronized by many of the resort's most fashionable members, gowns of white which have been decidedly popular at other important occasions, again predominated. White, which used to be associated with the idea of simplicity and was identified with sweet girl graduates, has suddenly acquired a most sophisticated air. One of the Shades of the nineties—Shirtwaist dresses are here again—and there's very little difference in the line. The same full skirts gaining their flare through gores, godets, pleats and the circular flounce, the same shirt-like top practical and simple, and the same sailor-collar neck with cravat.

But there's a difference in the fabrics, for a vast improvement has been made in our cottons. We have today quality cottons just as they have in France. Not only are these cottons woven from the finest of yarns but they are styled with all the fashion correctness of the most expensive fabrics—correctness of texture, of color, and of design.

Amongst the plain cottons there is sudanette of which this shirtwaist dress is made—a cotton so fine it looks and feels like silk, and better still washes silkier all the time. And its younger sister of the same peerless texture end-to-end sudanette which is also being extensively used for these shirtwaist dresses.

You can select sudanette in any of the deep pastel tints, eggshell, the pink with much yellow in its make-up, honey-dew with still more yellow, a real rose, a wide range of blues including the linen and baby blue, the pale green of aquamarine—and a deeper green, helio, the sun tan tones, maize, scarlet, the high style grays, and the darker shades of dahlia, navy, purple, chocolate brown, and black.

A white lapin coat from Jay-Thorpe has tremendous chic for yachting and has the added advantage of being used as an evening wrap.

A comfortable bathing suit of black and white jersey, with amusing lacings—black and white Espadrilles and a red straw beach hat. From R. H. Macy Co.

matrons who wore the color—if such it can be called—to great advantage at the Everglades dinner was Mrs. Philip Corbin. In a dainty dress of silky white lace with a flounce to the hips from the new high waist line, she looked particularly lovely, the fluffy whiteness of her hair appearing doubly attractive.

* * * *

A distinct contrast was seen in the person of Mrs. Arthur Hudson Marks looking majestic in a long gown of black lace with a deep V back decolletage setting off the Titian beauty of her hair. Red velvet slippers, evening bag and handkerchief completed her costume.

* * * *

Mrs. Paris Singer, wife of the club's founder, chose the ever lovely shade of Nile green. The dress was made with a becoming circular skirt, the circular idea repeated in a cape effect at the back. A garland of white gardenias was worn over one shoulder.

* * * *

Mrs. Willey Lyon Kingsley was another who was clad in green. Her dress was perfectly moulded to the figure and was excessively long on the sides. A rather daring combination, but one that was unusually effective and smart, was the use of red shoes with the green dress.

* * * *

Perhaps undecided which of the season's most favored colors to select, Mrs. Wiley R. Reynolds made a happy compromise by selecting both in a frock of shimmering black with an effective white border that dipped in the back, and a bodice of white net and lace. The diaphanous skirt added to her graceful appearance while dancing.

The Peasant Influence so smart in this seasons beach togs appears in this interesting pajama set. The ensemble idea prevails in the perfectly matched coat, beret, shoes and beach bag, all made from a Czechoslovakian table cover. The trousers are of blue linen and the bodice of white linen trimmed in blue. Originated by Shoecraft Salon—Worth Avenue.

COTTAGE COLONY SOCIETY LIFE

HE arrival of many house guests during the past two weeks has furnished the raison d'être for many delightful social gatherings, among these a buffet luncheon given by Mrs. Frank Vernon Skiff in honor of Mrs. Gardiner Pattison of Short Hills, N. J., and New York, who has been staying at "Casa Marcheta." Those who were served in the lovely patio of Mrs.

Skiff's home included: Mrs. George A. Dobyne, Mrs. Albert H. Diebold, Mrs. John Shepard, Jr., Mrs. William R. Sweatt, Mrs. Jerome D. Gedney, Mrs. Chester Williams, Mrs. Nathan D. Bill, Mrs. Henry G. Barkhausen, Mrs. Edmund LeRoy Dow, Mrs. Julius P. Meyer, Mrs. Charles M. Brett, Mrs. William F. Bode, Mrs. Henry Seligman, Mrs. Emil J. Stehli, Mrs. Elden C. DeWitt, Mrs. John R. Bryden, Mrs. Hobart Warren, Mrs. Earle Perry Charlton, Mrs. Albert Evans, Mrs. Wiley R. Reynolds, Mrs. James H. Kennedy and Mrs. John Demarest.

Occupying "La Claridad" on Golf View road this season are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Henry Diebold of Philadelphia, who resided at Whitehall when they were in Palm Beach last year. Mr. and Mrs. Diebold, who have an apartment on Park avenue in New York and another home at Locust Valley, where they stay when in the north, are welcome additions to the cottage colony. One of their first house guests this season was Mrs. Harry N. Rickey of Cleveland and Washington, D. C. Their son, Mr. A. Richard Diebold, is spending a month's vacation with his parents here this season.

* * * *

An interesting couple who have been visiting here during the past several days is Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewis Armstrong, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard H. Kroger at "Villa Sueno," on Brazilian avenue. The Armstrong wedding in Washington early this month was attended by personages prominent in the social and political world. Mrs. Armstrong was the former Mrs. Marthana Harrison Williams, daughter of Major and Mrs. Russel B. Harrison of Indianapolis and Washington and granddaughter of the late President Benjamin Harrison. She also has the distinction of being one of the few babies born in the White House. Mrs. John E. Dana remained in Washington to attend the marriage ceremony which took place in Mrs. Harrison's apartment in the Broadmoor, and then returned to her Palm Beach residence on Royal Palm Way. Among the many entertainments held for Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong during their visit here was a tea given by Mrs. Dana at the Everglades Club for forty guests. There were also dinner parties at "Villa Sueno," besides a luncheon at the Gulf Stream Club. Palm Beach and its residents conspired to make the visit of Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong a most happy one, not the least of the pleasures being a renewal of old acquaintances of Mrs. Armstrong's father.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Downs Lillibridge are now established in the home of the late Mrs. Robert C. Black on the north Lake Trail, and have as their house guests, Mrs. G. R. Davis. Mrs. Davis accompanied them down from Greenwich last week and will remain for some time. Mr. and Mrs. Lillibridge were here earlier in the season, visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Hall at their new villa on El Bravo Way. Last winter they stayed at Whitehall when in the resort, but are happy to have joined the cottage colony this year and are planning many entertainments at home.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. William Richard Sweatt of Minneapolis, Minn., who always do a great deal of entertaining at "La Playera," their winter home on Sea Breeze avenue, have recently been joined by their daughter, Mrs. Ben Boalt, and her two children, Benny and Jimmy. Mr. Boalt is expected to leave the west soon for a short vacation with the family in Palm Beach. Miss Clara Huntington, Mrs. Sweatt's cousin, has also joined the house party.

* * * *

Col. and Mrs. William Hayward and Mrs. Hayward's son, Philip Plant, are occupying "Louwana," the Gurnee Munn home on North Ocean boulevard after having spent two seasons at Whitehall. They are enjoying the cottage colony life and recently entertained several of the colonists at luncheon. Mr. and Mrs. Munn are guests of Mr. Rodman Wanamaker II at "LaQuerida," on the North Ocean boulevard.

The South Shore Club which meets on Tuesday during the season has convened several times this year for luncheon and bridge at the homes of several members. Mrs. James H. Kennedy was one of the recent hostesses, entertaining the club at "Kenlewmair" on the South Ocean boulevard. The members and guests present on this occasion included Mrs. Earle Perry Charlton, Mrs. Nathan D. Bill, Mrs. Frank Vernon Skiff, Mrs. George A. Dobyne, Mrs. Edmund LeRoy Dow, Mrs. Charles M. Brett, Mrs. William R. Sweatt, Mrs. Gardiner Pattison, Mrs. Julius P. Meyer, Mrs. Edward H. Blodgett and Mrs. Elden C. DeWitt.

Mrs. Alexander A. McKay has been one of the season's most extensive entertainers, having held several large parties both at her home on Via Bellaria and at the Everglades Club. The guest of honor earlier in the season at many of the affairs was Prince Friedrich Leopold of Prussia. Mrs. McKay has had notables of the artistic world as her house guests this season, the latest visitor being Miss Mary MacKinnon of New York. Mr. Porter Burges of Newbury, England, is also a member of the house party.

* * * *

Members of the nobility who visit America seem to gravitate to Palm Beach, where they have many friends among the cosmopolites who winter here. The Princess Choldwig-Hohenlohe-Schillingsfurst, who has been visiting in the Bahama Islands, has joined the house party at the home of Mr. Charles A. Munn. Princess Jean Louis de Faucigny Lucinge, Mrs. William B. Leeds, who was Princess Xenia of Russia, and Marquis de Salina, are guests of Mr. Otto Kahn at Oheka cottage and Sir Hugh Seely of London is visiting Capt. and Mrs. R. Amcotts Wilson at their home in Vita Serena. Count and Countess Raoul de Roussy de Sales and Count and Countess Richard de Roussy de Sales of Paris, are guests of Mr. Cecil Parker Stewart on Seminole avenue.

The Second Annual Flower Show will be held under the auspices of the Garden Club assisted by the Palm Beach Gardeners association, February 28 to March 2 in the conservatory and north lounge of the Royal Poinciana hotel. The executive committee consists of Mrs. Robert Glendinning, Mrs. Henry R. Rea, honorary chairman, Mrs. George Alexander McKinlock, chairman; Mrs. Wiley L. Kingsley, Mrs. Alfred G. Kay, Mrs. Frederic Foster Carey, Mr. A. C. Johdahn, Mr. E. Glazier, Mr. D. D. Howells, J. K. Brower, secretary, and J. R. Riley, assistant secretary.

The Garden Club members realizing that butlers and gardeners of the large estates in the resort were well qualified to participate in the table decorations displays, many having arranged the tables last year, have removed some of the restrictions regarding entrants, and will devote one day to the exhibits of butlers and gardeners and one day to florists of the locality.

At a recent meeting held in the Flower Show office on Phipps Plaza the committee decided on the two new features for which cash prizes will be awarded to the winning entries. The butlers' and gardeners' classes consist of:

1. Breakfast Tray.
2. Formal Luncheon Table for Eight.
3. Luncheon Table Out of Doors for Six.
4. Formal Dinner Table for Eight.

The florists will enter Formal Dinner Tables for Ten and Formal Lunch Tables for Ten on the third day.

The first day will be limited to members of the Garden Club whose classes include:

1. Breakfast Tray.
2. Formal Luncheon Table for Eight.
3. Luncheon Table Out of Doors for Six.
4. Economy Table Featuring Attractiveness and Low Cost.

Three ribbons will be awarded to the winners in each class.

Already the coming show is being eagerly anticipated by the winter colonists. Unusual posters are being made by Mr. Peter van Dresser which will be displayed throughout the community.

With the many lovely estates to draw from, a wealth of blooms and shrubs will be assembled that promises to provide breath-taking beauty to the spectators. Orchids, lilies of the valley, calendulas, roses, gladiolus, iris and larkspur are among the many flowers to be shown.

AMONG THE PALMS

HE Venetian lounge of The Breakers is proving quite a favorite spot for entertaining this season and several large affairs have taken place here. Distant vistas of ocean and sky are glimpsed through tall French windows, and during the afternoon and late evening melodious strains drift in from the sea-side terrace, where Howard Lanin's orchestra plays. Fragrant sprays of orange blossoms scattered the length of the table, exquisitely dainty Dresden china figures, gleaming silver candleabra holding pink candles and long stemmed pink roses were the table decorations used by Mrs. William F. Bode of Chicago, when she entertained at a luncheon the other day. A prominent member of the winter colony, Mrs. Bode gives several large parties during the season. She received her guests in her private suite, later taking them down to the lounge, and was wearing a lovely printed frock in tones of yellow and green, with a yellow tuscan straw hat banded in green velvet and moire slippers of matching hue. After luncheon bridge was enjoyed by the guests who were: Mrs. Wiley T. Reynolds, Mrs. Frederick A. Dwight, Mrs. Elden C. DeWitt, Mrs. John Shepard, Jr., Mrs. Luther Conover, Mrs. Harry Oakes, Mrs. C. M. Brett, Mrs. Nathan Bill, Mrs. Frank Vernon Skiff, Mrs. Gardiner Pattison, Mrs. Albert Thomas Evans, Mrs. Frank Shaughnessy, Mrs. Charles A. Snyder, Mrs. Julius P. Meyer, Mrs. Phil Sawyer, Mrs. William R. Sweatt, Mrs. Frank O. Butler, Mrs. Charles Weigand, Mrs. Frank Craig, and Mrs. Edmund Leroy Dow.

Twenty-four covers were laid for the second of a series of dinner parties at which Mr. and Mrs. Nathan D. Bill of Springfield, Mass., are entertaining their numerous friends among both the hotel and cottage colonies. Guests of honor for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. John Pettigrew and Mrs. Frederick Harris of Springfield, who motored down from their winter home in Augusta, Ga., for a stay of several days in Palm Beach.

* * * *

Mrs. Frederick A. Dwight of New York, and a member of the permanent colony at The Breakers, was a charming hostess recently when she entertained several friends for luncheon and bridge in the Venetian lounge. Blue forget-me-nots and pink briarcliff roses were the colorful flowers which graced the round table at which Mrs. Dwight seated her guests. She looked very lovely, wearing a lovely chiffon frock of the new silhouette, printed in wood tones of yellow silk with touches of green. A wide brimmed picture hat of loosely woven straw and crepe slippers printed to harmonize with the frock completed the costume. Enjoying Mrs. Dwight's hospitality were: Mrs. William R. Sweatt, Mrs. Edmund Leroy Dow, Mrs. Nathan D. Bill, Mrs. Charles M. Brett, Mrs. Edward H. Blodgett, Mrs. Albert Thomas Evans, Mrs. Harry Oakes, Mrs. George F. Groves, Mrs. William F. Bode, Mrs. John Steele and Mrs. Arthur Finucane.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. William Fahnstock, members of the New York smart set, have recently arrived in Palm Beach for the season and are again greeting friends of the Island at Whitehall, where they are pleasantly located.

* * * *

Mrs. Charles C. Witherspoon and two children, arrived the first of the week from the Mayfair House to join Mrs. Witherspoon's father, Mr. John H. Duffy, at Whitehall. Mr. Witherspoon will return February first from New York.

* * * *

Mr. Harry E. Hoyt, who spends a part of each season in Palm Beach, has again arrived from New York for an extended sojourn at Whitehall.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Goodman of New York city, without whom no season in Palm Beach would be entirely complete, arrived several days ago from their home in Gotham and are again occupying their usual suite at the Royal Poinciana. Miss Ann Goodman, who accompanied her parents to the Island last year, is spending several months in Paris, having recently left for France with a party of friends.

* * * *

Mr. James A. Blair, Jr., of New York city, is a distinguished guest at Whitehall for the greater part of the Palm Beach season.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Louis de Aigle Munds of New York are guests at Whitehall for the remainder of the season.

After spending a short while at Boca Ratone, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart G. Rosson of Baltimore, Maryland, seasonal visitors to the Island, are again to be found on the Whitehall guest list.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Norman E. Mack of Buffalo, New York, have joined a party of friends at Whitehall for the season. Mr. Mack is the well known Buffalo, New York, publisher.

* * * *

Mrs. Bertha Auld and son, Bernard Forman of Chicago, who have been spending the past 15 seasons in Palm Beach, are again guests at the Royal Poinciana. Their arrival on the Island was made the day after the opening of the world famous hotel, and they expect to remain until its close. Mrs. Auld and Mr. Forman are to be noted having tea almost every afternoon in the Coconut Grove of the Poinciana.

* * * *

General J. Ernest Smith, one of Palm Beach's seasonal visitors, is again a guest at the Royal Poinciana for the entire season.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. William Wadsworth of New York city, seasonal visitors to Palm Beach, were included among the guests to register at the opening of the Royal Poinciana, January 15.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. John Gibson of Great Neck, L. I., were also first day guests at the Royal Poinciana on their annual trek to their favorite winter resort.

Mr. and Mrs. William Seyfert, residents of Reading, Pennsylvania, were the first guests to register at the Royal Poinciana hotel for its thirty-eighth season.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Winburn of Paris, France, are noted among the Continentals who are seasonal guests at Whitehall.

* * * *

Mr. David E. Kaufman, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Bolivia for the past year, is convalescing at Whitehall following an illness of the past several weeks. Mr. Kaufman is accompanied to Palm Beach by his brother, Mr. M. Kaufman, who arrived from Pennsylvania in order to be with the Bolivian minister.

* * * *

Mrs. Conde Nast of New York is at The Breakers for a short visit before Mr. Nast comes down, when they go to Whitehall for several weeks. Mrs. Nast accompanied her grandmother, Mrs. George White Baxter, to Palm Beach and The Breakers, where Mrs. Baxter will spend her usual winter. Mrs. Volney Foster of Lake Forest, Ill., is also with Mrs. Baxter. Mr. Nast is the publisher of several magazines, among them Vogue, Vanity Fair, and House and Garden.

* * * *

January arrivals at The Breakers include Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Albee of New York, who were accompanied by their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Reed A. Albee, and young son, Edward F. Jr., their daughter, Mrs. E. G. Lauder, Jr., and her husband and two young daughters, Barbara Ann and Nancy Jane. Also Miss Elizabeth Smith and Mr. William Mitchell. Coming down on the private car "Marco Polo," the entire party will be here for two months.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Hopkins of Baltimore are among the season guests at The Breakers, and are entering upon their ninth winter at this resort. Mr. Hopkins has recently retired from active business and they are planning an extended European tour for the spring and summer. Popular members of the winter colony, Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins do a great deal of entertaining during the season and are members of the Everglades Club and the Florida Embassy. Their northern clubs include Green Spring Valley, Maryland; Baltimore Country, Historical, Five Farms, Merchants, Annapolis Roads, Chesapeake, Institute of American Genealogy and Daughters of the American Revolution.

* * * *

Lt. Colonel and Mrs. John Bayne MacLean have joined the Canadian colony at The Breakers, registering from Toronto. They are widely known in Palm Beach and number their scores of friends from both the hotel and cottage colonies. Colonel MacLean is prominent in the publishing world, and last year had a Doctor of Laws degree conferred upon him by the Western University of London, Ontario.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Hartman are members of the Chicago group at The Breakers again this season. They are entering upon their thirtieth winter in Palm Beach and have always taken an exceedingly active part in the social life of the hotel group. During the summer months Mr. and Mrs. Hartman made an extensive tour of Europe, later opening their home at Ravinia, Ill., and before coming to Palm Beach spent two months in California.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McEwan of Montclair, N. J., are well known members of the winter colony, staying at The Breakers for the season. Thirty-six years ago they paid their first visit to Palm Beach and have very different recollections of this famous watering resort as it was at that time, compared to the Palm Beach of today. Members of the Everglades, Sailfish Club of Florida, Embassy and Old Guard Society, Mr. and Mrs. McEwan are also enthusiastic yachting devotees, owning the "Whiponong," a power cruiser. During the past summer most of their time was spent cruising on Long Island Sound.

* * * *

Dr. Willy Meyer of New York, a prominent surgeon, is at The Breakers for his second season. Last year Dr. Meyer visited Palm Beach for the first time, intending to stay two weeks but was so delighted with the incomparable climate that he stayed all winter and was an early January arrival this year. His son, Dr. Herbert Willy Meyer and Mrs. Meyer, and their two lovely little daughters, Dorothy Elsie and Audrey Emmy, are also down from New York with Dr. Meyer for an indefinite stay. They are ardent sun-lovers and are to be seen every day at the beach and at the children's pool, where the little girls splash happily by the hour.

YACHTING

WORLD famous yachtsmen, nationally known speedboat racers and a group of representative society people from all over the world will assemble this season to attend the American speed boat racing for 1930 which will get under way in this resort February 21-22 with the presentation of the Eighth Annual George Washington Birthday Regatta on Lake Worth under the direction of officials of the Mississippi Valley Power Boat association and of the Palm Beach Yacht Club. Residents of the world's premier resort in previous years have manifested enthusiasm for the great racing events, which have acquired an international aspect. Conforming to this desire, the same spirit is expected to be featured in a gigantic water fete this year.

Entry blanks received by Vice-Commander W. J. Von Behren of the Yacht Club indicated that a great field of 151 hydroplanes, usually featured at the regatta here, would be on hand to compete for the several new trophies hung up since last season.

Among the boats and drivers already entered on the lists are: Ralph Snoddy of Los Angeles, holder of the Duke of York trophy; Dick Loynes and his famous "Miss California" of Long Beach; Chris Ripp, Elmhurst, N. Y., who has entered his three 151's, "Miss Meadowmere II," "Bayhead II," and "Miss Daytona;" E. W. Hammond, Larchmont, N. Y., and "Miss Westchester II;" Elmer H. Johnston of Bennington, Vt., and his world champion, "The Sparrow," holding the unlimited record at 58.06 M P H.; Carroll M. Hall of Jamestown, N. Y., and a new craft he has just completed; Carl R. Green of Dayton, Ohio, who has just built a new boat, faster than his "Mary Jane," which won the M. V. P. B. A. championship last summer, and many others.

Although the snappy little hydroplanes will assume the center of the stage here, virtually every other class of boat will participate, Commodore Von Behren said. He mentioned particularly a new cruiser race on the ocean, now being planned by W. F. Crosby, editor of "Rudder."

Prizes for the Washington's Birthday event will include the usual handsome collection of cups and a number of outstanding new trophies. Chief among these are a new Royal Poinciana trophy for limited 151's, a new Col. E. R. Bradley trophy for unlimited entries, the Commodore Robert Ringling trophy, the Rudder trophy, and the Elgin National time trophy.

Among those arriving in Lake Worth recently are: Yacht "Shirley," 56 feet long, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Coen, who are spending the season at Palm Beach; yacht "Sunshine," 65 feet long, owned by Mr. F. H. Scott of Erie, Penna., yacht "Gay Jane," owned by L. Wasey of Gray Bar, N. J.; yacht "Margot," 98 feet long, owned by B. A. Massee, of Chicago; yacht "Marcidee," 87 feet long, owned by Alvin T. Simonds, who will cruise in Southern waters.

Cruisers which have arrived during the past few days are: the "Bonita," a fast mahogany boat with chromium plated fittings, owned by H. Bambright; "Jolly Roller," belonging to R. W. Massie of Birmingham, Ala., "Ecelia," owned by A. P. Teetzel of Detroit, and the "Melinia," owned by L. C. Hollander.

The "Viator," beautiful yacht belonging to Maitland Alexander of Belfast, Me., has returned from a recent cruise and the "Vara," owned by Harold S. Vanderbilt, one of the largest and best equipped yachts to enter the Port of Palm Beach, has also returned from a fishing cruise and will make its home port here for the season.

SPORTS IN PALM BEACH

HE two focal points of interest last week for the winter colonists were the Palm Beach Golf Club, where the nineteenth annual Lake Worth tournament was staged, and the Palm Beach Country Club, the scene of the third annual meet of the Artists' and Writers' Golf association. The first Lake Worth tourney was staged in 1911, nineteen years ago, and among its entrants through the years have been some of the most famous names in the annals of golf, including George Wright, "father of American golf," who in 1890, played in the first formal American golf game ever played in this country. This took place in Franklin Park, Boston. Mr. Wright is founder and president of the firm of Wright & Ditson.

In the 1919 meet Alfred Morrell captured the title, with M. A. Carroll of Oshkosh, Wis., coming in as runner up. Mr. Wright was entered in this year's tournament for the sixteenth consecutive time.

Charles Minot Amory, who was also entered in this year's meet, was the 1920 winner, with Harry Payne Dingham runner-up. During that year M. A. Carroll was winner of the medal round. Two years later the laurels fell to William B. Langford of Lake Worth, the runner-up being Oscar Schaeffer. Mr. Langford was also entered in this year's tournament. Hugh L. Willoughby, Jr., was champion in 1924. In 1928 George Voight took the laurels, while last year they fell to the lot of Arthur Yates of Rochester, N. Y.

Monday morning found Palm Beach enveloped in a fog which hampered the early starters in the Lake Worth event. A. Yates won the medal round in the qualifying play by a margin of three strokes over his nearest competitors, Gordon Taylor and Jack Butler, his score being seventy-one; Taylor and Butler each turning in a seventy-four.

Yates went out in thirty-seven and came in in thirty-four, his second nine being made up entirely of fours, with the exception of threes on the thirteenth and eighteenth. His final score of seventy-one is one stroke better than his previous record for the course, made a week ago yesterday. His card was as follows:

Out .....	544	454	344—37
In .....	444	344	443—34—71

Gordon Taylor's score of seventy-four was made up as follows:

Out .....	454	444	455—39
In .....	443	445	434—35—74

Jack Butler, runner-up in last year's tournament, also turned in a seventy-four, including four fives. His score was:

Out .....	545	444	344—37
In .....	443	455	444—37—74

The scores of other players who turned in cards below eighty were:

Porter, Out .....	654	445	235—38
In .....	443	554	454—38—76
Willoughby, Jr. Out .....	455	545	353—39
In .....	453	544	545—39—78
Myers, Out .....	456	444	345—39
In .....	354	553	554—39—78
Gussman, Out .....	564	554	354—41
In .....	544	444	544—38—79
Sikes, Out .....	565	654	344—42

88—H. O. Schneider, S. L. Reinhardt.

89—John Haid, Dr. Edward Martin, H. H. Rauh.

90—W. H. Arnold, H. E. Ferguson, Frederick Foster Carey, Dr. Frank Aydelotte.

91—Captain R. C. Durward, Edwin Goodman, Dr. Frederick K. Ream, E. L. Jordan.

92—H. C. Bartholomew, Earle E. Liederman, Julian McCarty Little.

93—C. J. Claudon, J. A. Fraser, H. J. Horner, William McNeill.

94—J. H. Dewenap.

95—E. C. Kischal, M. C. Woodruff.

96—Thomas Havens, A. E. Bennett, Fred H. Ward.

97—A. S. Healy.

98—Harry Oakes, R. J. O'Brien.

99—Henry Pops, A. H. Gussman, W. K. Durward.

Those turning in scores of one hundred or over were E. H. McCloud, Budd Goodwin, William H. Treadgold, W. E. Pollock, W. E. Vanderventer, L. W. Conover, Irvin F. Lehman, Michael Scholtz, W. Parker and Charles M. Hayes.

Ideal golfing weather greeted players on the second day of the tournament, with some of the best scores of the season being turned in and only three contestants defaulting. Yates came through again by defeating L. R. Sikes five and four.

Jack Butler, runner-up last year, also came through with flying colors, putting down Howard A. Kelly, five and four. Other winners in the championship flight were Albert R. Hakes, H. L. Willoughby, Jr. and William B. Langford.

The defeated eight in the championship flight played the first round of the consolation on Wednesday. Tuesday's championship flight results were as follows:

Arthur Yates of Rochester, N. Y., defeated L. R. Sikes of West Palm Beach, five and four.

William Myers of Far Rockaway, L. I., defeated J. H. Follette of West Palm Beach, four and two.

ARTISTS AND WRITERS

With Rex Beach missing from the fold, being detained in Sebring and not arriving until the middle of the week, to take part in the special events, the Artists and Writers third annual golf tournament got away to a good start at the Palm Beach Country Club with Grantland Rice turning in low score of seventy-five and winning the qualifying medal round. His nearest competitor was H. Evans with a seventy-seven, but there was a big gap to the next man, Charles V. McAdam, with an eighty-three.

Match play continued on Tuesday with the finals in the championship flight played off on Friday, which day also marked the playing off of the eighteen-hole medal round handicap, with handicaps fixed according to Monday's scoring, the prize being a round-trip, first-class passage to Paris on either the Ile de France or the Paris, usable at the option of the winner.

Rice's playing on the first day was featured by his success in sinking long putts. He turned in two sixes, one on the ninth and the other on the eleventh, and six threes. His card is as follows:

Out .....	455	354	356—40
In .....	563	443	334—35—75

Evans card for his first nine was one better than Rice's but he lost out in the second, where the latter scored a thirty-five against Evans' thirty-eight. Following is Evans' card:

Out .....	455	345	436—39
In .....	553	544	444—38—77

Following are the scores of the other contestants who qualified for the first flight:

C. McAdam, 83—Jefferson Machamer, 84; Fontaine Fox, 86; Arthur Somers Roche, 86; A. W. Schepp, 87; L. A. Newman, 87; F. Crowninshield, 88; D. B. Wesson, 88; Merle Thorpe, 90; John B. Kelly, 91; F. M. Prince, 92; E. M. Benjamin, 92; T. Webb, 93; Octavus Roy Cohen, 93.

Other scores and club handicaps were: Philip Kobbe, 95—13; F. L. Furzburg, 95—16; R. McCarthy, 95—14; M. Collette, 96—16; L. B. Myers, 97—16; William Chenery, 98—21; J. M. Lansinger, 98—27; D. M. Stewart, 98—19; J. LaGatta, 99—15; J. Beatty, 99—13; Jack Sheridan, 102—28; H. T. Webster, 104—30; J. P. McEvoy, 105—28; John Golden, 105—30; H. N. ## PALM BEACH GOLF CLUB COURSE RECORD

The record of 72 for the newly-designed Palm Beach Golf Club course, established January 13 by Arthur Yates, Lake Worth champion, has been shattered twice since, once by Johnny Flattery and again by Gordon Smith.

John Flattery, playing professional of the Siwancy Country Club, Mount Vernon, N. Y., and a member of the professional staff of the Palm Beach Country Club, brought in a par score of 69 on January 16, three below Yates' seventy-two. His opponent was Joseph Follette of the West Palm Beach Country Club.

The following day Gordon Smith, playing with Captain R. C. Durward of Burden Hall, Stanstead, Essex, England, and of the British Royal Artillery, brought in a seventy-one. The other members of the foursome were W. K. Durward and George Kelly, the latter of the Milburn Country Club.

Mr. Smith, who is secretary and manager of the Palm Beach Country Club and in charge of the course of the Palm Beach Golf Club, played a top-hole game from the first crack of his driver. His second shot hit the pin on the first green and he took an easy three. On the second hole his second shot bounced out of the cup for an easy three, and on the seventh he repeated the same performance.

On the fifteenth he went out of bounds on his first drive and then played into the trap behind the green. He failed to get out on his next, the fourth putting him on the green, where he holed a long putt for a five.

OLD GUARD SOCIETY

The Old Guard Society of Palm Beach Golfers will hold a two-day two-ball foursome tournament at the Palm Beach Golf Club today and tomorrow. The eighteen-hole medal play qualifying round will be held this afternoon, and the competing pairs will be divided into three equal groups according to qualifying scores.

The two leading pairs in each group will play off for their group championship at eighteen hole match-play on Wednesday. The tournament committee will assign handicaps to each pair entered.

The Flamingo hotel tea garden, a rendezvous for society, opened the other afternoon.

* * * *

The garden is picturesque and beautifully landscaped, and a number of the social set and visitors have already enjoyed the delightful occasions afforded there. Other places of pleasure which opened recently for the members of the winter colony were the Miami Biltmore hotel pool. On the opening day 500 persons and former Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York, attended. The Roman Pools held its formal opening recently, featuring the "Roman Nights Revue of 1930," the occasion proving an enjoyable event. The pools are patronized by a large number of the prominent members of the exclusive set, who enjoy bathing and tea on the upper deck. Deauville, an exclusive club, opened the other evening. Dinner parties were given by the members of the winter colony and an entertaining program was presented during the evening. The swimming pool is a special feature of the club.

* * * *

An outstanding and looked forward to affair of the season is the Costume Ball to be given February 14 by the Committee of 100. This will be the second ball and will be held at the Nautilus hotel. Invitations have been issued to Calvin Coolidge, former president, ex-Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York, President Machado of Cuba, and his official staff, the governor of Nassau and his staff, Gov. Doyle E. Carlton and several members of President Hoover's cabinet. Among the eastern society leaders to whom invitations also have been sent are Mr. and Mrs. Conde Nast, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Drexel Biddle, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stotesbury and Harold Vanderbilt. Recently the chairman of the Venetian ball committee and members of the executive committee entertained with a dinner at the Nautilus hotel to discuss further plans for the coming event. A spectacular feature of the ball will be the pageant of the doge's court, which will comprise 60 persons in court costume, including members of the executive committee and their wives. Mrs. Elliott F. Shepard is chairman of the women's committee and E. R. Thomas and Arthur K. Hutchins.

* * * *

The Pan-Hellenic association entertained with a musical tea recently at the home of Theodore Dickinson on Bay road. ## ONE NIGHT ENROUTE TO A FOREIGN LAND HAVANA, CUBA

(TWO HOURS BY AIR from MIAMI)

The side trip that makes your Florida visit complete is the one-night cruise or water-train trip (or a short two-hour airplane hop) from Miami to Havana. Cuba is so entirely different, so absolutely foreign . . . such a new experience, that you'd do yourself an injustice in returning north without knowing its tropic splendor, old-world charm, and care-free atmosphere. Any railroad, steamship or airplane ticket office or tour agency will give you full information

HAVANA

VERY day brings an increasingly large number of northerners to Havana to avoid the chilling winds and to bask in Cuba's warm sunshine, many of whom make their home at the Hotel Sevilla Biltmore, the Royal Palm and Bristol Hotels while here. Judging from the list of those who have arrived and those who have made reservations for this month and next, the season will be one of the gayest Havana has ever known. During the morning and around lunch time the playa is the setting for many delightful beach parties. Brilliantly-colored beach coats, gay ultra-smart beach pajamas, and the very last word in bathing suits are noted being worn by chic visitors to Havana.

Later the Jockey Club is the setting for the afternoon's diversions, and here many attractive flocks are seen. One of the loveliest gowns seen there one day last week was a slate blue, combined with white, which was worn by Commodore Ward's charming wife. Blue in its various shades is now the most successful color for out-of-doors wear.

Among those who enjoyed the round-the-clock of good times are many of the arrivals at the Sevilla Biltmore, who included:

Miss Marjorie M. Hunter, Preston, Cuba; C. J. Alfred, New York city; Francis R. Hart, Boston, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Seixas, Rockville Center, N. Y.; Mrs. B. Kloski, Rockville Center, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Farr, Detroit, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Tolman, Lake Forest, Ill.; C. S. Kirkland, Louis Papp, A. M. Berger, Boston, Mass.; Louis S. Levy, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Bullen, Miami Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Ely Meyer, Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. Stuart Benson, New York City; J. A. Lorente, Bogota, Colombia; Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Wright, Detroit, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. M. Skutch, New York city.

* * * *

Many attractive parties given at the Monday night dinner dance at the popular Chateau Madrid, when a special dinner was served and a splendid program of entertainment presented. Two excellent orchestras, Jazz and Son, furnished the music for dancing until a late hour. Jules Hall was host at dinner to Miss Madeline Cabalane, Miss Florence Cammack, Dr. Joseph Brown, H. A. McEntee and William D. Bodell. George Milhit entertained a group of friends including Mr. and Mrs. F. Schillenberg, Mrs. V. Burns, Hans Schlitz, Mr. and Mrs. W. Prindle and Harold Lochner. Other guests of the evening included Kerr Fulton, Miss Lola del Pino, Miss Maria Rogelia Diez, Miss Betty Levine, Miss Minnie Moses, Harry Jenson, Harry Rubel, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Brooks and Eustaquio Alonzo.

* * * *

Fausto Campuzano, manager of Chateau Madrid, has engaged one of the world's most famous Russian quartets now visiting in Havana to entertain his guests nightly at his charming garden restaurant at 12:30 o'clock. The quartet comes to Havana direct from the Olympia theater in Paris, where this distinguished group of artists scored a brilliant success.

* * * *

One of the delightful affairs of the week was the dinner dance given Thursday night on the roof garden of the Hotel Sevilla Biltmore, where many smart parties were given. A splendid program was presented featuring Veloz and Volando, international ballroom dancers; La Fayette and La Verne famous novelty dancers, and the Misses Altamirano and Gonzalez, the Mexican songbirds.

A program of all the latest numbers was played for the dancing during the evening by Victor Rodriguez' popular orchestra.

The guest list included Zion Gardner, William Maxwell, Carlos Paraga, Thomas Avery, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lackey, Mr. and Mrs. De Young, Mrs. L. Wagner, Mrs. Gayle McCrimmon, David Plessett, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Farrell, Miss Loretta Farrell, Mrs. Clarence W. Gasque, Miss Maspie Gasque, John Roland Robinson, Commodore and Mrs. Vincent B. Ward, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cane, Walter Baars, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Tromp, J. A. Arendsen de Wolff, Dr. H. A. Kessler, Paul Becker, M. M. Bond, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Decker and Mr. and Mrs. Hermann Wilde.

"They Buy like Purchasing Agents"

That's what one merchant said about the smart women of today. And it's true. Women used to buy lazily—unintelligently. If a thing cost more, they frequently assumed it was worth more. But not today.

Now, clever women buy to specification—and the lower the price the better. They know that methods of merchandising affect the cost of articles. They understand why a store that buys and sells for cash can save them money on a hat as well as on a refrigerator. They understand how a store doing a tremendous volume can even offer such charming things as copies of French models for much less.

They no longer make a fetish of expensive labels. They boast of their savings in clothes as well as in housefurnishings. They shop at Macy's, more and more, for

If You Should Take a Boat and Sail around the World

... there would be no large city you would touch where you could not purchase Elizabeth Arden Preparations.

Miss Arden has created internationalism in beauty. In Holland, in Japan, in Egypt, in Spain—everywhere—are lovely women with the "Arden look."

Have you ever thought of why you see fifty attractive looking women today where, twenty years ago, you saw but one?

For this reason. When Elizabeth Arden entered the profession of Beauty, she lifted it with her vision, her passionate impatience with imperfection, out of haphazard guessing into sincerity and science.

When you buy Elizabeth Arden Preparations, you are buying integrity—the incorruptible sincerity of a woman who has refused repeatedly, in spite of great inducements, to sell her name—for fear that this high quality which she has maintained from the beginning, might be lowered, and thus she would betray the trust of millions of women all over the world, who, through experience, have learned to identify Elizabeth Arden with honor and high attainment.

In Elizabeth Arden's Palm Beach Salon are found all the incomparable Arden Treatments, the tried and proven Muscle-Strapping and Skin-Toning—the very successful Firming Treatment. Here the famous Vienna Youth Mask is given. Clean-cut profiles are restored. Warm, natural color returns.

For an appointment, please telephone Palm Beach 8924.

Elizabeth Arden's Venetian Toilet Preparations are on sale at the smartest shops in all cities of the world

One of New York's "Seven Wonders"

The Biltmore Hotel is regarded by many as one of the "Seven Wonders" of New York. It is internationally famous for its service and cuisine. Sharing with royalty the hospitality of this palatial inn have been princes of the church, heroes of the World War, soldiers, statesmen, diplomats and leaders of thought and education. King Albert of Belgium, Queen Marie of Roumania have been guests at the Biltmore; the late Marshal Foch of France, General John J. Pershing, have shared its hospitality, as have Presidents Roosevelt, Wilson, Harding and Coolidge; the late Cardinal Mercier, Clemenceau, the "Tiger" of France; President Machado of Cuba, and monarchs of the air. When you alight from your train at the Grand Central Station you hand your bag to a Red Cap and say "The Biltmore."

HAIR AND SCALP

—LUCKY TIGER— THE NATIONAL REMEDY

Quickly Destroys Dandruff and Corrects Scalp Disorders

A single application stops that miserable itching; a most effective germicide, yet delicately perfumed, and as refreshing as the morning dew.

An indispensable
hair dressing
after your
sea bath

Stops Falling Hair

Impoverished, falling hair can be avoided; the harsh, scraggly kind can be made soft and luxuriant. A single bottle of Lucky Tiger will convince.

Lucky Tiger Has Solved
All These Problems
For You

We have made it our business to do this. We have been phenomenally successful, as evidenced by millions of Lucky Tiger users.

At all good druggists, barber shops and beauty parlors

CHENEY SILKS

The silk designs for spring frocks must be precisely suited to the new silhouette. And you will find the new Cheney printed silks exactly that—keyed to the new lines and curves of fashion. Some are formal, large and “squared off” to be in contrast to fashion’s curves. Others—for daytime and sports—are smaller all-

A fitting complement to smart environment

WHEN BETTER
AUTOMOBILES
ARE BUILT

Whether bathed in glorious Florida sunshine . . . or threading its way through the last minute crush at the Metropolitan Opera House, Buick is distinguished for its performance . . . Buick luxury and beauty are a fitting complement. Lively and powerful is the new Buick Valve-in-Head engine . . . beautiful and luxurious are the new Buick bodies by Fisher. And there are decided advantages of economy in the ownership of two . . . or three . . . or more Buicks to meet the individual needs of each member of the family. Exclusive new Buicks are now on view at the Buick Winter Salon (Peruvian Avenue and Palm Beach Avenue, South). You must see them in their great variety of color combinations if you would know how really beautiful a motor car can be.
